LINER CITY OF HONOLULU SCUTTLED TO HALT FIRE

Steamer Ablaze at Pier in Hawaii Waterlogged to Prevent Flame Reaching Oil Bunkers

HONOLULU, May 25. (AP)—The Los Angeles Steamship Corporation liner City of Honolulu caught fire here at her berth at 1 o about 4 p.m. today (Honolulu time) and more than three hours later was scuttled in the hope of preventing the flames from spreading to 16,000 barrels of fuel oil stored in her after holds.

Walter F. Dillingham, agent here for the Lassco Line, said there were no casualties since all passengers had left the liner before the fire was discovered by F. S. Meeks, a watchman. He said only members of the crew and employes of the line were aboard the vessel when the flames broke out.

The City of Honolulu is 581 feet long, has a beam of sixty-one feet and carries 494 passengers. She has a cargo capacity of 5800 tons. She was built on the hull of the former steamer President Arthur, purchased by the present owners for the American Palestine Line.

HOLDS FLOODED

About an hour elapsed from the time of the discovery of the first fire an alarm was sounded. The crew of the liner at first sought to prevent the flames from spreading, but when it was seen that the fire was steadily gaining headway the city fire department was advised and finally all apparatus sped to the pier.

Four fireboats and a navy tug were pouring water into the vessel's hold and when the flames seemed to gain headway members of the harbor board and fire department officials decided to flood the hold in an attempt to sink the liner.

Although this plan was immediately successful and the stern of the liner touched the bottom of the harbor in between thirty-two and thirty-five feet of water, flames still were visible to the thousands of residents who lined the pier and the entire vicinity of the water front.

BOW RISES HIGH

The steamer's bow rose high out of the water as the stern settled. The bridge of the vessel's open portholes remained several inches above the water.

Fred Dickinson, mostly marines and Pearl Harbor under command of Lieutenant-Commander Eugene T. Ramsey, policed the immense throng of spectators.

Soon after it was seen that the liner was not to be immediately repaired steps were put to work removing oil and other cargo from the forward end of the pier to the land end, apprehensive lest an explosion set fire to the dock.

A policeman who fled trousseriess from the burning ship said the fire started in a cabin next to his on B deck. Origin of the blaze, however, was not determined.

FAILS TO AFFECT LOS ANGELES SCHEDULE

Ralph J. Chandler, general manager of the Lassco Line, said last night that the fire aboard the liner City of Honolulu at Honolulu pier will not affect the line's schedule.

PACT HOPES RUN HIGH

Approval Viewed as Certain

Senate Leaders, However, Think Huge Navy Plan Will Go Over

Conference Set for Today to Fix Time for Treaty Consideration

WASHINGTON, May 25. (AP)—Ratification of the London naval limitations treaty at this session appeared certain tonight, but Senate leaders believe the demands of the large navy group for immediate legislation authorizing a building up of the Navy to the strength allowed by the pact will go over.

Foes of the $1,000,000,000 construction program required under the treaty have laid the groundwork for opposition to it very carefully. In the hearings before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on the treaty Senator La Follette, Republican, Wisconsin, has received testimony from admiral after admiral opposing construction of all the six-inch-gun cruisers allowed under the pact.

"FROZEN" TONNAGE

It is the contention of the Navy command that America does not need the six-inch-gun cruisers favored by Great Britain and Rear-Admiral Hilary P. Jones, retired, has asserted that if America builds up to her full strength under the treaty she will have a "frozen" tonnage in a class of ships she does not require when the treaty expires in 1937.

A conference of Senate Republicans will decide tomorrow on just when it will take up the treaty, whether in the regular or in the special session which President Hoover has given notice he will call, if necessary.

Proponents of the pact continue confident that the votes are overwhelmingly for the treaty in the Senate and it is believed that little time will be required in debate, once under way.

However, hearings will be recumed tomorrow by both the Foreign Relations and the Naval committees with the opposition anxious to examine

BUILDING AT HIGH LEVEL

Gains Shown in Public Works

Rate for First Four Months of 1930 Well Ahead of Past Ten Years

Most Notable Rise Made in Road Contracts, Lamont Analysis Discloses

WASHINGTON, May 25. (Exclusive)—Contracts awarded for public works and utilities construction valued at $452,910,000 for the first four months of 1930 continue at a rate well in excess of the totals for the corresponding periods of the previous ten years, according to an announcement from Secretary of Commerce Lamont.

In view of the relatively high awards during more recent years the gain of 30 per cent this year represents a significant and highly gratifying advance, in the opinion of Secretary Lamont, indicating effective co-operation on the part of all concerned.

HIGHWAYS IN LEAD

An analysis of the various types of construction which constitute public works and public utilities shows that the most notable gain from the standpoint of the money to be spent and the labor employed relates to contracts for highways which reached the total of $196,678,000 during the first four months of 1930, against $142,668,000 during the corresponding period of 1929.

Figures obtained from the bureau of public roads of the Department of Agriculture indicate that during recent years approximately 200,000 men have been employed on the average in highway work during the first-quarter months. For the second quarter from April to June, the average during recent years has doubled to more than 400,000 men. In the opinion of Secretary Lamont, the large increase in awards for the early months of this year reflects not only even greater improvement than usual in that type of employment but also reflects the possibilities of adjusting this class of work more evenly to the scheme of more balanced employment throughout the year.

LIGHTING SYSTEMS GROW

From a percentage standpoint the largest gains in public works and utilities groups for the first four months of 1930 against the corresponding period of 1929 have been registered in connection with contracts for lighting systems and park developments, each of which increased 96 per cent over last year.

Water-supply systems gained 66 per cent, water-front developments, 64 per cent; bridges, 42 per cent; highways, 38 per cent; railroad construction, 16 per cent, and educational buildings, 3 per cent.

The largest decrease was in park buildings, which lost 34 per cent; followed by railway buildings, 18 per cent; public buildings, 11 per cent; sewage systems, 10 per cent, and incinerators, 6 per cent.

HOSPITALS MAKE GAIN

On the subject of all types of construction a special compilation from the new public-construction division of the Commerce Department shows that the largest gain (from a percentage standpoint) during the first four months of this year, over the corresponding four months of 1929 was in contracts awarded for hospitals and institutions, which registered an increase of 121 per cent over last year. The total for the early months of this year is far above the total for the corresponding periods of 1925, 1926, 1927, 1928 and 1929. Contracts awarded for religious and memorial buildings increased 21 per cent.

The largest decline is shown in awards for residential construction, which, during the first four months of this year, are 49 per cent under last year. Industrial buildings declined 24 per cent, commercial buildings, 14 per cent, and smaller losses in public buildings and social and recreational construction.

With reference to the latest available statistics, contracts covering construction of all kinds for thirty-seven States totaled $119,586,600 for the period from the 10th to the 16th inst., inclusive, or an average of approximately $20,000,000 per business day. This represents an improvement over the situation for any other week since the first of April.

EDEN GARDEN LAKE FOUND

Uncharted Oasis in Mongolia Sands Expected to Yield Record of Peiping Man's Ancestors

PEIPING, May 25. (Exclusive)—The discovery of a mysterious unmapped lake amid the Mongolian sand dunes which may prove to be a veritable "Garden of Eden" was announced in Peiping today by Roy Chapman Andrews, leader of a Central Asiatic expedition which is prepared to depart at noon Monday for Mongolia.

Mr. Andrews sent for a Mongol explorer who returned recently with the news of the uncharted lake, bringing samples of fossils which give promise of the most important finds, including possibly the ancestors of the Peiping man. Automobiles were unable to reach the lake and it was necessary to travel for a month on camels through the shifting sands. The Mongol explorer reported that high cliffs surround the lake and contain abundant fossils which Mr. Andrews hopes may lead to information about the earliest man.

The district has not been inhabited for centuries and hundreds of fossils lie on the surface of the ground. Walter Granger, the chief paleontologist of the expedition, stated that sample fossils include rhino and prehistoric animals and "strata probably of the Pliocene, or Fourth Age, which makes man's presence unlikely but possibly of the Pleistocene period in which the earliest man was found."

The expedition is proceeding through a bandit country, but Mr. Andrews has purchased passage privileges from bandit leaders who are sending an escort. The Chinese discoverer of the Peiping man, W. C. Pei, and a noted French Jesuit geologist, Pere Teilhard Chardin, are accompanying the expedition.

FLINT BANK PRESIDENT ACQUITTED

Jury Debates Forty-three Hours Before Returning Embezzlement Verdict

FLINT (Mich.) May 25. (AP)—Grant J. Brown, former president of the Union Industrial Bank of Flint, was acquitted today by a jury in Circuit Court of charges of embezzling which resulted from a $3,592,000 shortage discovered last fall.

The jury of nine men and three women deliberated forty-three hours.

Brown was one of the bank's sixteen executives and employees indicted after the embezzlement was discovered. Twelve of the sixteen now are serving terms in the Michigan State prison at Jackson.

The actual charge against Brown was misuse of $47,000. He still faces other embezzlement charges and also is accused of making a false statement to a State bank examiner. Prosecutor Beagle said after the verdict he has not determined whether to press these charges.

Boat Speeder Dies in Spill

PORTLAND (Or.) May 25. (AP)—R. E. Blodgett of Portland was drowned in the Columbia River today when a speedboat he was piloting capsized. Katheryne Hartzell, Vancouver, Wash., and George Thomas, Camas, Wash., passengers, clung to the overturned boat and were rescued.

Spectators said the boat apparently got beyond Blodgett's control.

Boy Sightseer Killed at Gorge

CANON CITY (Colo.) May 25. (AP)—Falling 200 feet from the top of the Royal Gorge of the Arkansas River into a crevice while visiting the world's highest suspension bridge, newly completed, Roland Schmid, 15 years of age, of Denver, was killed today as he was trying to get a snapshot of the gorge.

Will Rogers Remarks:

BEVERLY HILLS, May 25. [To the Editor of The Times:] Say, did you read the speeches of those high school kids in that final debating in Washington? Sounded like the only first-class oratory that had been pulled in Washington in years. Then they give 'em an unprepared subject to talk on and they were all marvelous. We got to quit knocking these young folks; they may be raising Cain, but by golly, they are smart. A young girl, second cousin of mine from Muskogee, Okla., was given the subject "Habeas Corpus" to speak on right then. Why, half of us don't know if it's a disease or a new tooth paste or a radio announcer's real name.

WILL ROGERS.

PILOT DIVES IN VAIN TO SAVE GIRL

Parachute Jumper Killed as Rope Catches on Ship; Crowd Watches Tragedy

BLOOMINGTON (Ill.) May 25. (AP)—An aviator's desperate and futile attempt to save the life of a woman parachute jumper whose apparatus became tangled when she made a leap from an altitude of 2500 feet was witnessed by a crowd of 3000 persons at a local airport today.

The victim was Mrs. Florence Palmer Davis, 19 years of age, of Normal, Ill., who was making her first try at parachute jumping.

Mrs. Davis went aloft in a cabin plane piloted by Art Carnahan. At 2500 feet she stepped out. But, nervous, she pulled the ring of her release too soon. The tangle of rope caught on the service handle of the tail of the plane. The jerk ripped the chute across the middle, making it useless.

Carnahan put his plane into a steep dive in an effort to tangle his wing struts in the chute streaming about the falling woman. But he could not get down fast enough.

Mrs. Davis fell in a field adjoining the airport. She was alive but unconscious when rescuers arrived. She died shortly after being taken to a hospital.

Paris Reds and Police in Clash; Score Injured

PARIS, May 25. (AP) — Communists of Paris clashed with police today and also had a little quarrel among themselves during the annual parade to the Pere Lachaise Cemetery in memory of those shot against the cemetery wall for their part in the "commune" of 1871. About 350 persons were arrested.

One policeman was injured and a score of Communists were bruised when the marchers refused to obey police orders to keep the Red flag furled outside the cemetery.

The marchers, on arriving at the "Red wall," found another branch of their party already in possession. Noses were reciprocally punched and recriminations were loudly exchanged until the police separated the groups.

Maid Loses Life in Blaze

NEW YORK, May 25. (Exclusive) Fire of unknown origin destroyed the Southampton (L. I.) summer home of socially prominent Lucien H. Tyng early this morning and burned to death Miss Anna O'Grady, a maid. Mr. and Mrs. Tyng and Ethel Hunt, a visitor, saved their lives by leaping from the roof of the two-story structure to a porch below. They suffered only minor injuries.

Several other guests at the Tyng home were aroused in time to rush from the burning structure before they were cut off by the flames. The loss is estimated at $50,000.

JUDGE ENGS FOUND DEAD IN QUARRY AT OAKLAND

Missing Jurist Discovered Badly Crushed After 150-Foot Fall Off Cliff Near His Home

SAN FRANCISCO, May 25. (Exclusive)—The body of Superior Judge Edward Webb Engs of Alameda county was found today at the bottom of an abandoned quarry not 200 yards from his home in the Claremont district of Oakland. Investigators are certain the jurist took a walk along a narrow trail on the rim of the quarry, slipped and fell more than 150 feet to his death among the jagged rocks at the bottom. Oakland police are convinced the fall was accidental.

The quarry had been searched dozens of times by the groups of more than 1000 persons who have joined in the hunt since the 16th inst. when the jurist disappeared from his home after a night of business.

HIDDEN BY TREES

But the body had fallen into a dense clump of willow trees and could be seen only by a person plunging deep into the trees or by a person looking down from the trail at the exact spot from which the jurist probably fell. The foliage of the trees almost exactly matches the judge's gray-green clothing.

The discovery was made by Fay Bonham, 41 years of age, Oakland, and Jack Maher, 40, Alameda, both of whom have devoted all their time to the search for the last ten days. They were spurred to the hunt by the offer of a $1000 reward, $500 of which had been offered by the Engs family and $500 by the California State Bar for the discovery of Judge Engs dead or alive.

PERSEVERING HUNT

The quarry is owned by the Oakland Paving Company. Last week Bonham and Maher obtained the company's permission to drag a small pond in the quarry, and they carried out this task during the latter part of the week. Their base of operations, to which they took everything gleaned from the bottom of the pond, was a spot not twenty feet from the copse where they found the body today.

At daybreak today Bonham and Maher returned to the quarry to resume the search, combing every nook and corner of the scar in the hill with unceasing patience. They two made their way into the wild clump and encountered the body which was so decomposed as to make recognition difficult.

THEORY EXPLAINED

Police expressed the belief that Judge Engs was walking along the path when he was seized with a heart attack, or stumbled, slipped and grasped a sapling, lost his hold, and tumbled 150 feet along the jagged rocks that line the quarry wall, and plunged to his death at the bottom.

From the many sharp crevices and rocks projecting from the quarry wall in the path in which Judge Engs is believed to have fallen, police expressed the belief he was either killed or rendered unconscious before he struck the bottom of the quarry.

Coroner Miller and County Autopsy Surgeon Ashley examined the body. They reported that while the immediate cause of death was the internal hemorrhage of the lungs, Judge Engs's body was literally crushed. Both arms and legs were broken, the right thigh was fractured, the chest was crushed and all the ribs on the right side had punctured vital organs.

SONS SEE BODY

No evidence of foul play was discovered. Examination of a ledge on the quarry's crest disclosed a fragment of slippery bark, crushed though by a foot. It is probable Coroner Miller said, Judge Engs slipped on the bark and fell to his death.

Identification of the body was made first from a bill protruding from a pocket. Later William Engs and Edward Engs, Jr., sons of the judge, verified the identification and informed their mother of the discovery.

Although the funeral services for Judge Engs will be conducted privately and simply tomorrow, his honors to the memory of the jurist will be paid by leaders of bench and bar, officialdom and the business world.

NOTABLE LAWYER

Judge Engs had been a distinguished member of the California bar for thirty-four years.

He was born November 4, 1870, in Rhode Island, and came to Oakland with his family when 14 years of age. Graduating from High

ACCORD MET ON TARIFF

Hoover Agrees to Flexibility

Hawley-Smoot Measure to Go to Senate Today Unchanged

President at First Asked Alterations Due to Misinformation

WASHINGTON, May 25. (AP)—President Hoover and Republican tariff leaders in Congress reached an accord late today on the new flexible tariff provision of the Hawley-Smoot measure and it will be submitted to the Senate tomorrow without change.

The President had found certain sections of the new flexible provision unsatisfactory after being informed of its contents yesterday by telephone at his Rapidan River fishing camp in Virginia, and dispatched four Senatorial guests back to Washington late last night with a suggested modification.

PRESIDENT IN FAVOR

The conferences continued late today, after Mr. Hoover returned unusually early from his week-end retreat, and it was apparent that the Executive had not been given all the details of the clause.

After conferring with Atty.-Gen. Mitchell and Solicitor-General Thatcher at the White House, and with Senator Smoot, Republican, of Utah, by telephone, the President was represented as favoring the compromise flexible amendment.

Senator Smoot, who is chairman of the Senate conferees on the bill, was prepared to call the conferees together tomorrow to consider the changes suggested by the President, but after talking with Mr. Hoover, said he would submit the conference report with the new flexible provision to the Senate tomorrow without change. Debate on the report will begin Tuesday.

NEW PROVISION LEGAL

Mr. Hoover was represented as being particularly pleased with the provision delegating to the tariff commission power to consider invoice values and "other relevant factors that constitute an advantage or disadvantage in competition," as well as costs of production of foreign and domestic articles, in determining changes in statutory rates. He believes this will permit a speeding of the commission's work.

It was reiterated by those close to the Executive that he was willing to forego some of the power now given the President to change duties, and the government's leading law officers were said to have held the new flexible provision in its entirety as unassailable from a legal standpoint.

However, Senate Democratic leaders contended the provision was unconstitutional and served notice they would attack it on this ground when debate opens on the conference report Tuesday.

BORAH WILL FIGHT

Senator Borah of Idaho, a leader of the Republican Independents, who, with the Democrats, wrote the provision in the bill returning to Congress the flexible rate changing power, also said he would oppose the new clause as a "monstrosity."

Republican leaders in Congress were confused when informed the

SEATTLE POPULATION GAINS

City Now Has 362,426 Persons, Increase Since 1920 Count of 14.8 Per Cent

SEATTLE, May 25. (AP)—Preliminary census figures released here today give Seattle a population of 362,426 within its corporate limits, and 410,210 by including its immediate fringe. The population of the metropolitan area was announced as 468,031.

The population within the city limits shows an increase of 14.8 per cent in ten years. Seattle's population in 1920 was 315,312, twentieth in size in the United States, and in 1910 it was 237,194.

The metropolitan area, established through the co-operation of the United States Chamber of Commerce and with sanction of the Census Bureau, takes in a large part of Kings county outside the city limits, a small portion of Snohomish country almost contiguous to the northern city limits and a strip of Kitsap county, just across the bay from Seattle.

Census Supervisor Williams said the increase for Seattle and its immediate fringe was 18.9 per cent in ten years and for the metropolitan area 17.1 per cent.

MORE LARGE CITIES REPORT THEIR GAINS

WASHINGTON, May 25. (AP)—The latest large cities reporting their census totals contributed their bit toward the shift of the country's population west and south. While Miami, Fla., burst into the 100,000 class with 272.1 per cent increase, Oklahoma City did its bit with 100.27 per cent, the populations now being 110,025 and 182,845, respectively.

Cincinnati and Seattle, in a still higher class, changed little in rank from their position in 1920, but the Chamber Letter to President Urging Veto Calls Mexican Restriction Legislation "Most Unwise"

MEXICO CITY, May 25. (AP)—The executive committee of the American Chamber of Commerce today made public the text of a telegram sent to President Hoover describing the Harris bill to put Mexican immigration under quota laws as "most unwise at this time."

The telegram said:

"In view of the present cordial and friendly relations between the United States and Mexico, it is the opinion of the executive committee of the American Chamber of Commerce of Mexico City, endeavoring to represent American business interests and to further these friendly relations, that the proposed legislation restricting immigration from Mexico would not do actual good and would be most unwise at this time.

"Nothing should be done to affect adversely this amicable feeling, and such legislation will also be inimical to trade and the friendly relations of the two countries."

The committee said that "to pick out Mexico as the only country of the western world for putting into effect such restrictions will inevitably produce most unsatisfactory results. We sincerely hope that our legislative body will carefully consider the situation from every standpoint.

"Permit us to express the hope that the prospectus of the restrictive proposals being enacted into law are remote, but in the event the measure should be passed and reaches you for signature, we respectfully and with deep interest recommend your thoughtful consideration of its veto."

RAILROADS BIG FACTOR IN EXPORT TRADE

By W. E. Rauch
Industrial Agent Union Pacific System

[The following article was intended for Farm and Garden's special foreign number last week, but was received too late for that issue.—Ed.]

As the world lies at the doors of Los Angeles as a market for agricultural products from California and the Pacific coast states, so does it lie at the doors of the farmers of the United States as a market for their products. Exports of canned fruits boosted a total value of $27,000,000 in 1929, and exports of fresh fruits, dried fruits and nuts added another $20,000,000 to the total. Exports of vegetables, fresh and canned, added $5,000,000 more. Exports of meats, dairy products, poultry and eggs added $50,000,000 more. Exports of cotton, tobacco, wheat, corn, rice and other grains added $500,000,000 more. Exports of manufactured products, machinery, automobiles, etc., added $2,000,000,000 more.

Of course, the bulk of these exports are not produced in California, but the point is that California farmers are interested in the export trade as much as farmers in any other state, and that the export trade is of tremendous importance to the farmers of the United States as a whole.

Of the total exports of agricultural products, about 60 per cent are shipped by rail to the ports of export, and the railroads are therefore a big factor in the export trade. Of the total exports of manufactured products, about 80 per cent are shipped by rail to the ports of export, and the railroads are therefore a still bigger factor in the export trade.

Of the total imports of agricultural products, about 60 per cent are shipped by rail from the ports of import, and the railroads are therefore a big factor in the import trade. Of the total imports of manufactured products, about 80 per cent are shipped by rail from the ports of import, and the railroads are therefore a still bigger factor in the import trade.

ings Law School, he was admitted to the bar in 1896.

Last March Gov. Young appointed Judge Engs to serve the unexpired term of Superior Judge Spence of Alameda county, who had been appointed to the Appe[illegible]bench.

Judge Engs leaves [illegible]ow, Mrs. Minnie Walker Eng[illegible] his two sons.

It is believed Judge Engs met his death some time shortly after 2:30 p.m. Saturday, the 17th inst., the day after he disappeared from his home.

SENSATIONAL TRIAL

Judge Engs disappeared at the close of one of the most sensational graft trials in the history of Oakland. He had presided over the trial of Chief Criminal Deputy Sheriff A. R. Shurtleff, Deputy Sheriffs J. J. Collier and J. Lynn Davis, and Jack Vardella, Livermore bootlegger. All were indicted in connection with a grand jury investigation of an asserted Oakland paving graft ring and were suspected of taking thousands of dollars in bribes and protection money.

The men were tried before Judge Engs on conspiracy charges. All were convicted after Judge Engs disappeared. The strain of the trial is said to have affected Judge Engs deeply. On Thursday, the 15th inst., taking of testimony was concluded. That night he became ill and early the next morning he awakened in a delirium. Quieted by his wife, he fell asleep, but when Mrs. Engs arose at 7 a.m. her husband had disappeared. It was found he had dressed himself in a green sport suit and left the house, leaving his money, wallet, watch and jewelry.

COURTS TO ADJOURN

When he failed to return a search was started that grew with passage of each day. For days posses of Boy Scouts, police, deputy sheriffs and volunteer searchers covered the Oakland fillls and searchers followed purported clews in such widely separated districts as San Jose and Healdsburg.

Since his disappearance fourteen candidates have filed for his position.

The filing date expired last Friday and any man Gov. Young may appoint to fill the unexpired term will not be able to run for re-election, unless the Governor appoints one of the fourteen candidates.

Superior Judge Harris, presiding judge of the Alameda County Superior Court, announced today that all Superior Courts of the county will adjourn tomorrow in respect for Judge Engs.

TARIFF CLAUSE ACCORD MET

Flexibility Provision Said to Be Wholly Legal

Borah Announces Intention to Fight Move

President wanted a modification of the flexible provision agreed to in conference yesterday. They could not understand it, as Walter H. Newton, secretary to Mr. Hoover, had conferred at length with Senator Smoot and Representative Hawley, Republican of Oregon, chairman of the House conferees, before the conferees finally approved the new plan.

However, after today's conferences, they were considerably calmed and it was evident that the President had been given some erroneous interpretations of the text in yesterday's telephone conversations with his Virginia camp.

CONFERENCES HELD

First, the President dispatched his four Senatorial guests—Senators Allen, Kansas; Hatfield, West Virginia; Walcott, Connecticut, and Goldsborough, Maryland, back to Washington last night. They immediately went into conference with Senator Smoot, Mitchell and Thatcher.

Returning this afternoon from his retreat, the President called in Mitchell and Thatcher for a personal interview. It was after this conference that it was learned the President approved of the new flexible plan and that it would be submitted to the Senate without modification.

The compromise clause sharply curtails existing Presidential authority in that it would require the Executive to approve or disapprove a tariff commission recommendation within sixty days after a commission finding is submitted to him. At present the President may ignore a commission report as long as he pleases and let it die by such inaction.

On the other hand, the tariff commission is given added authority under the new plan, where differences in costs of production were not readily ascertainable in determining a rate change, the commission could take into account invoice values, wholesale selling prices, transportation costs, and all other "revelant factors" entering into competition between foreign and domestic articles.

DIPLOMATIC TIFF OVER TARIFF SETTLED

WASHINGTON, May 25. (AP)—Two diplomatic incidents which threatened to reach proportions of international importance during the past week appear to be considered by the State Department as closed.

Both happenings centered around tariff speeches made by Ambassador Padilla of Spain and Minister Peter of Switzerland. Demands for their recall were voiced in the Senate as a result of the speeches.

The Spanish Ambassador, it was disclosed tonight, has called at the State Department and explained his remarks. The action was voluntary and it was indicated at the Spanish Embassy that the laying before the department of a copy of his speech, even after its delivery, was sufficient to cause him to consider the matter closed.

He declined to comment on his visit to the department, referring all inquiries to the State Department. At the department a similar reticence was maintained regarding both incidents.

edge in percentage went to the western city, reporting 14.8 per cent growth to 362,426. The Ohio city grew only 11.5 per cent to 447,-650.

Oklahoma City's spurt brought it up from eightieth place in 1920 to a spot ahead of New Haven, Bridgeport, Hartford, Scranton and a score of other cities which outranked it ten years ago. New Haven was thirty-eighth city at that time. Miami scooted up from 255th place to somewhere right behind New Bedford, Mass., which was fifty-third at that time. At that the Florida city's jump was not quite up to its gain for the preceding decade as it grew 440.1 per cent from 1910 to 1920.

Other large increases reported during the last twenty-four hours among the cities of 10,000 or more include West Palm Beach, Fla., with 168 per cent and a population of 21,328; Wauwatosa, Wis., with 266.3 per cent and a population of 97,420; Rochester, Minn., with 50.3 per cent and a population of 20,626, and River Rouge, Mich., with 76 per cent and 17,290.

CHECK-UP STAGE

Enumeration has been virtually completed and the 1930 census is entering a phase which might be termed "the Chamber of Commerce check."

The Census Bureau here ruled that dissatisfaction of a Chamber of Commerce or other such civic organization with census results in its city should not be considered sufficient cause for a complete recount.

However, the bureau held that every city should have ample opportunity to make as good a showing as possible.

PACT APPROVAL HELD CERTAIN

others in the Navy who have expressed outspoken condemnation of the pact.

Chairman Borah of the Foreign Relations Committee is confident the hearings can be concluded by midweek and a report submitted to the Senate on the treaty before the end of the week, thus leaving it in a position to be taken up as soon as the tariff is out of the way.

Large Navy supporters of the treaty have demanded some promise that a construction program will be put under way to build the American fleet up to full strength allowed by the pact.

LEGISLATION INTRODUCED

Chairman Britten of the House Naval Affairs Committee already has introduced legislation to start this construction program. It calls for a $1,000,000,000 expenditure over a ten-year period.

However, the opposition to such a program is ready to speak up and, with the evidence it has enrolled from the Navy General Board itself before the Foreign Relations Committee, it seems unlikely that the issue will be thrashed out at this session.

While the Navy leaders have opposed building the additional light cruisers allowed by the treaty, they all have advocated that the other new ships within the scope of the pact be built.

Salt Lake City Has Bad Fire

SALT LAKE CITY, May 25. (AP) Fire of undetermined origin threatened an entire business block here this afternoon, the blaze being brought under control only after all apparatus in the city had been called into action. The damage was estimated at between $150,000 and $200,000.

The fire started at the rear of a garage and, fed by oil from several automobiles which caught fire, soon spread to surrounding buildings. A tank of stored gasoline was threatened for a time.

New Passengers Aboard for Pernambuco Flight

Officials Pay Respects to German Visitor

BY GUSTAV KAUDER

ABOARD THE GRAF ZEPPELIN (En route to Pernambuco) May 25. (Exclusive)—We landed at Rio de Janeiro this morning, but the landing was difficult because the field crew was completely untrained.

We touched the ground at 7:30 a.m. (6:30 a.m. New York daylight saving time) and stayed about seventy minutes in a complete chaos, cavalry holding back the excited crowds.

Visitors who came aboard were Prince Louis Ferdinand, son of the former Prince of Germany; the American, German and Spanish ambassadors, city and State authorities and members of the German colony, who brought many flowers and presents.

New passengers for the return trip to Pernambuco are Comte Pereira and his wife, Comte La Nacion and a Brazilian officer, Senhor Fontenelle, representing the Minister of Transportation Public Works, Senhor Konder.

The taking off of the ship was very easy. We circled for half an hour over the wonderful bays, hills, and the city district and are now returning in glorious sunshine and perfect weather and wind to Pernambuco.

SHORTEST VISIT EVER MADE ANYWHERE

RIO JANEIRO, May 25. (AP)—With a mere flip of her large silver bag, the Graf Zeppelin this morning ducked in and out of Rio Janeiro to pay her long-heralded courtesy visit to the Brazilian capital in less than two hours and a quarter.

Appearing over the harbor at dawn, the Graf sailed out again before 9 a.m. (4 a.m. P.S.T.) and at 3:15 o'clock this afternoon (10:15 a.m. P.S.T.) her passage over Victoria, 300 miles away, was signaled on the return voyage to Pernambuco.

She is due at Pernambuco early tomorrow morning and probably will start north for Havana and Lakehurst Tuesday, crossing the equator again and quitting the Southern Cross and the Southern Hemisphere for the pole star and the northern half of the world.

The Zeppelin's visit at Campo Dos Affonsos, Brazilian army landing field, was about the shortest she has ever made anywhere. Dr. Hugo Eckener did not even get out of the gondola, receiving Brazilian government officials and members of the German colony abroad his ship.

From the time the first landing rope was thrown overboard until the last had been drawn up, exactly one hour and thirty-two minutes elapsed. The Zeppelin was held by Brazilian soldiers. Owing to the early hour and to the uncertainty last night about the exact time of her arrival, but a few thousand spectators were present. Abandoning his reported project of a cruise to the German colonies in Southern Brazil, Dr. Eckener had halted the Zeppelin outside the headlands of Rio Janeiro Harbor about midnight last night.

Chandler said that the Honolulu agents had advised local offices of Lassco that none of the passengers was inconvenienced by the flames—all having disembarked on arrival of the ship Friday. There will be other ships immediately placed at the disposal of the passengers and every effort made to maintain their comfort on return trips to the mainland, he said.

Damage to the City of Honolulu, extent of which is not now known, is adequately covered by insurance, the general manager said.

GERMAN LAUDS OLYMPIC GAMES

Minister of Interior Wirth Addresses Opening

Hopes to Land Contest After One to Be Held Here

BERLIN, May 25. (AP)—The International Olympic Congress opened today with impressive ceremonies in the historic hall of the University of Berlin in the presence of representatives of the German government, the Reichstag, the Prussian government and the Diplomatic Corps.

BROADCAST EXERCISES

Dr. Joseph Wirth, Minister of the Interior, Theodore Lewald, president of the German Athletic Federation; Ferdinand Schmidt, president of the university, and Count De Baillet-La Tour, president of the congress, were the speakers. The opening exercises were broadcast throughout Germany.

"Engaging in sports is every citizen's duty, a service to the Fatherland," said Dr. Wirth.

He praised the Olympic Games as effective agents of international understanding, and expressed hope that Germany might receive the Olympics next after the coming contests at Los Angeles.

'SELECTED TEAM' PROMISED

Herr Lewald reminded his hearers that German archeologists excavated the sanctuary in the Greek Olympic plain, where the original games were held. He said that despite the difficulty of sending men 5000 miles to Los Angeles, Germany nevertheless will send "a selected team" there for the games in 1932. Count De Baillet-La Tour said the question of amateurism is the most important one before the congress, which must decide whether the definition adopted by the international federation of the football association shall be used in ruling on the qualifications of Olympic candidates. The football association's formula for determining amateurism was recognized by the Olympics executive committee.

Count De Baillet-La Tour said he believes the evils of compensating athletes in veiled form can be removed if the number of public sports matches is reduced "to such an ex-

SIMMONS FIGHT STIRS INTEREST

North Carolina Democratic Party Sundered

Senator Bolted Smith in 1928 Campaign

Organization Backs His Foe in June Primary

BY LAURENCE M. BENEDICT
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 25. (Exclusive)—With the spectacular Pennsylvania primary warfare over, interest in the nation-wide struggle for control of Congress is shifting now to North Carolina, where Senatorial nominees will be chosen by both parties on June 7.

In the Tarheel State one of the most heated political contests witnessed in the South since reconstruction days is in full swing. After forty years of undisputed reign as political boss of the State the veteran Senator Simmons, one of the outstanding Democratic leaders in Congress, is facing dethronement. His friends concede that he is up against "the fight of his life."

Josiah W. Bailey has challenged Simmons's supremacy and with the backing of most of the organization is making a whirlwind campaign. As matters stand today most North Carolinans refuse to predict the outcome. You could guide your guess by a flip of a coin and stand an even chance of being right, they say by way of illustrating how close the contest appears now.

BOLTED SMITH

Simmons brought the fight upon himself by bolting the Smith-Robinson ticket in the memorable 1928 Presidential battle. He had been a stalwart Democrat through thick and thin for more than half a century of North Carolina politics. During the Wilson administration he was chairman of the Senate Finance Committee and in that capacity piloted the huge revenue bills which financed the World War. He never wavered in his democracy until nomination of Al Smith.

He did not openly campaign for Hoover but his known opposition to Gov. Smith had such influence throughout the State that he was popularly credited with turning it Republican for the first time in more than fifty years. It was an impressive turnover. Hoover carried the State by a vote of 348,923 to 286,227.

Simmons was growing old and his health was failing. He had planned to retire with the expiration of his present term. Then word reached him that the organization had declared war on him and that it would put up a candidate who had remained loyal to the Democratic ticket during the 1928 campaign. Simmons took this up as a challenge to his leadership.

MACHINE CRUMBLES

It acted as a tonic to the old war horse. His health began to improve and he took a new lease on life. Although he was 76 years of age, and had served continuously in the Senate since 1901, he announced his candidacy and tossed his hat into the ring with an air of angry defiance.

The stout old warrior has been kept busy through the winter trying to lead the Democrats in the tariff fight and at the same time direct his campaign for re-election. When he went back to North Carolina to give directions to his lieutenants he found his machine, once the envy of politicians everywhere, broken to bits.

Many of his old political associates had abandoned him entirely and gone over to his opponent, Bailey. He was under the necessity of constructing an entire new organization. The task seemed impossible at first. But Simmons never quits. He is one of the most resourceful fighters ever seen in the South. His own organizing genius, aided by a few henchmen who remained loyal and the strong current of pro-Simmons sentiment to which the North Carolinans are always more or less susceptible has put him substantially on an even footing with his opponent.

REPUBLICANS DELIGHTED

The primary will leave scars among the Democrats. The Republicans look upon the situation with downright delight. They think the Democrats will be so badly torn apart by the Simmons-Bailey fight that a Republican will have a real chance to win the Senatorship in the November election. Usually the Republican Senatorial nomination goes begging. But this year there are no less than four contestants—George M. Pritchard, representing the Asheville district in Congress; Maj. George E. Butler, brother of former Senator Marion Butler; Irving B. Tucker and Harry C. Dorsett. Pritchard and Butler are considered the outstanding contenders.

The Iowa Senatorial primary will take place on June 2, but in Washington it is not commanding anything like the interest in the North Carolina contest. Senator Steck, wearing a Democratic label, but usually voting with the Republican regulars, is running for re-election. Candidates for the Republican nomination include Gov. Hammill, Representative Dickinson, leader of the farm bloc in the House, and Frank Lund, former campaign manager for Senator Smith Brookhart.

Doctor Reports Northcott Shows Additional Gain

SAN FRANCISCO, May 25. (Exclusive)—Gordon Stewart Northcott, youthful condemned murderer, awaiting execution at San Quentin, who has been suffering from appendicitis, was reported improved today by the acting prison physician, Dr. F. H. Garfinkle.

Northcott will be kept under observation for several days, and if his condition does not change for the worse, he will be returned to "death row." The condemned youth refused to undergo an operation. His mother, serving a life term for participation in the murder, supported her son in his refusal. Northcott's execution has been delayed more than a year by an appeal to the State Supreme Court.

THE GREATEST YEAR FOR ICE

The day of extravagance is past. People have recovered from the recent fever of easy spending . . . they now demand VALUE for their dollars spent.

More and more the trend is toward ice refrigeration. A few minutes' figuring will show that even the first cost of a chemical-mechanical refrigerator would represent the equivalent of your ice bills until 1942. And ice is not only cheaper, but is the only real refrigeration.*

Now, scientifically designed ice refrigerators, in white and pastel colorings, sell as low as $30 to $70. They are beautiful in appearance, have larger food storage room and enable you to have plenty of ice for all occasions. Sold by your iceman on easy terms with a liberal trade-in allowance on your old ice box.

People who demand the best in refrigeration and buy with a shrewd knowledge of value per dollar spent will phone The Union Ice Co. today for full particulars regarding ice refrigeration.

*Remember this, only ICE keeps foods fresh as well as cold, conserves their natural flavors and juices, and keeps food pure by a natural circulation of clean washed air that carries away impurities and odors. Stop a Red, White and Blue Union Ice Truck for satisfactory ICE service.

PARKS TO HAVE MATHER PLAQUE

Perpetual Memorial Will Honor Naturalist

Plan Will Not Interfere With Other Projects

Outstanding Sculptor to Create Design

BY ROBERT B. ARMSTRONG
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 25. (Exclusive)—John Hays Hammond announced today that after a comprehensive study the executive committee of the Stephen T. Mather Appreciation Committee, of which he is chairman, has decided definitely to place in every national park and national monument in the United States a perpetual memorial to the great creator of the national parks of the United States. This will not in any way interfere with other tributes to the work of Mr. Mather, either by States or communities or the creation of another national park to be named for him. The plan adopted will welcome any State movements such as proposed by Washington and California friends of Mr. Mather in obtaining and donating to public playgrounds one of the famous sequoia groves.

A plaque with suitable inscription will be placed in a prominent place in each park and monument so that all generations of the United States can know how and by whom the great playgrounds of the United States were made available.

SCULPTOR TO BE HIRED

Chairman Hammond in making this announcement said:

"The committee proposes to secure the services of an outstanding sculptor to prepare a suitable bronze plaque to be placed in each of the twenty-three national parks and thirty-three national monuments. This plaque would carry in relief the bust of Stephen T. Mather accompanied by his name and suitable epitome of his work; also a sentence or two from his writings to carry his ideals to each and every visitor to the national parks for all time to come. In many cases a granite boulder base will be provided upon which the plaque will be mounted.

"The committee feels that since the work of Stephen T. Mather was so essentially national in character; his influence so decidedly national, and the appreciation of his contribution to his country is nation-wide, the national government should provide in the nation's capital some suitable form of tribute to his memory and it is the desire and purpose of the Stephen T. Mather Appreciation Committee to co-operate with all interested to aid in bringing this about.

PROJECTS BEING CARRIED OUT

"Stephen T. Mather had many highly desirable local, State and national park projects in process of development to each of which he gave ungrudgingly his enthusiasm, his irresistible personality and his organizing ability. Many of these are warmly supported by effective groups who desire to carry these projects into actuality in appreciation of his leadership. Each dream realized will be eloquent testimony to the wisdom of his vision and the strength of his influence.

"It is the thought of the committee that many of these dreams should be realized and that it is entirely feasible that each of these groups may very well accomplish that result. It is the desire of the appreciation committee to co-operate with each of these groups in every way possible, to help bring about the realization of these projects and as chairman of the executive committee I will welcome suggestions from the members of the national committee as to the individuals who should be appointed to serve as chairman of the committees in charge of the development of the major projects."

BUSINESSMAN ROLE ASSUMED BY TUNNEY

NEW YORK, May 25. (Exclusive) James Joseph Tunney, erstwhile world's heavyweight champion, and more recently a gentleman of leisure and Shakespearean student, is a business man now. Gene, as he is better known, has a private office in the elaborate quarters of the American Drake Shoe and Foundry Company, it was revealed today. About the building it is said he is learning a thing or two about the railroad supply business as an assistant to an executive.

PEDESTRIAN RUNS THIS ONE

New Signal Flashes Red as He Presses Button and Makes Safe Street-Crossing Possible

WHITE PLAINS (N. Y.) May 25. (Exclusive)—A new device to enable the pedestrian himself to stop automobile traffic long enough for him to get across a street safely was installed in Bronxville today by the Westchester County Park Commission.

The device, a signal light, is described as "semivehicular actuated." When no cars are approaching it shows the green signal of safety to pedestrians. Approaching cars, however, strike a pedestrian unit in the pavement which causes the light to turn a warning red. If a continual stream of cars is passing, as is sometimes the case, the pedestrian can take matters into his own hands. All he needs to do is press a button conveniently placed. That turns on a red light over the parkway stopping the automobiles. The light stays on automatically long enough to let the pedestrian cross. Then it switches back to the green.

Three French Cities Joined

LILLE, May 25. (AP)—This city, Roubaix and Turcoing are growing together into the fourth largest city in France, a rank now held by Bordeaux.

Roubaix, with 113,000 population, is just northeast of here and beyond it is Tourcoing with 78,000, while Lille is credited with 200,000.

As street car lines and roads were built to connect the three cities, they were bordered by homes and factories until now one can drive ten miles without noticing the change from one town to the other..

AL SMITH WILL PUBLISH BOOK

Contract Made for Offering Treatise on Citizenship

NEW YORK, May 25. (Exclusive) Ex-Gov. Smith has signed a contract with Harper and Brothers for the publication of a popular book on citizenship, which will probably be called "The Citizen and His Government."

Mr. Smith's book has nothing to do with any material thus far published in book, magazine or newspaper form. It grew out of a profound conviction on his part that the nature and scope of government in their relation to the individual are not understood by the average citizen and much of the failure of popular government is to be charged to the lack of knowledge on the part of the man in the street of what his government, city, State and national can reasonably be expected to do for him.

The book is being planned for publication in 1931. Announcement will be made later this year of the actual date of its appearance.

PORTUGAL FLEET SMALL

LISBON, May 25. (AP)—Portugal's merchant fleet includes 169 boats of large tonnage and twenty-one coastwise craft, with gross of 239,837 tons. This is much below the war period when the country acquired shipping for the Portuguese Expeditionary Corps in France.

It had ously explained the re- sults attained by experimentation on rats do not necessarily indicate they will be the same in humans. This remains to be ascertained, Prof. Sundstroem warned.

"Ten rats," he reported, "containing new cancerous tissue which had not yet started to develop were placed in the low-pressure tank.

"Contrary to our expectation the tumor fragments would fail to grow, they did grow in 100 per cent of the cases. The tumors underwent the same phases of growth and subsequent necrosis or destruction as did tumors which were large at the start. Such results are difficult to interpret under the assumption the reduced oxygen tension is only directly responsible for the destruction of cancer in low-pressure environments. One is tempted to surmise the reduction of the oxygen tension or pressure may also act in an indirect way, for instance, by effecting a diminuation of some substance in the body which is essential for the growth and maintenance of the cancer, or by the accumulation of some substance, known or unknown, which is destructive to the cancer.

"In addition to this, one would expect no lasting effect of the oxygen deficiency if its action were only direct. On the other hand, if it produces some biochemical modifications which are injurious to malignant growths, these modifications might affect also a cancer which is acquired subsequent to the cessation of the low-pressure exposure. One of our most recent experiments seems to indicate this is true, because cancers acquired by rats previously treated in the low-pressure tank, seem to run a different course from those acquired by untreated rats."

Dean Langley Porter explains that to continue experiments on rats, not to mention trying the treatment on humans, will require a considerable amount of money, and the future program of experimentation will depend upon the amount made available.

AIR-MAIL PILOT BARELY ESCAPES IN PLANE LEAP

CLEVELAND, May 25. (AP)—Pilot Samuel J. Samson of the night air mail barely escaped with his life in a parachute jump early today after staying aboard to the last possible minute tossing the mail over the side.

Samson, flying from Cleveland to New York, encountered motor trouble while over Bedford, twelve miles southeast of here. He saved most of the mail by throwing it overboard, but left himself scant time to leap to safety. As he neared the ground, his parachute was grazed by a high-tension wire.

The plane crashed a mile away and was destroyed, but residents saved what was left of the mail from the flames.

"I just got off in time," Samson said. Two years ago, while flying the Cleveland-Chicago route, he made a similar jump.

AIRCRAFT CARRIER IN TIGHT SQUEEZE

NORFOLK (Va.) May 25. (AP)—Scars of its voyage through the Panama Canal for the fleet maneuvers in Cuban waters are carried by the aircraft carrier Lexington.

With a breadth of 106 feet, the floating landing field had a two-foot clearance on each side from the walls of the canal locks.

Light poles along portions of the canal were mowed down like match sticks by the wide flying deck.

Scores Women as Aides in Preaching

TEMPLE (Tex.) May 25. (AP)—Rev. R. P. Shuler, militant Los Angeles pastor who was released from jail there on a contempt of court charge just before flying to Dallas to attend the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, was here today for examination at a clinic.

He formerly was pastor of the First Methodist Church here.

Shuler said he was here "just checking up on his physical condition after his stay in jail.

He asserted the Methodist conference did two things:

"It gave a preacher the right to be a good citizen and gave men the right to do the preaching awhile, without any help from the women."

"Women are fine," he added, "but there are too few of them who succeed in the professions."

TREE MEN CLASSIFIED

STAMFORD (Ct.) May 25. (AP)—The man who cares for trees now has a professional name—he is a dendrician. The name was coined by T. H. Reuman, principal of the Bartlett School of Tree Surgery here. It comes from a Greek root, dendron, meaning tree.

RADIO TO LINK TWO MEETINGS

Berlin and San Francisco Joined Over Ether

Electric Light and Power Conventions on June 18

Members to Attend Joint Session by Ear

NEW YORK, May 25. (AP)—Conventions in Berlin and San Francisco will hold a joint session by radio June 18.

For half an hour they will be linked across two continents and an ocean, so that even the applause is carried oversea.

It will be 9 p.m. in Berlin and noon in San Francisco when the World Power Conference in the former city and the National Electric Light Convention in the coast city join hands.

Matthews S. Sloan, president of the Light Association, will introduce Owen D. Young, speaking in San Francisco. Dr. Oskar von Miller will reply for the World Power Conference. Marconi has been invited to talk from the Berlin gathering.

Next the wireless to both conventions will be cut in at Llewellyn Park, N. J., where Thomas A. Edison will speak to both audiences simultaneously.

The power conference meets but once in six years, this being its second gathering. The first was in London, the next will be in the United States. Nearly every civilized nation is expected to be represented at Berlin.

On each delegate's desk will be a microphone in which he may listen to speeches in any one of three languages, switching as he chooses to English, French or German. The speeches will be translated as delivered.

EARTH RUNS ON TRACK, U. C. SCIENTIST DECLARES

STOCKTON, May 25. (AP)—A curve in space—if one can imagine that—and not the sun's pull determines the earth's course around the solar body, Dr. Victor F. Lenzen of the physics department of the University of California, told students at the College of the Pacific here. Furthermore, the lecturer declared that a "track" or "channel" through space held the earth to its elliptical course and that this mundane body could not deviate if it tried.

The idea of the sun controlling the earth's course is a sort of hangover from the mythological period in the history of physics, Dr. Lenzen told his audience, and he elucidated by adding that the earth goes around the sun in a course the shape of an ellipse because the space in the region of the sun is curved that way.

Express Theft Fake Admitted

ANTHONY (Kan.) May 24. (AP)—Sheriff Ryan announced that Robert Enoch, 50-year-old express messenger, has confessed that he faked the robbery Friday of an express car on the Hutchinson and Southern train operating between Hutchinson and Blackwell, Okla.

The messenger was found supposedly unconscious in his car when the train reached Manchester, Okla., twenty miles south of here. After he was "revived," Enoch said a robber had swung aboard the car one mile south of here and slugged him into unconsciousness.

Enoch is held in jail here awaiting the filing of formal charges.

Brief Coolidge Letter Brings Small Price

CHICAGO, May 25. (AP)—The steadily increasing value of Lincoln letters and autographs as well as a sharp general interest in pennings of other American Presidents, was in evidence at Chicago's first auction of books and manuscripts in a quarter of a century.

A one-page letter, written at Springfield June 3, 1849, and signed with the well-known "A. Lincoln," was bid up to $580. Another Lincoln letter brought $400.

A Coolidge typed and signed letter dated 1923 brought $21. An autographed copy of a Coolidge book realized the same, while a signed photograph went for $30.

Two Washington letters, one indited at Valley Forge and the other discussing the Constitution, went for $300 each. Incidentally, Parson Weem's "Life of Washington," containing the original version of the famous cherry tree story, was disposed of for $21.

Reds Blamed for Uprising as Eight Lose Lives

SHANGHAI, May 25. (AP)—Dispatches received here today from Amoy, Fukien Province, said eight were killed and many wounded in a mutiny of prisoners at the Amoy jail. One hundred and fifty of the prisoners escaped.

Amoy officials placed the blame on Reds, advancing the belief arms were smuggled to prisoners captured in recent anti-Communist raids here.

The coup was made suddenly by the prisoners, who rushed and disarmed the guards and controlled the exits after a sharp fight.

FIVE CONVICTS GIVEN PAROLES

Forty-three San Quentin Cases Considered

Mrs. Paddleford Will Gain Liberty in Fall

Three Burglars Among Those Favored by Board

SAN QUENTIN, May 25. (AP)—Forty-three cases were considered today by the State Board of Prison Directors, of which five were ordered paroled, three deported, seventeen given future dates for parole, thirteen postponed, and five paroles denied.

Mrs. Eleanor McKinney Paddleford of Santa Barbara, society woman who has been all over the world and who was sent here for one to fourteen years for passing fictitious checks, was given four years by the board and granted a half-time parole, which will be effective in four months. She was paroled to the custody of John D. Fisher, New Orleans attorney. This was her second time here, having been sent once from Monterey county, although after a few months' imprisonment the Appellate Court reversed her conviction. Other cases considered included:

Mrs. Sarah Hall, Los Angeles, sent up for forgery, a two-timer, was given seven years.

Marie Gehring, Los Angeles, convicted of forgery, was given five years and granted a half-time parole, effective in about seven months.

B. B. Bridges, 34 years of age, convicted for first-degree burglary in Santa Clara county, was given eight years and granted an immediate parole. He has been associate editor of the San Quentin Bulletin and has written poetry which has attracted wide notice.

His partner, W. B. Howard, burglary first degree, Santa Clara county, also was given eight years and immediate parole.

Thomas Strehm, 24, burglary first degree, Los Angeles, was given eight years and immediate parole.

Elish W. Brown, burglary first degree, Los Angeles, was given ten years and parole for hospitalization.

MONK RIVALS FAMOUS BULL IN CHINA SHOP

ANNAPOLIS (Md.) May 25. (NANA)—A stray monkey broke into the hardware and accessory shop of A. N. Wilson here and held a little party. The whole town is ready to admit that monk certainly was the life of the party. And was it a party? He opened every can, bottle, box and drawer in the shop and poured their contents on the floor, and then began throwing paint at passersby.

A group of policemen were sent down to discourage the little rascal and the monk ran gaily down the street, wagging his tail behind him. He hopped to the top rafters of a garage and hasn't been seen since, though Mr. Wilson has been looking for him.

MANY INJURED IN INDIA CLASH

Rebels Attempt Raid on Salt Depot

Police Fight Them Back With Staves

More Than 100 Rioters Under Arrest

BOMBAY (India) May 25. (AP)—Thirty-five persons including a policeman were injured, seven seriously, and more than 100 were arrested today during attempts of Mahatma Gandhi's volunteers to raid the salt depots at Wadala, near Bombay.

The riot was precipitated by a party of 100 volunteers who crept close to the depot early in the morning. The police were waiting for them, however, and fought them back with their staves.

Adopting guerrilla tactics, the raiders rushed past the police and obtained a considerable quantity of salt, but in the end the police routed them, arresting fifty-four volunteers and forty-seven spectators. Those arrested included M. Bhumgara, leader of the raiders.

Bhumgara, a noted cyclist, was accompanied by a number of parsis, members of the Zoroastrian religion. As he was dragged away by the police he exhorted the Zoroastrians to plunge headlong into the civil disobedience movement.

At Untadi Camp the police arrested Ambalal Patel, who had taken charge of the volunteers near Dharasana.

The authorities issued orders prohibiting for two months any assembly, meeting, procession or other demonstration in Madras city in connection with the civil disobedience campaign. The boycott of foreign cloth also is forbidden.

At Multan the police charged a procession held contrary to the ruling, and in the ensuing fight, a police officer and five paraders were injured.

APPEAL ADDRESSED TO MOHAMMEDANS

KARACHI (India) May 25. (AP)—Word was received here today that Sir Shah Nawaz Khan Bhutto, a member of the Bombay Legislative Council, while presiding over a Mohammedan meeting at Sukkur, in Bombay Province Thursday night, had called on his hearers to ignore the civil disobedience agitation as a Hindu movement. He said it tends toward anarchy and revolution.

Charging that the civil disobedience campaign is the climax of efforts of the advanced Hindus to get possession of the government, he said it is time for the Indian Congress to save its own reputation by halting the movement.

The meeting adopted a resolution deploring the extremists' attitude in rejecting the British offer of a round-table conference to discuss India's status. The resolution urges all Indians, particularly Muselmans, to keep aloof from the civil disobedience campaign.

A second resolution appeals to sister communities to discontinue the present political tactics in support of Mahatma Gandhi's volunteers.

A third appeals to Viceroy Lord Irwin to give the Mohammedans of Sind, who form two-thirds of the entire Moslem population of Bombay presidency, an adequate representation at the proposed London round-table conference.

'MA' FERGUSON'S BONNET IN AGAIN

Former Governor of Texas Announces Candidacy

Husband's Exclusion From Race Causes Action

She Differs From Him Only in Backing Dry Law

AUSTIN (Tex.) May 25. —(AP) Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, the only woman who ever served as Governor of Texas, has formally announced her candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Governor, for the second time seeking an office denied to her husband by a Texas Supreme Court ruling.

Mrs. Ferguson was elected Governor in 1924 after James E. Ferguson, removed from the Governor's chair in 1917 by impeachment, was refused a place on the ballot. Her announcement today followed an opinion by the Supreme Court holding the impeachment still bars her husband from the ballot.

She announced she will accept her husband's platform "with only one change."

"Instead of promising to veto all liquor legislation as he promised, I want to strengthen our liquor laws and see if some improvement cannot be made in enforcement," she said. "We prohibitionists have suffered much discouragement recently, and I want to see one honest effort to outlaw the liquor traffic, before we give up the struggle."

She gave notice that in event of her election she will "receive the aid and advice of my good husband."

Ferguson today filed a motion for a rehearing on Friday's ruling by the Supreme Court, arguing that impeachment from office is a judicial punishment and as such, pardonable by the "Amnesty Act" passed during his wife's administration and repealed under Gov. Moody's administration.

AMERICA EATS UP ITS INCOME

One-Fourth of Money Spent For Foodstuffs

Upkeep on Nation's Stomach Twenty-one Billions

Textiles, Automobiles Cost Huge Sum Yearly

NEW YORK, May 25. (Exclusive) One-fourth of all the money spent by the American people is for food products, according to a study made by General Foods Corporation. The annual income of the United States is estimated by various research organizations at amounts ranging from $78,000,000,000 to $80,000,000,000. Most research workers agree that the value of food purchased reaches $21,000,000 plus $3,000,000,000 more in products "consumed on premises," including food raised and eaten on farms and not cleared through any market.

The retail value of all textiles in this country is estimated at around $12,000,000,000 yearly. Automotive expense, including cars, trucks, tires, and accessories, approximates $5,000,000,000 to $6,000,000,000 on a retail basis. Adding gasoline, oil and maintenance, however, the automotive expense is about equal with textiles.

Building construction costs range between $7,000,000,000 and $8,000,000,000, according to the findings of the statisticians. Railroads receive between $6,000,000,000 and $7,000,000,000 in operating income. The iron and steel business, not including machinery, is recorded at around $6,000,000,000.

No attempt was made to give a figure on amusements, one of the other giant industries.

Mine Cave-in Kills Worker

NEVADA CITY, May 25. (AP)—Omer Babcock, 24 years of age, was killed today in a cave-in on the 1100-foot level in the Murchie mine here, and J. McCulla of Sacramento was badly injured.

Several other men of the same crew escaped the falling earth by running.

WET PLANK MAY BRING G.O.P. SPLIT

Washington's Republican Drys Admit Possibility of Serious Break

SEATTLE, May 25. (AP)—A split in the Republican party in Washington is an admitted possibility here today, following the wet victory in the State convention at Bellingham yesterday.

If the word of dry leaders in the convention is correct, the adoption of the modification plank will not only affect the standing of the party in Washington, but will be felt throughout the nation. As the convention is one of the earliest and Washington is among the oldest of the dry States, they point out, the action of the convention may have a widespread effect, especially as it comes in the face of a more stringent enforcement program by the Hoover administration.

The wet plank they consider not only a slap in the face for the national administration, but also a repudiation of Senator Jones of Washington, Congressional dry leader. Jones is the father of the "five-and-ten law," providing a more stringent penalty for violation of the Volstead Act.

With the adoption of the modification plank leadership of the party in the State shifted, temporarily at least, from dry Spokane and "cow counties," to wet King county. The failure of Charles Hebberd of Spokane and John S. McMillin of San Juan, among those responsible for the Hoover landslide in Washington, to keep the convention dry, is indicative of the possible result.

SUMATRA MARKET FOR CALIFORNIANS

SAN FRANCISCO, May 25. (Exclusive)—California producers looking for expanding foreign markets should investigate Northern Sumatra, according to Walter A. Foote, Consul there. It has high buying power and living standards are improving rapidly, he declared. There is an eager market there for California canned fruits, vegetables and fish, in return for which Sumatra is eager to dispose of palm oil, Foote said.

Crusade On to Force Repeal of Blue Laws

NEW YORK, May 25. (Exclusive) Lovers kissed and played, radios emitted their usual sounds and the motion-picture theaters reproduced their customary entertainment in Jersey today much as though they were not "acting under pressure." The pressure was applied by a large number of gentlemen out with pencils and pads, taking the names of those who violated ancient "blue laws" enacted sometime before Washington crossed the Delaware.

George B. La Barre, director of public safety, explained that the move against those engaged in activities "conducive to commerce or merriment" was part of a crusade to compel the repeal of the Puritanical statutes.

But each offender is subject to a $2 fine under the law."

MOTHERS SEE SCARS OF WAR

Chemin des Dames Sector Inspected

Famed Armistice Car Causes Disappointment

Witness Pageant Honoring Joan of Arc

(Copyright, 1930, by the Chicago Tribune)

PARIS, May 25. (Exclusive)—The little group of Gold Star Mothers today wound up their visit to the battlefields and cemeteries in the famous armistice camp, the forest of Compiegne, where allied commanders met emissaries of the exhausted Germans on November 11, 1918.

Sixty-eight mothers left Rheims this morning and drove out along the historic Chemin Des Dames sector, where the late Marshal Ferdinand Foch launched the ill-fated disaster which ended in a mutiny of the French troops which nearly cost his command. It was also through there that the Germans broke in the spring of 1918, crumbling the allied lines until the American machine-gun battalions stopped the advance near Chateau Thierry. The blood-soaked fields of this district gave the mothers one of the most horrible glimpses of the war that they have seen, particularly the famous Hill 108, the top of which was blown off, leaving a crater 150 feet in diameter.

SEE ARMISTICE CAR

After stopping at Soissons to rest and pick up two sick mothers, Mrs. Anna Piatt and Mrs. Catharine Dodge, the party left Compiegne. Along the road to Soissons from Compiegne they stopped at the French cemetery of Abley and there descended in a driving rain to lay a wreath of poppies, corn flowers and lilies at the gates of the cemetery.

The mothers were disappointed at the famous "Armistice car," for where they expected to see a peace shrine fountain there was instead a monument to the glory of French arms. The entrance to the park where the car stands on a stone shaft was dedicated to the French soldiers who fell "to recover Alsace-Lorraine," and the very centers of the huge marble slab are saying it was here "the criminal pride of Germany humbled the free peoples whom it sought to enslave."

WITNESS PAGEANT

The car is an ordinary sleeping-car and diner, housed in a concrete shed built from American donations. Its windows are plastered with French papers announcing the victory. On the way out the mothers were presented with a booklet telling how Marshal Foch humiliated the German delegates, who arrived expecting an armistice offer and met a demand virtually for an unconditional surrender.

One group of mothers who had already visited the car stayed at Compiegne and saw the picturesque pageant in honor of Joan of Arc with the townspeople scampering about in the rain dressed in bright medieval doublet and hose and carrying tin halberts. From busses they got a glimpse of an authentic medieval tournament where armored knights on horseback jousted as in the days of old.

STURGEON NETS FISHER $178

Ten-Foot Monster Caught in Columbia River Proves to Be Rich Haul

PORTLAND (Or.) May 25. (AP)—"One white sturgeon—$178."

That may not have been the entry Christ O. Ysland, Columbia River fisherman, made in his records, but that was the amount he received for the fish.

The sturgeon weighed 402 pounds, was ten feet long, fifty inches around and almost two feet thick at the largest part. It contained thirty-two pounds of caviar, which brought $4 a pound. The meat brought $50.

The sturgeon was caught in the Columbia River Friday night with a gill net from an ordinary fishing boat.

TRAINING PERIOD SET FOR NATIONAL GUARD

SACRAMENTO, May 25. (Exclusive)—Adjt.-Gen. Mittelstaedt today announced that the training camps of the California National Guard will be held at Capitola, San Luis Obispo and Fort MacArthur, July 5 to August 17, next. He says the attendance will exceed 6000 officers and men from California and 100 members of the military police and engineer companies of the Nevada National Guard.

Due to the increased efficiency of the troops, he declares the maneuvers this year will be on a more elaborate scale than ever before. Airplanes are to be used to tow targets for the antiaircraft gunners and to spot shots for the field artillery regiments' reconnaissance attack and photographic work.

In the afternoon, the delegates witnessed previews of two forthcoming productions, pictures now being edited for world release.

FIFTY-CENT COIN OF GOLD FOUND

Garden in Illinois Town Yields California Piece Issued in 1853

QUINCY (Ill.) May 25. (Exclusive)—Working in his garden in Mendon, W. H. Stout unearthed a 50-cent gold piece with a date of 1853, and around the edge inscribed in small letters, "half-dollar California gold." On the other side is the Goddess of Liberty and a field of stars. It is very thin, about the size of the old silver half-dime, and weighs a little more than two grams.

The United States government did not issue this gold money, but private banks issued 25 and 50-cent and $1 gold pieces in the fifties.

MUSSOLINI ADDRESSES WORKMEN

Crowd of 150,000 Listens to Duce Assert Discipline Raises Economic Level

MILAN (Italy) May 25. (AP)—Premier Mussolini, addressing a crowd of 150,000 workers here today, said discipline of the laboring classes "firmly united around the symbol of the lictor's rods," is elevating Italy's economic situation above that of other nations.

The men were gathered with their families in the great courtyard of Sforza Castle, a structure built in the fifteenth century by Lodovico, Duke of Milan. The castle, boasting priceless frescoes by Leonardo Da Vinci, today was decked with the historic banners of Milan and nearby towns.

Cannon fired salvos in honor of the Duce's visit. A powerful radio outside the courtyard filled the large park with Nationalist and Fascist airs.

After his speech Mussolini decorated twenty aged workmen and work women with the "Star of Labor." All those honored have worked fifty years for the same concerns and two sixty years.

...ERAL PRISON ...S OUTLINED

...n Program Will be ...ished at Once

...ndent Bates Backed ...Hoover and Mitchell

...ruction Projects Call ...r $8,000,000 Outlay

...HINGTON, May 25. (Exclu...—Sanford Bates, superinten... of Federal prisons, today out... plans for putting into ef... the huge prison reorganization and expansion program just authorized by Congress.

As seen by Mr. Bates who, with the backing of Atty.-Gen. Mitchell, his superior, and President Hoover, who sponsored the program, the new legislation paves the way for significant improvements in the handling of Uncle Sam's army of prisoners, now numbering more than 25,000, and as indicated by the latest figures, growing at a rate of nearly 50 per cent annually.

The President already has signed three of the five major bills on the program, those authorizing construction of a hospital of criminal insane and the creation of a new prisons bureau and a new parole board. Tomorow, Mr. Bates said, he probably will sign the other two, one providing for two new Federal penitentiaries and another to diversify convict employment. A sixth bill to extend the probation system has been sent back to Congress for technical changes.

CALL FOR $8,000,000

Each of the bills will require appropriations, requests for which will be submitted to Congress at this session with a view to obtaining them in the second deficiency bill. This would expedite the program, in particular the construction projects which call for expenditures of around $8,000,000.

As direct relief for the overcrowding situation, according to Mr. Bates, the bill authorizing the new penitentiaries is the most important. It provides for an adult prison in the Northeastern States, probably New York, and a reformatory west of the Mississippi, costing in the neighborhood of $3,000,000 each.

WILL WASTE NO TIME

"We will waste no time in selecting sites and letting contracts for these buildings for we need them badly," Mr. Bates declared. "Atlanta now has 3800 men, Leavenworth 3900, and our three other institutions also are filled to capacity. No prison should have more than 1200 men. In Canada no prison has more than 700. With this limit we should have five new prisons instead of two."

Pending construction of the new penitentiaries, Mr. Bates explained, the department is launching an experiment new to the Federal prison system—the placing of surplus prisoners in outside camps. Instead of building special construction work camps as some of the States have done, arrangements have been made with the War Department for use of military camps where barracks have been largely unoccupied since the war.

Four hundred prisoners already are confined at Fort Bragg, N. C.; 100 at Camp Meade, Md.; 100 at Fort Riley, Kan.; 100 at Alderson, they will live in the barracks and a total of 820.

STONE TABLET REVEALS CLASSICS OF CONFUCIUS

PEIPING, May 25. (AP)—A stone tablet, carved deep with classics of Confucius more than 1700 years ago, has been placed in the National Library here. It was found by Chinese scientists who have been excavating the ancient Han capital near Loyang.

The tablet, one of the many outstanding discoveries made by the archeologists within a year, is 12x24 inches and contains about 130 characters. It records that the original manuscript, penned by the sage, became so worn from use that the Emperor Lin Ti in A. D. 175 commissioned a scholar to cut the words of wisdom in enduring stone.

The tablet has aided in clearing up several of the ideas of Confucius and is said to be the most important bit of his work brought to light in many years.

LIQUOR BATTLE, FATAL TO FOUR

Seven Spectators Wounded and One Killed

Police Chief Stops 'Affray With Deadly Bullet

Four Feudists Fight at 'Arkansas Carnival

LEPANTO (Ark.) May 25. (AP)—Four men who, officers say, were known to them as leaders of two bitterly hostile liquor-running factions, met at an outdoor carnival here today and used pistols to settle their feud. Before Police Chief Adam brought his own gun into play to end the battle two of the feudists and a third man were killed, another of the quartet died of his wounds tonight and eight bystanders were shot.

All of the wounded by-standers are expected to recover.

The dead were Ira (Blackie) Williams, 21 years of age; Walter Mobs, 38, Clyde Keller, 33, and George Laudermilk, 36, who was in the line of fire.

Keller died in a Jonesboro (Ark.) hospital tonight. Keller was shot by the Police Chief.

Hugh Luttrell, about 40, was arrested at his home near Marked Tree, Ark., today, by Sheriff Landers of Harrisburg as one of the participants.

YEAR-OLD FEUD

The story told by City Attorney Mosby of Lepanto and E. L. Shinaberry, town marshall at Marked Tree, home of all the dead, was an account of a feud spotted with fist fights and court appearances the last year.

The authorities say that about a year and a half ago Keller and Luttrell fought each other. Eleven days ago, Shinaberry said, Williams and Luttrell, who, the marshal said, led a faction opposing Keller and Mobs, attacked Keller and beat him badly. Shinaberry said each of the trio was fined $50.

Last night, both Mosby ang Shinaberry agreed, the quartet met suddenly and the shooting resulted. Mosby said Chief Adams shot Keller as the only means of ending the row and saving a crowd standing about the tent shows.

MANY WOUNDED

Laudermilk, it was said, was not involved in the feud. He had been hired to transport the carnival from Lepanto to Luxora, after it ended its engagement here last night.

Of those wounded, Jess Wright, farmer, about 40 years of age, suffered most seriously. A Negro, Curly Bradenton of Lepanto, was shot several times but is expected to live. Two women, Mrs. Athan Curtis and a Mrs. Carr also were wounded, as was Mrs. Scudder's husband.

Benny McArthur, 17, and Cletus Loftus, about 24, were wounded as they scattered with others of the panic-stricken crowd before Police Chief Adams shot Keller and stopped the fight. The name of the eighth victim was not learned here.

FISH PROBLEM PUZZLES COLLECTOR OF CUSTOMS

SAN FRANCISCO, May 25. (Exclusive)—W. B. Hamilton, collector of customs, is fishing for an answer to a fish problem. He has been ordered to collect a duty on all fish brought in by aliens from beyond the three-mile limit.

"But," asks Hamilton, "how am I going to learn what fish live inside and what fish live outside the three-mile limit? Most of the fishermen who bring them in are Japanese and Italians. I have learned to be able to talk in both Japanese and Italian but what language, I ask, can one use on a fish?"

Safety Deposit Boxes Raided in St. Louis Bank

ST. LOUIS, May 25. (AP)—Five burglars plundered 161 safety deposit boxes in the vault of the Grand National Bank today and escaped with approximately $14,000 of the bank's cash as well as stocks, bonds, jewelry and other valuables belonging to box holders.

Morris "Sappho" Barnholtz, 52 years of age, proprietor of the Grand View Hotel, whose box in an adjoining vault was singled out by the robbers, was arrested and held in $50,000 bonds pending further investigation.

Entrance was obtained either by a duplicate key or through a hole in a brick wall made to allow alterations.

REVOLUTIONARY WAR COMMISSION FOUND

SACRAMENTO, May 25. (AP)—A second lieutenant's commission issued in 1777 during the Revolutionary War has been discovered by W. H. Taylor, deputy County Recorder, among his effects.

Ohio Police Chief Refuses to Use Tear Bombs

Quits When Ordered by

Five Arrested Later After Barricading Selves

DOVER (O.) May 25. (AP)—Rather than obey an order from Mayor Stucky to use tear-gas bombs to stop a Sunday motion-picture show at the Rexley Theater here, Police Chief William E. Byers, 62 years of age, resigned his office today.

Frank H. Javens, appointed immediately by Stucky as Byers's successor, removed the hinges from a door to the theater's projection room where two operators had barricaded themselves. Arresting the operators he stopped the performance.

Five other employees of the theater also were arrested. William E. Burton, manager; Glen Hiller, usher; William E. Pender, projectionist, and Oscar Allman, a ticket-taker, were held in jail several hours.

They were arraigned tonight on charges of operating or participating in the operation of a picture show on Sunday. They pleaded not guilty and were held to the grand jury under $300 bond each.

Two years ago the grand jury heard similar cases and refused to indict.

CHICAGO, May 25. (Exclusive)—Men having rediscovered women's faces with the advent of the long skirt, the cost of keeping the feminine visage attractive is skyrocketing to the $2,000,000,000 mark for 1930.

In 1929, it is estimated, American women paid $1,825,000,000 for cosmetics and services in beauty parlors. At the present rate this mark will be exceeded by December of 1930.

The beauty experts say attention is being given the eyes, the dressing of the hair, and the complexion.

Do not use obsolete, archaic, dialect, Scottish or un-Anglicized foreign words, proper names of persons, peoples or places, or parts of words, such as prefixes, suffixes, contractions or abbreviations. Either the singular or plural form may be used, but do not use both forms of the same word. In any question, Webster's International Dictionary will be authority.

For convenience in checking, lists of words must be submitted in alphabetical order. Each word should be numbered consecutively, starting with 1. It will not be necessary to give the index numbers of the spaces in which the letters are found.

Contestant's name, address and telephone number should be written at the beginning of the list, together with the total number of words submitted. Use only one side of the paper.

This Contest is open to every person in California and Arizona except members of the families of employees of THE TIMES. Only one prize will be awarded to a household.

As explained in the LIST of PRIZES, there are two classes of prizes. It is not necessary to subscribe or send in a subscription to THE TIMES to compete for one of the Class B prizes. The Class A prizes are open to those who send in a 6 months' paid-in-advance subscription to the DAILY and SUNDAY TIMES. This may be either a renewal or a new subscription. There are 56 prizes in each class. The contestant in each class submitting the largest number of words properly formed from the letters in the Star according to these instructions will receive the first prize in that class; the one submitting the next largest number, the second prize, and so on. The right is reserved to increase the number and the value of the prizes at any time during the progress of this Contest.

In the event of ties, contestants tying will be required to form words in a similar manner from letters in a smaller diagram. Should any ties result from the second Contest a prize identical with that tied will be awarded to each tying contestant.

This Contest will close at 6 p.m., on Saturday, May 31, 1930. All lists of words must be delivered at the Contest Depository on the main floor of The Times Building before that time, or, if mailed, must bear postmark showing that they were mailed before that hour.

Start with any letter and take any number of adjacent or contiguous letters IN ANY DIRECTION: forward, backward, upward, downward, diagonally. (A letter is adjacent or contiguous to another when the spaces occupied touch each other on the sides or at the corners. M-16 is next to or adjacent to N-8, G-9, E-17, S-24, I-23; L-22, I-15, A-7, S-24, I-23 are adjacent or contiguous to O-5 and T-14, but is not adjacent or contiguous to A-7 and U-20 because separated from these letters by blank spaces.) Do not jump or skip any letters or spaces.

S-6, T-14, U-20, B-21 spells STUB;
L-22, I-15, M-16, I-23, T-31 spells LIMIT.

The same space may be used more than once in a word as L-15 in MILITIA—M-16, I-15, L-22, I-15, T-14, I-15, A-7—but do not double any letter. For example: L-48 cannot be doubled to form the word ROLL with R-47 and O-40, but L-29 and L-30, two adjacent and contiguous letters can be used with B-21 and A-28 to form BALL.

DRY ANALYSIS MADE OF POLL

McBride Issues Statement on Digest Ballots

Prohibition Leader Finds Little to Cheer Wet

Small Strength of Repeal States Pointed Out

WASHINGTON, May 25. (Exclusive)—F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of America, today issued the following statement on the Literary Digest wet-and-dry poll:

"The adventurer on political seas who set his compass by the Literary Digest poll is more than likely to get lost. The variation of this magnetic magazine poll from the true north pole of dry sentiment is too great for it to be reliable. Ever since private exploitation of public interest in prohibition in various forms of straw ballots raised false wet hopes, unwise political pilots have wrecked campaigns against the rock of dry sentiment. Pennsylvania has furnished the latest, though doubtless, not the last example of wet candidacies stranded where straw ballots showed sufficient depth of wet sentiment.

"There is much of interest and some value in the Digest poll as indicator of public sentiment, if proper allowances are made for its inevitable variation from the true situation. Among the things that must be taken into account in calculations to rectify the result are the distribution of ballots with a disproportionate number going to eastern voters, and to city voters. More than one-half of the straw ballots came from seven States. Almost one-third came from Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey and Massachusetts.

FORM HURT ACCURACY

"The form of the question also destroyed the accuracy of the poll. No one can possibly tell what was in the minds of those who voted for the middle question in favor of modification to permit beer and wine. Were they thinking of non-intoxicating beverages or of intoxicating beer and wine? If the latter, why did they not vote for repeal, since repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment is necessary to permit intoxicants. Scarcely less uncertain is the purpose of those who voted for repeal. Do they want the saloons back? If not, why not, and what do they want?

"The greatest and most certain variation between Digest figures and real sentiment is in the relative proportion of wet and dry strength registered in any straw-ballot publicity enterprise. No one believes that the wets predominate among the silent 15,000,000 who did not vote after the most extensive and intensive advertising ever given to a straw-ballot publicity campaign. The Digest editor says, 'But all our hard labor and lavish expenditure would have been of little use without the eager co-operation of those who marked and returned their ballots.'

WETS WERE EAGER

"The increasingly discontented wets were desperately eager to avail themselves of this opportunity to protest against prohibition. On the other hand, the drys, realizing the utter futility of straw-ballot demonstrations, were comparatively disinterested. If the result turned out to be wet they would lose nothing and if dry they would gain nothing because the wets would not consider themselves bound by any adverse majority. There will be many who prefer to accept the Digest poll at its face value and who will discredit any analysis questioning its accuracy. It is their undoubted privilege to do so and on the morning after any election with real ballots make up some other explanation for the presence of dry land where the Literary Digest indicated wet seas.

"But even if taken at its face value there is no cheer in the Digest poll for those who desire legalized intoxicants. The Eighteenth Amendment must be repealed before intoxicating liquor can be legalized.

"Fewer than 10 per cent of those who received ballots voted for repeal. Only five States had a majority for repeal. Of these Rhode Island had a repeal majority of only four votes. The combined repeal majority in the five repeal States was less than 5000. Two of the straw-ballot repeal States, Connecticut and Rhode Island, have never ratified the Eighteenth Amendment and New Jersey was the last to ratify. Nevada has only one Congressman and all five straw-ballot repeal States have a total of only twenty-nine votes in the House.

"Two interesting and significant things indicated by the special polls of the professions are that even with the wets more eagerly voting a decisive majority of the teachers favored enforcement and that the same preachers who were dry before prohibition are dry now. This indicates that teachers believe prohibition best for youth and that the preachers, America's most potential influence on prohibition opinion, will continue to uphold the Eighteenth Amendment."

WET LEADER WILL TAKE CONGRESS POLL

WASHINGTON, May 25. (AP)—Henry H. Curran, president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, today announced he had sent to each member of Congress a questionnaire seeking his position on prohibition.

Only one question was asked in the paper: "Do you favor the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States?"

Curran said each candidate for the Senate or House will be called upon to give his position on the question during this year's campaign, adding he felt sure "the time has come when the people of our country wish to know the attitude of their representatives in Congress toward this great question."

MARKETING SERVICE HEARING SCHEDULED

WASHINGTON, May 25. (Exclusive)—A hearing on Federal-State marketing service by radio will be held in Los Angeles July 17, at 10:30 a.m., according to a decision just reached by the Federal Radio Commission. It is probable that one of the commissioners will preside at this hearing. The original plan was to have this hearing in Washington but some time ago President Austin of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce wired the commission asking that this hearing, which is vitally important to local, State and Federal marketing of California special food products, be held there so that all interested would have a chance to be heard and the local conditions also inspected by the person assigned by the Federal Radio Commission.

FOKKER PLANS HUGE PROGRAM

Company Being Reorganized on Larger Scale

Stock to Be Increased to 5,000,000 Shares

Will Buy Other Plants and Build Flying Boats

NEW YORK, May 25. (AP)—The Fokker Aircraft Corporation of America is to be renamed, reorganized, refinanced and turned into a larger holding company, which will obtain various aviation properties.

Announcement of the expansion program was seen in aviation circles as marking the final acceptance of flying as an established transport medium by an important section of the automobile industry, inasmuch as 40 per cent of the stock of the Fokker company is owned by General Motors.

The new company will be called the General Aviation Corporation, and the common stock will be increased from 1,000,000 to 5,000,000 shares of no par value. Fokker planes will be built by a subsidiary company and another such company will manufacture Dornier flying boats. The new 4,000,000 shares of stock will be used to acquire additional properties for which negotiations are under way.

Possession of the American rights of the German Dornier company would make possible construction in this country of such gigantic planes as the Do-X, 150-passenger flying boat, which is scheduled to fly to America this summer.

JAIL POPULAR IN SAMOA

Prisoners Considered Lucky by Wistful Persons on Outside

APIA (Samoa) May 25. (AP) Natives who are jailed here are generally supposed to have the best lot on the island.

They daily have a ration of native grog and are otherwise so well treated that they frequently join the police in making raids.

SOUTH AMERICA DRAWN NEARER

Longest Air-Rail System in World Linked Up

Chicago and Buenos Aires Nine Days Apart

Hook-up Made With Lines in This Country

NEW YORK, May 25. (Exclusive) One can buy a through ticket in Chicago to Buenos Aires and arrive there in less than nine days travel time now that the longest air-rail combination in the world has been officially linked up. Travelers in the other major cities between the Atlantic and Pacific, due to collaboration with railroads that intersect the Maddux-Transcontinental Air Transport, are afforded the same opportunity for speedy visits to South America.

The inauguration of this new service was announced here yesterday by William P. MacCracken, Jr., former assistant Secretary of Commerce for Aeronautics and now chairman of the board of the New York, Rio and Buenos Aires Line, Inc., of New York. A direct tie-up between his line and Maddux-Transcontinental Air Transport which connects the two United States coasts, has been effected by Mr. MacCracken, and an arrangement made with the railroads that cross the transcontinental system whereby transportation tickets with direct connection with the flying ships will be available for purchase in the larger cities.

The record air-rail combination will have a hook-up in the United States connecting the T.A.T. air line of the Pennsylvania Railroad with the rail lines of the Seaboard Air Line running south to Miami, where passengers will board the large transport planes for flight to Buenos Aires by way of the West Indies and the East Coast of South America.

The flight from Miami to Buenos Aires is scheduled to take six and one-half days with several stops along the route. Direct passenger service between New York and American cities will be inaugurated the first week in June and tickets will be on sale in other cities immediately afterward, it was said.

Mr. MacCracken pointed out that co-ordinated schedules between domestic air lines, railroads and international air transport lines have brought the entire South American continent weeks nearer to the United States than ever before. San Francisco, Mr. MacCracken said, now is about eleven days from Buenos Aires, where it used to be thirty.

PRICE OF GLORY CAUSES CITY TO STAY OBSCURE

KINGSTON (N. Y.) May 25. (Exclusive)—Kingston has decided when glory costs $25,000 it is better to remain in municipal obscurity than strain the treasury. Mayor Dempsey announced today that the City Council has abandoned its ambition to have one of the new navy cruisers named after the city, on advice of former Judge Clearwater, locally renowned jurist, historian and wit. Cost of the traditional entertainments and gifts that go with launching would amount to $25,000.

An old crony of Mark Twain, Clearwater warned that if Kingston wanted a ship it would have to pay for it with entertainment for government officials, "their wives, daughters, and possibly their cousins and aunts."

NOREEN FORBES CAPTURES SWIM

Takes Rough-Water Race Around Pier

VENICE, May 25.—Breasting an exceptionally choppy sea with bold strokes, Noreen Forbes of Norco today won the first annual rough-water swim from shore to shore around the end of the Venice Pier and breakwater. She defeated a strong

ONE of the high spots of the annual I.C.4-A. games, to be held this year at Cambridge on the 30th and 31st inst., will be the two sprint races, featuring Frank Wykoff of Southern California, Eddie Tolan of Michigan, and Hec Dyer of Stanford. Wykoff was national champion in 1928, but this is his first year in eastern intercollegiate competition. Tolan likewise is competing in the I.C.4-A. for the first time, but he is an experienced campaigner and won the 1929 Western Conference 100-yard championship from George Simpson in 9.5s, and is the national champion in both sprints. Hec Dyer placed second in both sprints in the intercollegiates at Philadelphia last year as a sophomore, being beaten by Wildermuth of Georgetown in the 100 and Kent of Colgate in the 220. Neither Wildermuth nor Kent will compete this year, unless I am badly mistaken.

Now what are young Mr. Dyer's chances against the more famous Wykoff and Tolan? He has not run as fast as either had in the century, his best time being 9.6s., while Wykoff ran a 9.4s. not so long ago. But when Hec ran his 9.6s. he beat Wykoff a couple of yards, (one yard, so they say, was gained by a "rolling" start.) However, on the 17th inst., "Flying Frank" reversed this decision, defeating the Stanford sprinter at Palo Alto in 9.7s. But Dyer tied Wykoff in the 220 in the Stanford-U.S.C. meet on April 12 in 21.4s., and beat him at Palo Alto on the 17th inst., in 21.5s. I doubt if either of the Pacific Coast sprinters beats Tolan in the furlong at Cambridge on the 31st inst.

Hec Dyer should improve with another year of coaching under the Stanford wizard, Dink Templeton. Hec is the best sprinter Stanford has had since Morris Kirksey, one-time I.C.4-A. champion, and second in the 1920 Olympic Games 100-meter run. Dyer hasn't Kirksey's strength and power, but he has splendid form, is a marvelous starter, and thrives on competition. You can always count on him doing just a little bit better than he has any right to do.

TROJANS HAVE CLASSY MARKS

Best Records Show Locals Have Performed Well

University of Southern California's unbeaten track-and-field team, which is now on the way to Boston filled with ambitions for a championship in the I.C.4-A. meet that is to be held this week-end, is made up of twenty men who in western meets this season have made splendid marks in the twelve events in which they will compete in the East.

According to Willis O. Hunter, a member of the national rules committee, who is director of athletics at Southern California, the Trojans' best marks in the events in which they are entered in the I.C.4-A. are as follows:

100-yard dash—Frank Wykoff, 9 2-5s. (without starting blocks;) Milton Maurer, 9.9s.

440-yard dash—Art Woessner, 49s.; Vic Williams, 49s.

880-yard run—Bill McGeagh, 1m. 56s.

Mile run—Cliff Halstead, 4m. 23.9s.; Lee Hansen, 4m. 24.5s.

High hurdles—Jeddy Welsh, 14.9s.

Low hurdles—Bill Carls, 23 3-5s.; Ernest Payne, 24s. flat; Welsh, 24 1-5s.

Shot put—Bob Hall, 48ft. 10in.; Jim Stewart, 46ft.

Javelin throw—Capt. Jesse Mortensen, 202ft.; Jim Snider, 197ft.

High jump—Stewart, 6ft. 6 1-4in.; Bob Van Osdel, 6ft. 5 5-8in.

Broad jump—Howard Paul, 24ft. 3 1-2in.; Dick Barber, 24ft. 2 5-8in.

If enough of the Tropans are "hot" on the days of the meet to perform up to their best marks Hunter predicts a brilliant showing for his athletes.

MAXIE RENDERS DE MAVE AS COLD AS A MACKEREL

BY JIM POWERS

ENDICOTT (N. Y.) May 25. (Exclusive)—A crowd of 1200 watched Schmeling go through a desultory workout this afternoon. In the ring Max was weaving and bobbing and monotonously getting popped in the face by the purple-shirted Stan Pareda. It was a repetition of workouts we had been witnessing day after day.

George Neron came in and went out fresh and unmarked. A gawky, gangling farmer youth named Rocky Adams also came and went. No excitement, no knockdown.

Max was then working with Jack De Mave. Suddenly he banged a right to Jack's chin and the big fellow fell with an audible plop. Joe Jacobs's eyes opened like a pair of giant camera lenses. Max stared unbelievingly at the recumbent figure of his sparring partner. Then there was a great commotion. Jacobs and Max Mahon rushed into the ring and began to tug at the corpse-like De Mave. He had fallen flat on his face and was out cold. They picked De Mave up, led him around, gave him a swig out of the water

ANGELS ANNEX SOLON SERIES

Take Four Out of Six Games From Senators

Baecht and Freitas Meet in Twelve-Inning Tie

Seraphs Take Second Contest by 9-to-6 Count

SACRAMENTO, May 25.—Sacramento dropped its first series of the season today when Los Angeles took the afternoon game, 9 to 6, after the two teams had played a twelve-inning scoreless tie at Stockton in the morning. The Angels took four out of the six games which went to a decision.

The two games were diametrical opposites. In the morning encounter Ed Baecht for the Angels and Tony Freitas for the Solons met in one of those hurling duels witnessed only once or twice in a lifetime, while the second game was a free-hitting affair with seven pitchers showing their wares on the mound.

Freitas, unbeaten this season and out to win his seventh consecutive game, allowed only two hits for the first nine innings and four for the twelve, while Baecht was touched for eight blows and allowed seven walks, but was invincible in the pinches.

Carl Holling started for the Angels in the afternoon game against Fay Thomas, and while neither saw the contest through, Holling was in there long enough to bat in the runs which beat the Senators. It was a mighty two-base blow up against the center-field fence with the bases full, and accounted for three runs.

Thomas, the Senators' speedball king, began the game by striking out the side in the first inning without so much as a foul ball off his delivery, but the Angels got to him in the fourth inning for six

De Paolo Gets Place in Race

INDIANAPOLIS, May 25. (AP)—Peter De Paolo, 1925 and 1927 American racing champion, today qualified his car for the 500-mile automobile race to be run here next Friday. His average for the ten-mile run was 90.956 miles per hour. Tony Gulotta, Kansas City Italian, also qualified for the event today, his average speed being 100.033 miles per hour. Gulotta drove a four-cylinder car, while De Paolo's mount was powered by an eight-cylinder motor. A crowd which was announced as 32,000 visited the Indianapolis Motor Speedway to watch the qualifying trials. Twenty-one cars and drivers have qualified to date for the race.

JONES SEEKS TITLE AT HISTORIC ST. ANDREWS

Bobby Eager to Win Famous Crown; Yankee Host Beards John Bull at Birthplace of Golf

BY FRANK H. KING
Associated Press Staff Writer

ST. ANDREWS (Scotland) May 25. (AP)—Sunday is a rest day in St. Andrews although the world of golf, including America's victorious Walker Cup team, has come to the old gray town of Fifeshire for the British amateur championship starting tomorrow.

By law, not a single golf shot violates the Sabbath peacefulness of the game's ancient shrine. Six days a week the famous stretch of links land from Swilken Burn to Eden Firth is a golf course, but on the seventh it is only a promenade for townfolk and cosmopolitan visitors.

Hands that itch for golf on Sunday here must be taken to Glen Eagles, sixty miles into the highlands, and there most of the Americans, including Bobby Jones, motored today. Only a few of them, however, played.

Laws can't silence golf gossip, and on the eve of what is likely to be a most spectacular tournament, the talk of the town revolves about Bobby Jones and his chances of capturing the only major golf title which has evaded his magic clubs, not because Jones is the only Amer-

BOESEKE FOUR POLO WINNER

Eric Pedley's Team Beaten by White Horsemen

Elmer Boeseke's white - shirted riders galloped to a 13-to-11 victory over Eric Pedley's Uplifters' four yesterday afternoon at the Rustic Canyon ranch field. The long-hitting, long-legged Boeseke played the star role in leading his team to triumph. Elmer scored five of the goals registered by the White, and he was responsible for most of the others. T. Lyell Puckett played a nice game at No. 1, always being in the right spot to receive Boeseke's long drives up the field. He tallied four times for the winning team.

The game was a tight one up to the sixth chukker, with Pedley and Boeseke maneuvering their teams to good advantage. In the sixth, however, Boeseke's

BEN DEY BOWS TO FOE

Pasadena Tennis Player Gives Jim Ware Terrific Battle in Three-Set Match

Ben Dey, Pasadena youngster who has been improving rapidly in the past year, furnished the fireworks in the second day of play in the annual Southern California junior tennis tournament at the Midwick Country Club yesterday. Although he lost to Jimmy Ware, seeded No. 2 in the 15 and under division, Dey gave the fans the best match of the day.

Ware won, 8-10, 7-5, 6-4, in a terrific match. Ware led 5-0 in the third set, before Dey rallied to take four straight games. In the tenth game, Ware was at game point three times before he finally scored a placement for the deciding point.

Helen Marlowe, seeded No. 2 in the junior girls' singles, dropped the first set of her match with Gracyn Wheeler, but came back to win impressively, 4-6, 6-1, 6-0. The Trojan co-ed was erratic in the first set, but in the second and third played unbeatable tennis.

Little Nathan Bundy turned in two well-earned victories, defeating Buford, 6-4, 4-6, 6-4, and then coming back to defeat Howard McDabbitt, 8-6, 5-7, 6-0.

Boyd Georgi also won two matches, defeating Russell Millman, 6-4, 6-1, and Howard Hughes, 6-1, 6-2. Jack Craemer defeated Ned Russell rather handily, 6-3, 6-0.

The quarter-final rounds in both the junior boys and junior girls singles with the following matches in prospect: Bobbitt vs. Dodson; Billy Doeg vs. Georgi; McDavitt vs. Haight; Patterson vs. Steiner; Carolyn Babcock will face Corna Moulton, Dorothy Workman plays Ellen Lee, Miss Marlowe plays Virginia Andrews, and Ruby Bishop faces Marion Wood. Play will continue next Friday, according to Walter Wesbrook, with the finals scheduled for Sunday. Summary:

McDavitt defeated Law, 6-2, 6-3; Haight defeated Evernoll by default; Patterson defeated Gilmore, 6-1, 6-2; Clark defeated Froelich, 0-6, 9-7, 6-3.

Four Tie for Mixed Foursome Trophies in Catalina Women's Invitation Tourn

HIGH HANDICAP PLAYERS STAGE TOURNEY TODAY

Brilliant Field Competes Tomorrow in Final Event; Mrs. Pressler May Not be Able to Play

BY EDWARD LAWRENCE

Every available male between the age of 8 and 80 capable of swinging a golf club was drafted yesterday to compete in the mixed foursome event which featured the opening of Catalina's second annual women's invitation tournament.

When all available noses were counted there were exactly forty-five teams, and the remaining fifty-odd women golfers without partners paired up for a special Scotch four-some tournament.

The mixed foursome resulted in a tie all around with Mrs. Mark Steele and Babe Julian of the San Gabriel Country Club tying Mrs. Cliff Raysor of Fox Hills and Joe Clark for low gross with a well-played 70. Mrs. Raysor and Clark in turn tied with Mrs. C. W. Fellows and Ward Listenwalter of the California Country Club for low net with scores of 63.

Mrs. Leona Pressler and Weller Noble of San Gabriel, the favorites, did not fair so well over the tricky Catalina course, finishing well down the list with 78-1—77. Mrs. Pressler, unfortunately, was forced to return to Hollywood last night, and is not sure that she will be able to play in the eighteen-hole medal-play competition tomorrow. It is hoped that the Southern California champion will find it possible to play.

Mrs. Gregg Lifur of Riviera and Mrs. Hunter Robbins of Flintridge trimmed to perfection to win the Scotch-foursome event with a medal of 78. Low net went to Mrs. E. S. Browne of the Los Angeles Country Club and Mrs. C. B. Carson, 80-14—66.

High-handicap players with handicaps from seventeen and and up will have their inning today as the low-handicap stars await their turn tomorrow. There will be two classes in the high-handicap group and two classes in the low-handicap group, making four classes in all.

The tournament will reach its climax tomorrow when the leading lights of Southern California's women champions battle over eighteen holes. The successor to Mrs. Kathleen Wright Lenihan, last year's winner, is expected to come from the select group that includes Mrs. Lifur, Mrs. Green, Miss Helen Lawson, Mrs. Steele, Miss Beatrice Gottlieb, Mrs. Raysor, Mrs. Browne, Mrs. C. W. Fellows and Mrs. Pressler, if she is able to play.

One Should Win

THE British amateur golf championship starts today at St. Andrews. There is probably no one competitor now in the spot light of the game who carries as much nation-wide interest as Bobby Jones will carry all this week, until he is beaten or until he finally wins this prize for the first time in his career.

In the last eight years Jones has won the United States amateur crown four times. He has won the United States open test three times and he has won the British open twice. He has run 1-2 in nine of his last eleven starts in the two big opens—the United States and the British, one of the most remarkable performances in the history of golf.

But with all this he has yet to win the British amateur, and this eighteen-hole dog fight is naturally the peak of his golf ambition. Alan Graham stopped him at Hoylake in 1921 and Andrew Jamieson ousted him at Muirfield in '926. It so happens that he could start either of these golfers four up in eighteen holes at almost any time, but they caught him when they were right and he was wrong and that may happen at almost any time in an all-week eighteen-hole struggle where one has to win two matches a day to the final round.

In this next championship it is better than even money that some American will win, even if Jones is beaten.

Von Elm, Voigt, Moe, Willing, Mackenzie, Ouimet and Johnston are all capable of winning the title and they have already proved a wide margin of superiority over the pick of the British amateurs. Yet it must be remembered that only two American golfers have won this title in twenty-six years and such stars as Chick Evans, Jerry Travers, Francis Ouimet, Bob Gardner and others made frequent assaults.

Where the Rub Comes

In an eighteen-hole match there is a big element of luck in this respect—any favored entry may catch a rival who is burning hot for eighteen holes, while another may win with an 80. For example, in one match Chick Evans was out in 36 against MacFarlane and was 5 down to a 31.

Last year Cyril Tolley won the title and as I recall the scoring he was never forced to break an 80 to win. Bobby Jones may shoot a 73 and lose, where some other starter may turn in an 81 and win.

There are any number of good, stout-hearted players on the British side who are capable of spectacular rounds. None of these would have a chance against Bobby Jones at thirty-six holes or in a seventy-two-hole medal test, but several of them might bother him a lot at eighteen holes, just as several golfers have bothered or beaten him before over the shorter route.

It is tremendously difficult for one to keep keyed up twice a day through the better part of a week. A letdown must come at some time and it is a matter of luck where or when it comes. It may be against some one on his game that round or against some one who is also tired or off.

It is mental weariness that beats most of them down, just as it wrecked Glenna Collett after three hard matches in a row.

Football teams that play two hard games in a row frequently break up and clump away in the next start, even with a week's rest. The mental or nerve strain in a close, hard-fought golf match is terrific, since there isn't action enough to relieve tension. And tension is a poison that can spread through the entire system in a hurry.

Obstacles to Face

In addition to the nerve strain of facing one opponent after the other, two a day, there is also the obstacle of great crowds lining up the rims of the fairways and slowing down the play. St. Andrews is the world's golfing center or capital and the crowds here will be the most enormous ever known.

These obstacles will catch most of the field, but they strike harder at those with a chance to win. With Bobby Jones it will be largely a question as to whether he can keep a grip upon his mental state all week. He knows that the burden is on him, that he is expected to win. He knows that he can't afford to take a single match for granted as some unknown might leap into a winning stride as Jamieson did at Muirfield and then pull away.

John Ball won eight of these championships, but old John never seemed to give a rap whether he won or lost. And that makes golf easy. Bobby Jones can never get himself into that mental state of half-indifference. Old Man Psychology is riding his shoulders and this is no easy load to carry. He says this time that he is going to hammer at par for the first few holes and then size up the situation. But he isn't always a fast starter, even in his most brilliant rounds, an this may prove costly over the shorter hike.

Any way you take it this will be one of golf's greatest weeks. It may mean that Bobby Jones will finish with every important title in the game that he can win, or it may mean that the British amateur remains forever barred for it will be a long time before he goes over again. It is now or never with the Georgian as far as this classic is concerned, and that also won't help him a lot.

REA COPS GOLF HONORS

SAN JOSE, May 25. (AP)—Jim Rea, 20-year-old San Jose Country Club champion, today won the fourth annual Santa Clara county golf championship, beating Ward Dwight, Jr., by one stroke, in a five-hole play-off after tying for first place with cards of 223 for fifty-four holes. Rea carded rounds of 73, 76 and 74. Dwight had 78, 71 and 74.

LEWIS WANTS TITLE BOUT

Strangler Questions Nick Lutze's Right to Championship Shot With Sonnenberg

Another has questioned Nick Lutze's right to a title match here early in July with Champion Gus Sonnenberg, world's mat king, Promoter Lou Daro announced yesterday.

He is Ed (Strangler) Lewis, former champion. He believes he is more entitled to the championship match than either Lutze, who will clash with Don George in a finish wrestling bout at the Olympic Wednesday night, or Everett Marshall, the airplane spin exponent.

Marshall wired the promoter a few days ago that he should get the first shot at the champion here as the result of the ending of their first battle, and, now that the State Athletic Commission has ruled against the "butt."

Lewis bases his title match claims on the fact that Marshall beat him here by using the rabbit punch, and that he recently defeated Sonnenberg in Kansas City with a right swing to the jaw, but was disqualified. The headlock artist swung on the champion's chin when the latter attempted to foul Lewis as he had Marshall, according to reports received here.

With Lutze already signed to meet the champion and with George standing a chance of getting the big bout if he beats the Venice lifeguard, Daro may be forced to hold an elimination tournament here to decide who will get the championship battle. At the present time, however, Lutze has the inside track and the only possibility of him not getting the match will be a defeat by George Wednesday night, and there are many in this section who believe he can take the backward body slam exponent into camp.

George looked better than Lutze ever has here in a fast workout before a big crowd on the sand at Long Beach yesterday, according to several close followers of the mat sport. These claim George will prove a greater sensation than Marshall has and they look for him to beat Lutze as quickly and as decisively as he did both Dan Koloff and Stanley Stasiak. The match is expected to be one of the most cleanly contested matches seen at the Olympic.

Lee Wycoff, a former amateur of great ability, will clash with Buck Olsen, a tough Salt Lake City mat star, in the special event, while Tommy Thompson of Long Beach will tangle with Al Baffert of Hollywood in the opener.

Vines Victor in Net Play

The Bakersfield Tennis Club opened their battery of new club courts yesterday, with exhibition matches featuring a number of Southern California's leading tennis players, to the complete satisfaction of the several hundred Bakersfield net enthusiasts, present.

Ellsworth Vines, Southern California net king, defeated Lester Stoefen, after a long battle of serves, at 10-8, and then paired with Stoefen against Jack Tidball and Jerry Bartosh, the doubles match going to eight games-all, when called. The gallery was greatly impressed by the sensational play of the Los Angeles players.

Mrs. Bartosh and Jack Tidball took an 8-6 victory over Gladys Patz and Jerry Bartosh, for mixed doubles honors, and Gladys Patz annexed a 6-4 set win over Esther Curtis Bartosh. Mayor Martin of Bakersfield, who was an interested spectator during the games, thanked the visitors for their efforts.

Vikings Win Hersholt Cup

Approximately 4000 people attended the annual Viking Field Day which was held yesterday on the Loyola College field. The feature of the day was the presentation of the Jean Hersholt Challenge cup to the winner of the soccer tournament. After a close game, the Viking Club defeated the Swedish-American team, 5 to 4, and received the cup from the donor.

Kicking a soccer ball for distance was another of the contests. Byrum of the Viking Club walked off with first honors, giving the ball a 183-foot ride. Blick of the Vikings and Bergquist of the Swedish-American Club took second and third honors with distances of 169ft. and 166ft., respectively.

Prizes were awarded at the end of the day's festivities by five movie actresses from the R.-K.-O. studio. Roberta Gale, Rita Leroy, Roberta Robinson, Betty Recklow and Lita Chevret presented the medals to the winners of the various events.

ANGELS ANNEX SOLON SERIES

runs, with the aid of a three-base error by Meryl Hoag in center field.

All week the Angels had been telling Thomas he might be good but not good enough to beat them, and the Angels were right. Dittmar drew a walk to open the big fourth inning, and Jacobs singled and Haney drew a base on balls to fill the bags. Statz singled over one run and, after Warren had fouled out, Holling doubled to drive in three tallies. Sigafoos singled to center, scoring Holling, and Hoag played the ball into a circuit trip for Sigafoos.

Ray Keating hurled to three batters in the sixth inning, with the result that Statz doubled, Warren singled and Holling doubled again to chase over run number seven, and the one which proved to be the winning marker.

Holling was hit for two runs in the fifth and when he filled up the bases in the sixth inning, he was removed for Barfoot. Barfoot was forced to leave the game in the seventh inning with a badly split finger, after fielding a drive by Laurie Vinci, and Art Delaney finished up the game.

Three runs scored off Delaney in the ninth, but they did not mean anything in the final result. Score:

Have Easy Time Capturing Opening Matches

Hymer Scores Surprise in Beating Garrett

Upsets were few in the opening rounds of the fifth annual motion-picture tennis tournament which opened yesterday on the courts of the Los Angeles Tennis Club. In the singles all of the favorites pounded their way to victories with ease. Johnny Risso and Theodore Von Eltz supplied the impressive gallery of motion-picture stars and celebrities with an especially brilliant brand of tennis, winning over Fred Harter and Keith Weeks by the respective scores of 6-1, 6-4 and 6-0, 6-0. Both of these players are in great form and are favorites to come through for the finals.

A mild upset occurred when Warren Hymer took O. H. P. Garrett, the sensational ex-Australian player, into camp at 6-4, 3-6, 6-1.

lean capable of winning, but because, to Scots, the Atlantan is the world's greatest exponent of their national pastime. Their interest in his forthcoming matches will be almost as intense as in his own town and country.

In medal play or thirty-six-hole matches, little doubt would exist that Jones would be the possessor of the title by Saturday night, but British tradition is that eighteen-hole matches and a thirty-six-hole final best express the spirit of golf and by that test Jones will win or lose. His best next week is to win seven eighteen-hole matches in four days—he has no match Tuesday—then play the thirty-six-hole finals Saturday.

After Jones, the Americans conceded the best chance of reaching the finals are Harrison R. (Jimmy) Johnston, American amateur champion; George Von Elm, former American amateur title-holder, and George Voigt of New York, who has been playing exceedingly fine golf on the current American invasion. All the other Walker Cup players, Dr. O. F. Willing, Don Moe, Roland Mackenzie and Francis Ouimet, are entered.

All told, twenty-four entrants from the United States are in the big field, possibly the most formidable American representation in the history of the event. England's hopes will rest principally on Cyril J. H. Tolley, the defending champion, and other members of the British Walker Cup team, including Rex Hartley, the youngster, T. A. Torrance, Roger Wethered and others.

The championship is a match-play test from start to finish.

Dr. Willing, Moe and Von Elm will be idle tomorrow, playing their first matches Tuesday.

ROBINS WIN

BROOKLYN, May 25. (AP)—An error by Hughey Critz permitted the Robins to win a 4-to-3 decision over the New York Giants here today after Adolfo Luque, veteran Cuban pitcher, held the men of McGraw to four hits in ten innings.

Clarence Mitchell, who had replaced Genewich on the mound for New York, set the stage for the winning rally when he permitted Frederick and Gilbert to lead off with singles. Herman sacrificed and Flowers rapped sharply to Critz, who, with a play at the plate in prospect, fumbled.

An error by Flowers in the eighth, coupled with three of the Giant hits, permitted the Giants to score three runs and carried the game into overtime. The score:

BUCS DIVIDE

CINCINNATI (O.) May 25. (AP)—After losing ten straight games, the Reds came out of their slump here today by winning the second contest of a double bill from the Pirates, by a count of 4 to 3. Pittsburgh won the first encounter, which went ten innings, 6 to 5.

Spencer, who went to the hill for the Pirates after the Reds had knotted the count in the first game by scoring twice in the ninth off Kremer, tripled and scored the winning tally on Grantham's sacrifice. Larry Benton, former Giant hurler, pitching his first game for the Reds, turned in a fair exhibition in the first game, but was taken out in the ninth for a pinch hitter. Red Lucas, who pitched the nightcap, scored the winning run in the ninth on Meusel's single. Lucas led off with a single and took second on Callaghan's sacrifice. Score:

BOXERS AND WRESTLERS ON VETERANS' PROGRAM TONIGHT

A big benefit program, in which boxers, wrestlers and screen and stage stars will participate, will be held at the Hollywood American Legion Stadium tonight under the auspices of the Second Division Association of the A.E.F. to raise funds for the entertainment of the survivors of this Chateau Thierry outfit.

Tom Gallery, Hollywood matchmaker, who has been lining up the boxing program for this show, announced that both Dave Shade and Ace Hudkins, who top the fight program at the Olympic tomorrow night, would be on tonight's bill. Shade announced he would box in tne of the exhibitions. Three other boxing exhibitions have also been scheduled. They will feature Joe Bitto, Homer Sheridan and Frankie Campbell. The latter is scheduled to make his first start next week since winning over Les Kennedy.

Benny Rubin, comedian, will referee these matches, while Al Jolson, a regular fight fan, will officiate as timekeeper. Dan Tobey will announce, as usual, according to Eddie Schafer, in charge of the show.

"Carnation" Lou Daro lined up two wrestling bouts for this program. Nick Lutze, the popular Venice lifeguard, who will clash with Don Geork, in the feature event of his mat card at the Olympic Wednesday night, will appear in a wrestling exhibition.

resulted. Bassler knocked Carlyle in with a single to center and then Gazella smote a strong double to right, scoring Rumler and Bassler.

Singles by Orwoll, Williams and Summa gave the Ducks their final run in the seventh, while a home run over the right-field screen by Brannon accounted for Hollywood's closing marker in the same frame.

Augie Johns and Roy Ortman, a couple of southpaws, hooked up in the first tilt and Augustus won, although he had to be relieved by Wetzel in the eighth frame.

SEE-SAW TILT

It was a see-saw tilt and wasn't decided until the seventh, when Hillis booted Rumler's roller, allowing Brannon to score from third with the winning run. There were two out at the time.

Portland scored in the first when, with two away, Hillis doubled to right and came home when Brannon lost Williams's pop fly in the sun.

The Stars went into the lead in their half of the inning. Mike Gazella opened with a triple to right and scored on a passed ball. Catina walked, but Brannon was retired by Johnson at center field. Catina went to third when Green singled to right. He scored a moment later while Hillis was throwing out Severeid.

The lead, however, was only a temporary one, for the Ducks collected two runs in the second frame. Johnson walked and went to third on Summa's single to right, Summa taking second on the throw-in. Johns uncorked a wild pitch, Johnson scoring and Summa going to third. Walters boosted a sacrifice fly to Green, putting Summa over the pan. Johns got rid of Palmisano and Ortman.

STARS TIE IT UP

Hollywood tied it up in the third. With two out Brannon singled to right. Green walked. Severeid then scored Brannon with a single to left, the blow also sending Green to third. Hillis stopped Heath's terrific line drive to retire the side.

Vitt's employees added another in the fourth. Rumler boosted one which hit on top of the left-field wall and bounced back into the waiting hands of Williams for a double. Carlyle singled to right and when Summa played the ball badly, Rumler scored.

The Stars got two more hits in the fourth but were unable to tally any more than one run.

Two more runs put Portland back into the lead in the fifth.

Palmisano singled to right to open the inning. Ortman in attempting to sacrifice popped to Gazella. Cronin singled to center. Carlyle rifled the throw-in to Gazella in an effort to cut Palmisano down at third. Seeing that Palmisano was going to beat the throw, Gazella tossed the ball to Heath with the expectation of catching Cronin between first and second. Palmisano scored and Cronin went to third when Heath's throw to second hit Cronin in the back and bounded out into the field. Cronin scored on Orwoll's sacrifice fly to Green.

Hollywood tied it up in their half of the inning. Summa found Severeid's line drive too hot to handle and dropped the ball to give Hank a double. Heath knocked Severeid home with a single to right.

WINNING RUN

Hollywood shoved over the winning run in the seventh. Brannon singled to center and was sacrificed to second by Green. While Cronin was throwing out Severeid, Brannon went to third. Heath walked, and then Hillis booted Rumler's easy roller allowing Brannon to score with what proved to be the winning run.

Vitt decided to take no further chances with Johns, who had been wobbly all afternoon and lifted him in the eighth after Williams had singled past Gazella, who played the ball much after the fashion of a piece of statuary. Wetzel came to the rescue and retired French. Summa and Walters in order. Score:

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

The pulling of this Tarmangani-scented thing over his head, Talgat knew was not the method of brotherly searching for fleas; therefore she must be being attacked! Chulk was attacking him! With a snarl he was at the other's throat. Tarzan leaped upon the two, and swaying and toppling upon their insecure perch the three great beasts tussled and snapped at each other, until the ape-man finally succeeded in separating the enraged anthropoids.

Accustomed to frequent arguments in which more hair than blood is wasted, the apes speedily forgot such trivial encounters, and presently Chulk and Taglat were again squatting near each other in peaceful repose. After darkness, Tarzan quitted the tree and led the apes to the palisade. This he quickly climbed, unslung his spear and lowered it to the waiting Chulk, who seized it and climbed quickly up the shaft to Tarzan's side.

In like manner Taglat was hoisted, and a moment later the three dropped silently within the inclosure. Their sensitive nostrils led them to the hut where Jane Clayton was a prisoner. To Chulk it meant nothing—the "she" was for Tarzan. All Chulk wanted was to bury his snout in the food Tarzan had told him was to be his reward. But Taglat's eyes craftily narrowed. Here was the near fulfillment of his carefully nursed plan. He licked his chops and made soft noises with his lips.

Chulk and Taglat, their hairy faces pressed close to that of the patrician, sniffed with him. Satisfied that the "she" was where he had hoped to find her, Tarzan led his apes toward the tent of Achmet Zek. A passing Arab saw them, but in the darkness the white burnooses hid the hairy limbs of the apes and the giant ape-man. Undiscovered they made their way. Within the tent, Achmet Zek conversed with several of his lieutenants. Without Tarzan listened.

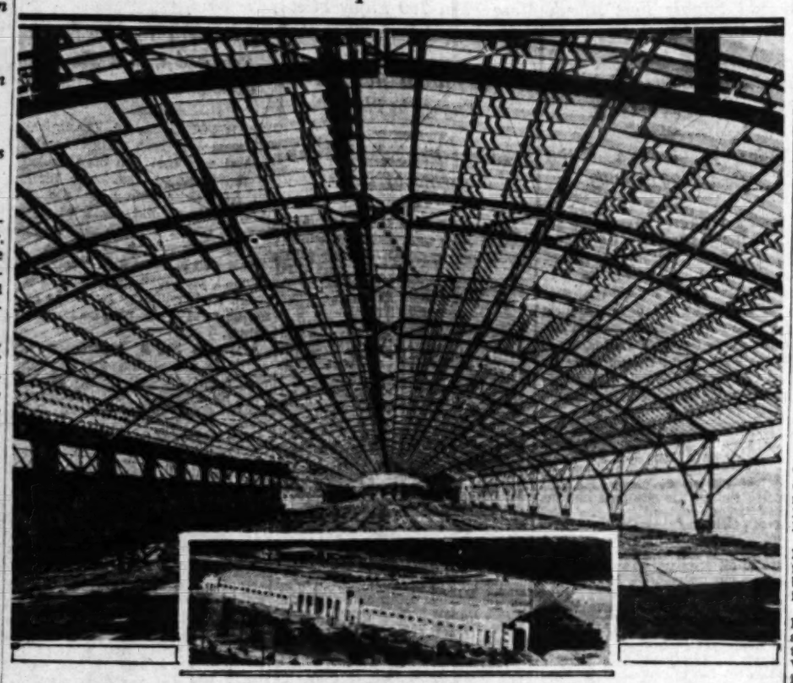
COUNTY FAIR HOME LARGEST OF KIND

Pomona Structure Unique in Size and Construction



Permanent Exhibition Hall Completed

Large picture shows interior, and insert, outside of structure. Vast steel-and-concrete hall makes Pomona site of largest and most impressive structure of its kind in world, designed and built without the guidance of precedent. There is not a roof-supporting column throughout its extensive interior, a hinged-arch method having been utilized to uphold the roof, 800 feet long by 140 feet wide. The hall has a seating capacity of 16,000 persons.

BY CHARLES C. COHAN

POMONA, May 25.—With the completion of the new permanent exhibit building constructed for the Los Angeles County Fair Association, Pomona is the site of what is accounted the largest and most impressive structure of the kind in the world. Such assertion covers a lot of territory but so does this building, and it has construction features that make it outstandingly unique among the foremost exposition structures. A phase of its uniqueness is that it was designed and built without the guidance of precedent.

This jumbo building is of steel and concrete, 800 feet long, 140 feet wide, with a height of fifty-five feet to the center of its curved roof, and represents a construction cost of about $250,000. There is not a roof-supporting column throughout its extensive interior, a hinged-arch method having been utilized to hold up its widespread covering.

LARGE CAPACITY

This arrangement gives it a seating capacity of 16,000 persons and enables the display of exhibits to the best possible advantage. At one end is a large stage with a proscenium arch 125 feet wide. There are ample dressing rooms and other accessories. Equipment includes a large balcony for musicians.

County Architect Karl W. Muck, who designed the building, developed its style of architecture along modernistic lines involving many original ideas. It was constructed under the supervision of Sidney T. Graves, chairman of the building committee of the Board of County Supervisors and now also chairman of the board. The contracting firm of Hunter & Lippman, Inc., Los Angeles, erected it.

INDICATES SUCCESS

These structural details enable a fairly good visualization of the building's size, but it requires actual inspection of it to give an adequate idea of how huge it really is or of its pleasing appearance, inside and out. The floor space of many a large building is dwarfed in comparison with its area. It easily could cover a large athletic field meet. If it were somewhat higher, it could contain the Graf Zeppelin and with plenty of room to spare.

It especially indicates the success attained by the Los Angeles County Fair, which is in the front rank of permanent expositions.

The new building will be used for the first time during the fair next fall.

TOOTHSOME SESSION LOOMS

Southern California Dental Association to Hold Its Thirty-second Annual Convention at Riverside

RIVERSIDE, May 25.—What to do to help the teeth along will be one of the things that people will be told at the thirty-third annual convention of the Southern California State Dental Association to be held here June 2, 3 and 4. Teeth, it seems, need a lot of assistance if they are to muddle through to a ripe old age. How this can be given, and why it is needed, is a problem the research department of the American Dental Association has been trying to solve. For a year a nation-wide survey has been in progress, and results of the survey will be reported and discussed at the convention.

This information was given today by Dr. Charles O. McBean, president of the Southern California Association, who said 1000 or more dentists and professors of dentistry will be in attendance at the sessions.

"We plan to give a message to the public that will have real news value," Dr. McBean declared. "The question of having good teeth is one that most persons can solve for themselves if they know what to do.

"Teeth need to be 'fed.' They require certain food elements, and they need other elements to absorb, or fixate, these elements. One of the elements the teeth need is calcium. This is supplied by certain vegetables, such as string beans, carrots, turnips and cauliflower.

"Fixation of the calcium," he continued, is brought about by absorbing certain vitamins, such as are found largely in orange juice, tomatoes and cod liver oil. It is an interesting study and the reports that will be made at the sessions here will embody the very latest findings."

Several noted dentists from other States will be among those who address the convention, Dr. McBean said.

Gavit Will on File in Probate Court Archives

SANTA BARBARA, May 25.—The will of E. Palmer Gavit, who died in his home Tuesday night, leaving the principal portion of his estate to his widow and distributing annuities to several relatives, has been filed for probate here.

Nelle Towner, attorney and a cousin of the deceased, was given an outright bequest of $35,000. He is made an executor of the will with Francis Price of the law firm of Heaney, Price & Postel.

Annuities were left to Edward J. Maines and Margaret Welon, two friends of Albany, N. Y., and Rebecca Palmer Burton, an aunt living in New York City.

Helen Gavit Swan, his sister, was left $500 a month. Annuities of $250 a month were left to each of his three brothers, John, Joseph, and Walter Gavit, and to his brother-in-law, David B. Turner.

The remainder of the estate is left to his widow, Marie Turner Gavit. The will was dated April 16, shortly after he was taken ill. It is understood that the great number of charities supported by Mr. and Mrs. Gavit, including some important medical research foundations, are provided for by agreements and understandings made between Mr. and Mrs. Gavit and their daughter, Mrs. Charles H. Jackson, Jr., of Montecito.

Students Dine on Things They Raised or Made

ONTARIO, May 25.—When Chaffey Junior Fair closed, 300 students of the school, and workers in the fair, sat down to a banquet that was somewhat out of the ordinary. Everything on the menu was either raised or manufactured by the diners.

The piece de resistance was a baked pig, brought to the table as in the days of yore, with a bright red apple in its mouth. The pig was raised from infancy by the boys of the agriculture department of the school. He was slain just for the banquet, dressed and prepared by the boys themeselves. Potatoes and everything else on the menu, came from gardens planted by the boys and girls, and the ice cream was made from real cream taken from Chaffey cows, and churned by the boys.

POWER COMPANY IN ABANDONMENT MOVE

REDLANDS, May 25. — The Southern Sierras Power Company does not intend to proceed with the development of power in the Mill Creek Canyon district, according to an application made to the Federal Power Commission in Washington. The company asks permission to abandon this plan and also the one for the development of power on Snow Creek in Riverside county. In the event the Federal Power Commission grants the Southern Sierras Power Company permission to surrender the licenses, the surrender will become effective December 31, next, according to the letter. While the Federal Commission failed to enumerate the reasons submitted by the Southern Sierras for abandonment of the two power developments, it was indicated that the cost of developing the electrical energy at the two locations was excessive in comparison to the cost at other plants.

WATER RESERVOIR TO GET NEW ROOF

SAN FERNANDO, May 25.—Harry E. Waite, newly appointed superintendent of the local water department, has recommended to the City Council that a galvanized iron roof to cost about $4000 be erected over the city water reservoir at Eighth street and Hubbard avenue. Bids on the work will be asked for at once by the Council which has approved the recommendation.

SMITH DECIDES TO STAY

Wallace Smith, novelist, celebrated his first year in Hollywood yesterday by dedicating new tennis courts which he has constructed at his home. He presided at a tournament participated in by a score of writers and actors. Smith came to Hollywood to stay two months and now has decided to make it his permanent home.

DIRECTOR NAMED FOR LAKE PAGEANT

Russell Stimmel

SAN BERNARDINO, May 25.—Direction of "The Legend of the Lake," Lake Arrowhead's first annual pageant play, to be staged at the mountain resort on June 14 and 15, will be in the hands of Russell Stimmel, former associate of the late Garnet Holme, wizard of California pageantry. Stimmel directed the 1929 Desert Play at Palm Springs.

The director also is widely known for his association with Sid Grauman and other impresarios of the indoor stage as well as his activities in outdoor drama throughout the State. He will present a cast of approximately 100 in "The Legend of the Lake," which is an original drama based on Indian folk tales of the region by Gertrude Wheat and Louise Arnold of Redlands.

With a canyon cutting the lake shore selected as an ideal open-air theater for the play, Stimmel is busily engaged in elaborate preparations for the two-day presentation, which will present entirely original costumes and unusual ceremonial and Terpsichorean specialties.

Stimmel is being assisted in arrangements for the production by a general committee at Lake Arrowhead which includes Lou Williams, president of the Lake Arrowhead Chamber of Commerce; Archer Johnstone, Chief of Police; Frank Manning, E. R. Purdy, James Neilson and L. T. Caldwell.

Baby Lima Men in Valley Finish Large Planting

RESEDA, May 25.—Virtually all baby lima beans have been planted in this section of San Fernando Valley and are coming along well. In some cases the earliest planted fields have had to be replanted because of the recent cool weather which gave the sprouting seeds a setback. Before the entire planting season is over in the valley area between 10,000 and 12,000 acres will have been planted, which is virtually about the same amount as was planted last year.

To get a good "stand" newly planted baby lima beans must have warm weather to get their first good start. It is hoped now by growers that the next few weeks will be free of extra chilly mornings and nights. Present conditions are that this year's bean crop in the valley will be as profitable as last season, according to John H. Walters, manager of the bean growers' association in the valley.

Grain hay is being harvested and in many fields the crop is very heavy. Many thousands of tons of alfalfa are lying afield waiting to be baled. Potato and onion crops are in the pink of condition, it is stated, and harvesting will begin within a few days. According to apricot orchardists, the apricot crop this year is to be a large one in the valley and the fruit will grade high quality.

Handless War Veteran Wins Postmastership

SAN DIEGO, May 25. (AP)—A prolonged battle between governmental red tape and the right of a was veteran to hold office despite partial disability because of wounds suffered in France, ended here today, when Charles C. McGonegal received his commission as Postmaster at Bell.

McGonegal was in this city when he was notified that the last formal barrier to his appointment had been removed. He is an inspector for the State registrar of contractors.

The commission ended a long fight that involved Senators, Congressmen, Cabinet members and high government officials in Washington and elsewhere. McGonegal's appointment was opposed on the ground that he had left both hands in France—and the opposition stirred up a hornet's nest of support that swept him into office. Today he announced that he would assume the postmastership at Bell on June 1—the date his resignation as a State officer becomes effective.

Planting Starts in Beach Park

VENTURA, May 25.—Planting started Saturday on three plots in Beach Park under direction of Luther Hall, nursery expert attached to the City Engineer's force. The plots are No. 2, sponsored by the American Legion, and Nos. 18 and 20, sustained by the Veterans of Foreign Wars. The Mound Nursery provided all plants and shrubs under contract.

Work on other plots in the new seashore recreation center will go ahead as fast as plant contracts are let and the city forces can do the work, Councilman L. R. Barr said today.

Distribution pipe lines are being connected with the mains by the water department. One more carload of pipe, due here Monday, will provide material to complete the job, Barr said.

SEVENTH HAT IN RING

SANTA ANA, May 25.—W. J. McCardia, rancher residing on Buaro Road, west of here, today announced his candidacy for the office of Sheriff. McCardia, who has lived in the county for many years, is the seventh candidate to enter the Sheriff's campaign.

SUNDAY BRINGS LARGEST CROWD

Orange Show Has Largest Patronage of Season

Ministers Object to Some Entertainment Features

Packing Contest Will Begin This Evening

ANAHEIM, May 25.—Saturday and Sunday attendance at the tenth annual California Valencia Orange Show now in session here, was by far the best thus far in the eleven-day exhibit, according to orange show officials today. Throughout the day Saturday and Saturday night the big tent was well filled with interested visitors come to pay respects to the Valencia orange and Rip Van Winkle, with whom the orange is sharing honors, Rip having furnished the motif for the annual exhibit.

Today was Los Angeles county day, and a check of the busses patronized by visitors from the neighboring county revealed that the special entertainment offered for the day was a good drawing card.

Tomorrow has been set aside as Mutual Orange Distributors day, a special invitation having been issued to all "M.O.D." growers of the Southland to attend; an added factor that is expected to swell the attendance is the beginning of the packing contest, annual championship set for 7 o'clock Monday evening.

The contest will end Thursday evening. An effort was under way here yesterday by two Anaheim ministers to bring pressure to bear upon the show management for the class of entertainment being offered at the show.

One minister, Rev. C. C. Root, pastor of the First Christian Church of Anaheim, was scheduled to deliver an address tonight in which he had advertised a frank discussion of the entertainment would be undertaken. Dr. Root took objection to a dancing act offered on the opening program.

No concerted opposition from the Ministerial Association was contemplated, however.

Entertainment features for Monday, in addition to the packing contest, will be provided by the Mississippi Minstrels, a group of twenty persons in singing and dancing numbers.

Carl F. Blaker Buys Piru 'News'

PIRU, May 25. — The first issue of the Piru News under its new ownership was printed yesterday. The paper recently was sold by Mrs. Alta B. Knapp, widow of the late William Knapp, former owner to Carl F. Blaker, for many years city editor of the Inglewood Daily News, and up until recently editor and part-owner of the South Antelope Valley Press.

Blaker is a veteran newspaper man of long and varied experience on papers large and small, from the Middle West to the Pacific Coast, and from Alaska to the Mexican border, and it is felt here that his taking over of the local paper will be a distinct addition to the community.

Orange Prices Enhance Profit

EL CAJON, May 25.—Although the orange crop for 1929-30 was small, the prices were so high that the season has proved one of the most profitable in the history of the valley.

A carload of Valencia oranges, for instance, shipped to Cleveland last week, brought $3118 net to the El Cajon Valley Citrus Association for 462 packed boxes.

To date 9581 boxes have been shipped for the season by the association and the average price realized was $6.35 net per 100 pounds on the trees.

IMPERIAL POTENTATE RETURNS

Youngworth Ends Long Tour in Plane

National Head of Shrine Welcomed Home

Imperial Potentate Leo Youngworth steps from T.A.T.-Maddux ship to be given warm greeting by local high officials of Shrinedom, who will soon take active part in the official welcome to be extended him at his home Shrine temple of Al Malaikah of which he is Past Potentate. Left to right: A. A. Altom, Fred Wadley, Potentate of Al Malaikah Temple; Imperial Potentate Youngworth, and L. S. Rounsavelle.

GLENDALE, May 25. — After a journey requiring a full year which took him into every State in the Union, Canada, Cuba, Panama and the Hawaiian Islands, Leo D. Youngworth, Imperial Potentate of the Shrine of North America, returned here today via the T.A.T.-Maddux Air Lines, in preparation for his official homecoming to Al Malaikah Temple, of which he is a member and Past Potentate.

The Al Malaikah Temple homecoming ceremonial is the last official visitation being made by the Imperial Potentate. It is the 157th event of its kind during the year. Immediately following the homecoming on the 31st inst., Youngworth will depart for Toronto, Can., where he will hand over the duties of his office to his successor early next month.

Youngworth's official escort consisted of Fred Wadley, present Potentate of Al Malaikah; A. A. Altom, and L. S. Rounsavelle, two of its most active members.

LEGION AWAITS SUMMONS

Surprise Mobilization of Legionnaires Prepared for by Pasadena Post as Efficiency Test

PASADENA, May 25.—Proof that this city's World War veterans have effected an efficient emergency organization prepared to take over the helm of civic leadership in the event of any local disturbance or disaster, is expected to be demonstrated this week by a surprise mobilization of 892 members of Pasadena Post, No. 13, American Legion.

Alfred Theurich, secretary of the Pasadena Fire Department, is chairman of the Legion committee on arrangements. He is assisted by Commander Albert Engvall and Adjutant Robert M. McCurdy.

These three men, and R. L. Daugherty, chairman of the Board of City Directors, are the only persons who know on what day and at what hour the emergency mobilization of Legionnaires will take place.

Every member of Post No. 13 has been notified, both by postal card and telephone, regarding the part he is expected to play in the demonstration.

In general, each Legionnaire will report to his superior officer in the emergency organization, at the police call box nearest his home.

Two bombs, set off at six-second intervals from the six local fire stations, will signal the war veterans to dash to their posts of peace-time duty. Formal orders for the mobilization have been issued by the California Department of the American Legion.

There is considerable speculation as to whether or not the entire Legion organization will march through the downtown section of the city following the mobilization, but the details of the affair are being cloaked with secrecy.

Besides the headquarters group, the emergency organization consists of four battalions, each headed by a major, a captain, lieutenants and sergeants.

Mayor Herman Michel of Santa Monica, commissioner of public safety there, has expressed a desire to witness the novel demonstration of peace-time patriotism.

FINAL OIL QUOTA DRIVE TO START

Efforts to Line Up Santa Fe Field Due at Once

Hope of Restoring Old Prices Held by Leaders

San Joaquin Valley Area to Be Looked After

Oil operators in the Santa Fe Springs field will make a drive this week to get that field down to its allowable quota in the production-curtailment program, in order to bring about restoration of the old price for crude. The price was slashed deeply about ten days ago, because several operators refused to join the curtailment movement, but the action of George F. Getty, Inc., in signing the new agreement a few days ago holds out promise that the old prices may be restored if a few other operators sign up early this week.

The principal "holdouts" against curtailment in this field now are the Wilshire interests, Oscar Howard, Mohawk, Barnhart-Morrow, Rityl and Jameson. Getty's co-operation removes one of the greatest obstacles and the belief was expressed yesterday that Oscar Howard may join the curtailment movement this week.

Hooper C. Dunbar, chairman of the Santa Fe Springs Operators' Committee, has telegraphed the request that all operators sign up at once, and it is expected that several will visit the office of Umpire H. Paul Grimm today to add their signatures to the new contract which became effective the 1st inst. and does not expire until November 1. This agreement calls for a State-wide daily production of 598,-800 barrels of oil, as against the former of 609,000 barrels daily.

Several of the San Joaquin Valley fields are slightly above their quota and the field committees have suggested that the situation be given careful consideration to determine what measures may be taken to decrease the flow. In order to absorb the overproduction at Santa Fe Springs because of the nonparticipation in the curtailment program of several operators an additional 2½ per cent curtailment has been agreed to by the seven operators at Elwood and those in fields of the San Joaquin Valley. Operators in these fields have already signified their wholehearted approval of the new plan.

Lack of Water Closes Smelter Plant in Mexico

MONTERREY (Mex.) May 25. (Exclusive)—Due to lack of water supply for operating its smelter at Matehuala, State of San Luis Potosi, the American Smelting and Refining Company has closed down that plant and is considering closing its smelter at San Luis Potosi for the same reason.

The drought in that part of Central Mexico has been of three years' duration. The stored water supplies are practically exhausted. Artesian wells have been drilled with considerable success at the San Luis Potosi smelter, and officials of the company hope that sufficient water will be obtained there to continue the operation of the plant near that city.

Mexico Mine Lead Taken by Chihuahua

MEXICO CITY, May 25. (Exclusive)—The principal mining region of Mexico is the State of Chihuahua, in the northern part of the republic, figures compiled by the Mining Chamber of Commerce of Chihuahua show.

In 1928, the last year for which complete figures are available, Chihuahua produced 30.06 per cent of Mexico's total metal yield. The State of Hidalgo, in second place, produced only 14.79 per cent of the republic's total. The value of Chihuahua's metal production in 1928 is given as 100,963,433 pesos, with that of Hidalgo's as 49,651,513 pesos.

Van Dyke Mine Forging Ahead

MIAMI (Ariz.) May 25. (Exclusive)—For some time past the Van Dyke Copper Company has been shipping about 1600 tons a month of 3 per cent copper ore to the local and Douglas smelters. Most of it has been from the 1,200-foot level of the Rice shaft. It is said that this ore, found at unusual depth, is a continuation of the higher Miami lenses, even though the Miami ore is faulted on its east. The main Van Dyke workings are almost within the Miami townsite, though it is planned to do much exploratory work from the No. 2 shaft, the Pat, situated two-thirds of a mile to the southward.

Development by means of diamond drillings has been kept up at the rate of 1000 feet a month. According to President C. W. Van Dyke, plans are being made for construction of a leaching plant, to handle ores running below 3 per cent.

PERMIAN BASIN OIL PRODUCTION HEAVY

McCAMEY (Tex.) May 25. (Exclusive)—In the Permian Basin area of West Texas there are thirty-one distinct producing oil pools which produced up to April 1, 1930, a total of 367,445,329 barrels of oil. The Hendrick-Leck pool in Winkler county led the list with a total of 120,923,-990 barrels, with the Yates pool in Pecos county second, its total being 81,148,997 barrels.

SAN JOAQUIN PRODUCTION OF OIL TOLD

Output for First Four Months of 1930 Set at 18,662,018 Barrels

BAKERSFIELD, May 25. (Exclusive)—Production of oil from the fields of the San Joaquin Valley for the first four months of 1930 amounted to 18,662,018 barrels.

Production in April totaled 4,528,-566 barrels, compared to 4,525,322 in March, an increase of 3244 barrels. The daily average yield in April was 150,951 barrels, coming from 4350 wells. Following is the output by fields:

Midway-Sunset, 2,006,331 barrels; Elk Hills, 605,800; Kern River, 468,-907; Kettleman Hills, 422,553; Poso Creek, 357,376; Coalinga, 277,991; McKittrick, 126,932; Round Mountain, 118,137; Lost Hills-Belridge, 68,352; Fruitvale, 58,207; Wheeler Ridge, 17,980 barrels.

During April ten new wells were placed on production, with an initial total output of 4274 barrels daily. Three are located in the Sunset field, their combined production being 1402 barrels. One new well at Kettleman Hills added 2143 barrels daily.

Twenty-two new oil derricks were erected in the valley and there were forty-eight wells actively drilling. Eleven wells were abandoned, four of which were drillers and seven producers.

DEPOSIT OF POTASH TO BE OPENED

Project in New Mexico Declared First of Kind in Country's History

MIDLAND (Tex.) May 25. (Exclusive)—Potash mining is actually under way on a big scale for the first time in the history of the United States, mining records show. Snowden & McSwinney of New York are sinking a shaft in Eddy county New Mexico, twenty-three miles northeast of Carlsbad.

The shaft is now about 400 feet deep. It is 8 by 22 feet in dimension and will be sunk 1100 feet to a point where it is expected to begin drifting on the first bed of potash bearing salts which the company believes to exist in commercial quantities.

Snowden & McSwinney have made an initial appropriation of $1,000,000 for preliminary work. Negotiations are already under way for electrifying the machinery in use. The tests are in the vicinity of tests made by the Federal government.

No statement has been made as to how the minerals recovered are to be treated, except that silvite will be the mineral sought. The Snowden (JP) McSwinney interest call their mining organization the United States Potash Company.

DRILLING IN HOBBS FIELD ON INCREASE

Thirty-six Projects Now Reported Under Way and Making Good Headway

ARTESIA (N. M.) May 25. (Exclusive)—The number of wells drilling in the Hobbs area has increased to thirty-six as the State's most intensive drilling campaign has gotten under way. Good time is being made on practically all of the tests. Rotary equipment is being used almost exclusively after drilling to the surface water.

The first major production in the State-Northrop No. 1 of the Ohio Oil Company on Sec. 30, 18-38, has been encountered from 3133 to 3139 feet. This developed 300 barrels per day in a recent test, but the well will be carried down to the Humble sand below 4000 feet, as soon as workmen succeed in mudding off the oil and gas.

Drillers estimate that it may take sixty days to complete the Northrop, owing to the difficulties usually encountered in shutting off the big flow of gas found at 3650 feet in that area.

Oil men are watching the State No. 1 of the Fisher-Lowree-Penn on Sec. 11, 18-38, which is standing with a hole full of oil at a total depth of 5199 feet.

The Continental Oil Company is moving in material for its State No. 1-A on Sec. 29, 18-38, off-setting Coleman No. 1 of the Tidal Oil Company in the Eunice area.

Dam Contracts Let in Texas

SEGUIN (Tex.) May 25. (Exclusive)—The Texas Hydro-Electric Corporation of Seguin has awarded the contract to Sumner Sollitt Company of San Antonio for the construction of three additional power dams on the Guadalupe River at points between Seguin and Gonzales at a total cost of $900,000, or $300,-000 for each dam. The completion of these contracts will make six hydroelectric units on that stream, in addition to the large steam plant of the San Antonio Public Service Company at New Braunfels, the second largest power unit in Texas.

The dams and hydroelectric plants already in operation are located just below New Braunfels, at McQueeney, and just below Seguin.

The series of new dams will be just below the present dam at Seguin, one twenty miles farther down and one ten miles distant from the second, making thirty miles between the first and third.

CALIFORNIA KEEPS IN LEAD

Natural Gasoline Survey Shows State Continues at Top in Production Column

California continues to lead the nation in natural gasoline production with the greatest increase during the past year, according to the annual survey of the Oil and Gas Journal.

The survey lists 146 plants scattered throughout the oil fields of the State, with a daily capacity of 3,192,907 gallons. This compares with 159 plants a year ago with a capacity of 2,807,525 gallons. This increase of 385,382 gallons in rated capacity despite a decrease in the number of plants, is in line with the trend throughout the United States and reflects a condition in which larger plants are being built.

A large part of the increase in capacity for the past year has come from deep-sand developments in the Los Angeles basin fields. This development has furnished a large supply of casinghead gas from which natural gasoline is obtained. Some of the plants which were taking gas from wells producing from the shallower sands have been enlarged to take care of the increased gas supply. Several of these plants are among the largest in the industry. The Elwood field has furnished a constantly increasing gas supply for natural gasoline plant construction.

It is believed that despite the curtailment program in effect in California, the expansion in natural gasoline plant construction will continue throughout the year. In the Kettleman Hills area a major development promises to eclipse any other field in natural gasoline output. The wells completed in that field have had a large flow of casinghead gas which resulted in the construction of four plants during the past year.

For the entire United States this year's survey lists 1071 natural gasoline plants with a daily rated capacity of 9,542,020 gallons. This figures compares with 1124 plants and a capacity of 8,895,727 gallons a year ago.

This youngest branch of the oil industry, which had its commercial beginnings less than twenty years ago, now has an investment of nearly $500,000,000 and the value of its products exceeds $100,000,000 yearly. Blended with the regular grades of refinery gasoline it is furnishing approximately 11 per cent of all total motor fuel used in the entire United States.

ASBESTOS PROPERTY IMPROVES

Emsco Company Pushes Operations on Deposit in Arizona Field

GLOBE (Ariz.) May 25. (Exclusive)—Work is being pushed by the Emsco Asbestos Company on the Apache Indian Reservation, sixty-five miles from Globe and forty-five miles from the rail station of Rice. A cleaning mill was started last October and is in successful operation, the product shipped to the company's manufacturing plant at Downey, Cal.

In general charge is D. W. Fether of Downey, with D. V. Draper superintending mine and mill operations. As is usual in this section, the asbestos fiber is found in horizontal veins in limestone or at the limestone contact with diabase. When stripped the galleries are filled with waste. Most of the work is done by Mexican and Indian labor.

There is expectation of much benefit to the reservation mines through construction soon by the Federal authorities of a short-cut highway from this point to Showlow, to take the place of the present main road from Rice to McNary and Springerville. The new route will have light grades and will be below the snow levels and will tap a notable asbestos producing section.

Some production is coming from the Sierra Ancha and Pleasant Valley asbestos mines, though the long truck haul militates against profit. The Arizona asbestos industry has been benefited by introduction of machinery that serves to separate the fiber from the gangue, taking the place of expensive and slow Indian labor that used to cob the valuable material from the waste.

BELMONT IN CONTROL OF NEW GROUP

Syndicate of Tonopah Operators Takes Lease of Nevada Property

TONOPAH (Nev.) May 25. (Exclusive)—The entire holdings of the Tonopah Belmont Company in the Tonopah district have been leased to a syndicate of local operators headed by H. L. Budelman and Fred L. Ninnis. The syndicate plans to work the Belmont mine on a large scale, mine adjacent areas owned by the Tonopah Mining Company, and keep the desert plant of the Tonopah Mining in steady operation. It is said that good profits can be earned through selective mining, even with silver selling so low. The new arrangement will provide employment for nearly 200 men.

Vigorous development of the old Dispo lead mine, located in the Black range, six miles west of Tonopah Junction, has been started by a syndicate of Los Angeles investors headed by E. H. Brooks. A camp has been established, supplies brought in by pack animals and sinking of the shaft 110 feet deeper begun. The ledge is described as four feet wide, and carries high lead values, with some silver and copper.

The Gold Metals Corporation of Los Angeles last week shipped thirty tons of gold ore sampling around $60 per ton from its Sullivan mine at Manhattan, to the Millers plant of the Tonopah Mining Company. The company is installing a headframe and assembling equipment for steady production from the mine. Ore being shipped is drawn from the dumps. The shaft is to be sent to 200 feet shortly after the new thirty-horsepower hoist is in position. The ledge is said to show good ore the full width of the shaft.

Project Fishing for Lost Liner

POSO CREEK, May 25. (Exclusive)—The Barrett Oil Company has lost the liner in its Dominion No. 4 on Sec. 28, 26-28, in the Poso Creek field and is fishing.

Total depth of the project is 1520 feet. The ten and three-quarter-inch casing recently was cemented at 1469 feet, and the liner was lowered. A production test proved unsuccessful when water broke in.

NOTED OLD GOLD CAMP GIVEN STIR

Leasers Report Strike of High-Grade Ore in Quartette Estate

SEARCHLIGHT (Nev.) May 25. Considerable excitement prevails in this old gold camp as the result of the recent discovery of an extensive vein of high-grade ore in the old Quartette mine by W. J. Rogers and Charles Andrews, who recently reopened the mine under lease.

A recent shipment of the ore is said to have averaged $200 to $400 per ton. In addition to this rich ore considerable "jewelry rock," running into thousands of dollars per ton new value, has been taken out of the new workings, close to surface. It was this "jewelry rock" that made the old Quartette famous in the days when Searchlight was one of the most spectacular gold camps of the Southwest.

As a result of the new find, four subleases have been made on the mine, and all subleasers report encouraging success.

This activity at the Quartette has aroused new interest in the camp and negotiations are under way for the reopening of the Duplex, Blossom and other old mines. The usual small army of locators has put in an appearance and half a hundred or more claims have been staked. The digging of location holes gives the district an air of feverish activity which it has not experienced in many a day.

OPERATIONS IN KERN OIL FIELDS LAG

Only Two New Projects Started in Week; Five Test for Water Shut-off

BAKERSFIELD, May 25. (Exclusive)—Only two oil wells were spudded in during the past week in Kern county. The Standard Oil Company began drilling Tupman No. 45 on Sec. 36, 30-24, in the Elk Hills and the General Petroleum Corporation commenced Glide No. 14 on Sec. 21, 27-28, at Poso Creek.

Tests for water shut-off numbered five, as follows: Wellington Oil Company, Ltd., No. 3, and Doyle Petroleum Corporation No. 8, both being on Sec. 8, 11-23, in the Sunset field; Bishop Corporation's McDonald No. 1 on Sec. 26, 28-27, Kern River; Western Gulf Oil Company's Price & Stewart No. 1 on Sec. 22, 29-27, Fruitvale, and Pacific Western Oil Company's King No. 7 on Sec. 22, 27-28, Poso Creek.

C. L. Bothwell has begun redrilling his No. 1 well on Sec. 26, 30-23, at McKittrick, and similar work is being carried on in the same field by the Welport Oil Company in its No. 202 on Sec. 28, 29-21. The Standard Oil Company is deepening its No. 37 well on Sec. 7, 32-24, in the Midway field.

The Union Oil Company has announced the abandonment of its Reeves No. 1 on Sec. 27, 32-23, in the Midway field.

LONG TEXAS GAS LINE PROJECTED

Would Supply Fort Worth and Dallas

Panhandle Source Expected to Last 100 Years

Mains to Eastern Cities Cost $100,000,000

FORT WORTH (Tex.) May 25. (Exclusive)—A movement promoted by A. L. Scudder, prominent oil operator, has been started in Fort Worth and Dallas for the construction of a mutually owned natural gas pipe line to run to the two cities from the Panhandle fields, about 450 miles, and for the purchase by the city of Fort Worth of the privately owned gas distributing system here.

Mr. Scudder appeared before the City Council and stated that engineers estimate that the gas supply in the Panhandle area is sufficient to last 100 to 200 years. He predicted that if the city buys out the distribution system of the Fort Worth Gas Company that it can resell it the following day for a $2,000,000 profit, so great is the desire of oil companies to obtain municipal gas distribution properties.

He points out that pipe lines costing $100,000,000 to serve Philadelphia and Chicago are being constructed obviously on the assurance of competent engineers that the supply in the Panhandle fields is sufficient for a long time to come. The field is 50 miles wide and 150 miles long, he explained.

Harry S. Lyons, Dallas manager for Frank P. Parish & Co., fiscal agents for the Missouri-Kansas Pipe Line Company, states that the natural gas pipe line system which the latter will construct will be much more extensive than was originally contemplated.

Besides the twenty-four-inch trunk line which will run from the Panhandle fields of Texas to Minneapolis and St. Paul via Omaha, a twenty-two-inch branch line will run from a point near Kansas City through Missouri and Southern Illinois into Indiana, if plans now under consideration are finally adopted.

In addition to an initial order for 725 miles of pipe, the company is reported to have placed an order for 700 additional miles of the material. Both the trunk line and its branch line will serve many towns on their respective routes, besides large terminal cities.

Operations at Arizona Copper Plant Slow Up

JEROME (Ariz.) May 25. (Exclusive)—United Verde is running two reverberatories in its Clarkdale plant and has cut production to about 5,000,000 pounds of copper a month. Manager W. Val DeCamp states that work will be continued as usual in underground shaft and steam-shovel pit operations, while a large number of men are employed in doubling the capacity of the mill. Employment now is on a six-day weekly basis.

Five employees of the United Verde Extension smelter at Clemenceau have been engaged to go to Belgium, to introduce American methods in a smelting plant in that country.

Below Camp Verde, the Arizona Chemical Company now has thirty-five men employed in getting out sodium sulphate for shipment at the rail station of Clemenceau. The property changed ownership in January, the organization now headed by H. L. Derby of New York. It is proposed to erect an entirely new milling plant.

BARNSDALL OIL HOST TO STAFF

More Than 700 Enjoy First Annual Barbecue

Company Halts Business to Engage in Play

President Broomfield Given Memento of Event

More than 700 employees and their families were the guests Saturday of the Barnsdall Oil Company at its first annual barbecue at Playland, near Triunfo. The occasion marked the close of the twenty-seventh year that R. A. Broomfield, its president, has been associated with the company. He joined the organization in 1903.

The picnic as a result was a testimonial in a big way to Mr. Broomfield, who started as oil company auditor in the early oil history of Oklahoma, and rose to head of a company that has been instrumental in developing what may be the greatest ocean oil field in the world. He has been Barnsdall's president for the past three years, and is past president of the California Oil and Gas Association.

Business cares of Barnsdall were laid aside all day Saturday and at Playland the company employees enjoyed a baseball game and track meet, and watched the women in a nail-driving contest. Mr. Broomfield presented the winners of the various contests with medals and tokens. Before the day's fun had ended, Fred Hamilton, on behalf of the employees, presented to Mr. Broomfield a watch charm as a reminder of his many years of service with the company.

Charlie Cota, California Indian chief, who barbecued at the completion of the company's first well at Elwood several years ago, again did the honors Saturday. He was assisted in serving by members of his tribe.

The affair in the future will be an annual celebration by Barnsdall. For several years only a few members of the company have gone on picnics. Saturday was the first time that all of the employees foregathered for an outing.

Migration of Natural Gas Study on Way

An investigation of the direction that natural gas migrates from injection wells is being conducted by engineers of the San Francisco field office of the United States Bureau of Mines, and some interesting facts are being determined. From data collected it appears that gas migrates theoretically fan shape from the injection wells and that the angle of the fan depends upon the dip of the formation.

In a level sand (90-deg. dip) the gas migrates in all directions and the angle of the gas fan can be taken as 360 deg. If the formation stands on end (0-deg. dip) the gas theoretically should go straight up and the angle of the gas fan would be 0 degrees. The data further show that the fan angle decreases as the slope of the formation increases.

When the slope is about 30 deg. the fan angle is about 100 deg. and when the slope is 5 deg. the fan angle is 190 deg. It is thought that this information should be of real value in locating injection wells, particularly in California, where many oil structures have steep slopes.

GOLD DOME STATUS ROSIER

TONOPAH (Nev.) May 25. (Exclusive)—Controlled by the Nevada Gold Dome Mining Company of Los Angeles, headed by H. W. Boyer, the Gold Dome property in the McCoy field, near Austin, continues to develop splendidly. The McCoy lease is shipping fairly rich ore to custom plants, and several subleasers have opened good ore. Recent work indicates the property is about to enter on a long period of production.

Pittsburgh-Goldfield Company has placed orders for powerful mining machinery and a steel headframe, preparatory to commencement of comprehensive work on its extensive holdings southeast of Goldfield. It is proposed to sink a three-compartment shaft to a vertical depth of 2000 feet, unless important ore bodies are encountered above this point. The project is the most important undertaken at Goldfield in many years.

Production of the Tybo lead-zinc mines of the Treadwell-Yukon Company has been stabilized at twenty-one tons of concentrates daily, with one unit of the mill in commission. The management plans to maintain the output at this point until the market for lead or zinc shows improvement. Development of new sections of productive ground continues, but activities have been curtailed in all departments.

The Rhodes Alkali & Chemical Corporation of Los Angeles is building a reduction plant on its extensive mineral deposits at Rhodes, nine miles south of Mina. Recent rains turned the marsh into a bog for several days and delayed work. The corporation is understood to have demonstrated at Rhodes some of the largest nonmetallic properties in Nevada, with an enormous tonnage of material exposed.

DEEP WELL IN SAND AT MARICOPA

Birch Oil Project No. 2 Reported in Oil Showing at 5505 Feet

MARICOPA, May 25. (Exclusive) Oil sand has been struck in the deepest well that has been drilled on the Maricopa Flat. The Birch Oil Company's No. 2 on Sec. 7, 11-23, with a total depth of 5505 feet, is coring through oil-bearing formation, according to reports.

This well is drilling in streaks of oil sand, accompanied by streaks of brown shale and gray sand. So far the oil sand is not of a commercial nature.

Maricopa No. 2 supercedes in depth by more than 300 feet the first deep test well drilled at the flats by Standard Oil Company, which cored to more than 5200 feet.

The Barnsdall Oil Company is drilling ahead in its Hazelton No. 4 on Sec. 8, 11-23, at Maricopa Flat, having reached a depth of 1600 feet. Hard sand formation predominates. The sixteen-inch casing was set at 549 feet.

Barnsdall has three producers on that section, the total daily production of the trio amounting to more than 3500 barrels daily.

Blue shale formation is being drilled through at approximately the same depths in both of Standard Oil Company's other jobs on Maricopa Flat.

Fee No. 24 on Sec. 5, 11-23, is down 2675 feet and in the shale, while Fee No. 47-9K on Sec. 9, 11-23, is at 2690 feet and in the same formation.

NEW MEXICO PRODUCERS ORGANIZED

Division of Independent Association of America Starts Functioning

ARTESIA (N. M.) May 28. (Exclusive)—Organization of a State division of the Independent Oil Producers' Association of America, was perfected here recently with the selection of a regional board of directors and an executive committee. Van S. Welch of Artesia was made State chairman, George Etz of Roswell is first vice-president, F. A. Whelan of Lovington is second vice-president, C. J. Dexter of Artesia is treasurer and William Dooley of Artesia is secretary.

Six of the ten divisional directors were named at this meeting, they being, Forest Levers, J. D. Hedley, J. D. Atwood, Harry Leonard, Powathan Carter and G. G. De Temple, all of Roswell, the remaining members will be chosen later by the State chairman.

At a meeting held in Roswell several months ago, Van S. Welch was made national vice-president from New Mexico and Max Coll of Roswell and William Dooley of Artesia were chosen on the national board of directors.

UNIVERSITY OIL INCOME ESTIMATED

Texas Institution Due to Have $200,000,000 at End of Forty Years

AUSTIN (Tex.) May 25. (Exclusive)—Bonuses from oil and gas leases and royalties from production to the estimated amount of $200,-000,000 will have accrued to the University of Texas during the next forty years, it is estimated by J. H. Walker, State Land Commissioner. The fund from these sources already amounts to more than $14,000,000.

Mr. Walker points out that upon the 2,094,000 acres of land which the university owns in various counties of West Texas, there have already been discovered four oil pools, which as yet have been barely touched so far as their potential production is concerned.

These proved fields are located in Reagan, Pecos, Ector and Crane counties. The world's deepest producing well is situated upon a block of land belonging to the university in Reagan county. This producing horizon is found at a depth of 8525 feet and the oil is of the highest gravity of any yet found in Texas.

Copper Output Cut by Nevada Consolidated

HAYDEN (Ariz.) May 23. (Exclusive)—The local flotation mill of the Nevada Consolidated Copper Company is continuing its work on ores from the Ray branch, though with restricted product. It is of eight sections, each with capacity for handling 1500 tons a day, though capable of extension to even 2000 tons.

A recent statement of its activities tells of daily averages around 10,000 tons of ore sampling 1.23 per cent copper. Recovery runs about 88 per cent, with a 20 per cent concentrate, handled in the near-by reverberatories of the American Smelting and Refining Company.

NEW GOLETA OIL HUNT INTERESTS

Inland Project Proposed by Ring Company Stirs

Move Held Result of Recent Failure of General

Shift in Structure Off Coast Believed Indicated

The Ring Oil Company's recent decision to prospect inland along the coast near Goleta was the direct result of the failure of the General Petroleum Corporation's Cravilla No. 1 on a tideland permit, to encounter oil showings before reaching a depth of about 4300 feet.

It now is the belief of operators there that the structure does not extend out under the bed of the ocean at Goleta, as it is at Elwood and Seacliff, but is a little further inland. Believing this, Ring leased approximately 400 acres northeast of General's More ranch lease and now is rigging up Miriam [illegible] No. 1.

The entrance of Ring into the district indicates that operators strongly believe that oil will eventually be found in greater quantity than has been revealed in More No. 1 and No. 2. Both of these wells at one time were on production, but have had mechanical difficulties. More No. 2 is suspended, pending the outcome of Cravilla No. 1. It still has a string of casing to recover before the crew can start to deepen it.

Developments in Arizona Mining Area Reported

TUCSON (Ariz.) May 26. (Exclusive)—About 5000 feet of diamond drilling, about the same as was known last year, will be done on the property of the Bluestone Copper Company at Ajo, adjoining the New Cornelia ground of the Calumet and Arizona interests. Bluestone is controlled by Cleve W. Van Dyke of Miami and Horal A. Smith of Bisbee. The work will be done by the Continental Diamond Drilling Company.

A. N. Hill and Tom Sutton have brought to Tucson rich samples of gold-silver-lead ore from property staked by them in Quijotoa district, adjoining the Covered Wells strike.

A twenty-five-ton mill has been erected by Charles Farra on his Yellow Jacket property, thirty miles south of Tucson. High gold values are reported in the ore.

Diamond drilling is to be started soon in Olive district by the Price-Hamilton Mines Development Company, controlling the Helmet Peak and other groups.

Oil Acreage in Hobbs Field at New High Price

ARTESIA (N. M.) May 26. (Exclusive)—One thousand dollars an acre is the new record price paid recently for close-in acreage in the Hobbs field of Lea county. The Humble Oil and Gas Company purchased an eighty-acre lease on Sec. 13, 18-37, for $80,000. The area is known as the Kirby tract.

A short time previous to this sale the California company purchased a forty-acre lease from R. L. Bailey on Sec. 14, 18-37, for $25,000. Both sales were for cash and represent the highest per-acre price ever paid for an oil lease in this State.

Australia Mine Buys Equipment

EL PASO (Tex.) May 26. (Exclusive)—A remarkable shipment has been made by the El Paso Foundry and Machine Company, of ball-bearing ore cars to Australia via San Francisco. Each car weighs 4575 pounds and the entire shipment, with extra equipment, weighs 337,656 pounds.

The purchaser is the Mount Isa Mines, Ltd., operating a lead-silver property in Queensland. American mining machinery is reported in high favor in Australia.

MANY PLACERS BUSY IN ARIZONA COUNTY

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) May 26. (Exclusive)—Many placer properties now are active in this county. H. Woodward is washing sands on the Gold Spot placer, near Congress Junction. The Oak Creek placer deposit is to be worked by a syndicate organized in Prescott. The Bovoy claims on Big Bug Creek have been taken over by S. S. Coffer, who has installed a concentrating mill.

ENGELS MINING PUSHING AHEAD

Full Control of Calaveras Copper Planned

Final Steps Taken to Gain Clear Title

Placer Ground of Angeleno Group Leased

SACRAMENTO, May 25. (Exclusive)—The Engels Copper Company, one of California's largest red-metal producers, is completing arrangements to obtain full control of the properties of the Calaveras Copper Company. A suit to clear title to all the claims has been filed in the Superior Court of Calaveras county.

Engels Copper acquired the extensive properties of the Calaveras Copper at Campo Seco and Copperopolis last year, and has been conducting vigorous developments for many months. The mines are among the oldest and most productive in California, and are credited with containing large reserves of profitable ore.

Following a disappointing season the North Fork Placers, Inc., of Los Angeles, has leased its hydraulic mines and water rights near Helena to a group of former employees, according to an announcement at Weaverville. The company spent nearly $275,000 in the development of the placers and construction of a twenty-four-mile flume, but a cement formation is understood to have made hydraulicking difficult and cut down earnings. It is reported that the water may be diverted from the North Fork across the Trinity River by a siphon, and used to work the Red Hill placers below Junction City.

The old Happy Camp placer mine, five miles west of Downieville, has been acquired by Dana C. Day and associates of Los Angeles. The property adjoins the Kirkpatrick, Magnolia and other noted producers, and is said to embrace important gold deposits. Plans are being completed for extensive mining, with early production contemplated.

The Consolidated Stock and Bond Corporation announces arrangements are proceeding for early resumption of work in the historic May Lundy mine, near Bridgeport, in Mono county. The old producer is said to contain a large amount of commercial ore, and several applications for leases have been filed. One leaser is said to have agreed to build a forty-stamp mill to treat ore from the Erie ledge. The May Lundy is credited with producing $3,000,000 in gold, with most of the ore free-milling.

Ozark Spring Tells Time

MOUNTAIN HOME (Ark.) May 25. (AP)—A spring that tells time and a whistling creek are among the strange phenomena of the Ozark Mountain region, known but not understood by the mountaineers and unknown to millions outside the mysterious hills.

The spring flows for exactly 60 minutes, ebbs for a like period and flows again. Nature has provided a check valve somewhere in the underground channel, away from the vision of man.

Whistling Creek gives voice to a low guttural whistle on quiet days, which can be heard for several hundred feet.

MINE ASSOCIATION CHAPTER TO MEET

Members of the local chapter of the Mining Association of California will have luncheon this noon at the Engineers' Club, 633 South Spring street. It is expected that the president of the State organization will be in attendance.

RARE MINERALS, METALLURGY, CHEMISTRY

Qualitative analysis will be given in this department of The Times to correspondents on ores and minerals free of charge. Make each sample of an ounce or so in weight. Be sure to write a letter stating what tests are desired and give the approximate locality from which samples were taken. Do not pulverize the specimens. Give your name and address on paper wrapped with samples.

Not Beryl

LOS ANGELES, May 8.—Question: I am inclosing two samples of mineral which represent the body of a long dyke running about 2500 feet and two feet in width at the surface, on a group of claims in Northern San Diego county. You will note that one sample is pinkish in color, and the other topaz-gray. Both are said to be beryl. I would appreciate a qualitative analysis. X.

Answer: Both samples are easily scratched with a crystal of beryl. It is well to note that crystals of beryl are striated longitudinally, while quartz is striated transversely, or at right angles to the axis of the prism. The fracture of the two specimens is widely different. Beryl breaks in smooth planes, and the fractured surface of quartz is invariably conchoidal, (shell-like.)

The pinkish color in one of the specimens is from faded-out rose quarts, and the smoky-colored one is cairngorn stone, or smoky quarts. Wet and dry methods performed on the two specimens result in the fact that Beryl is not present in either specimen. Correspondents will please note that this column is literally overrun with specimens calling for many rare mineral and rare earth analyses. On some specimens of the named varieties do not expect published results for at least one month.

Near Bloodstone

WASHINGTON CITY (Utah) May 8.—Q.: Under separate cover a sample is coming to you for analysis. It is from sandstone formation and the ground well broken up and shattered. Clays and Fuller's earth in the vicinity. X.

A.: The sample is probably close to the olden-time heliotrope gemstone, and it would be well for you to prospect the locality for better grade material.

Flake Platinum Absent

LOS ANGELES, May 9.—Q.: Please find inclosed two samples of ore (?) I think they carry platinum and gold. About 10,000 tons in sight. Please classify and state if of any commercial value. Samples found in Los Angeles county, and thanks for past favors. T.

A.: One of the samples shows microscopic shell fossils mixed with iron, manganese and carbonaceous matter. The other one is black shale carrying microscopical mica known as cat silver. Free gold absent, and values are problematical.

Magnesium Silicates

SANTA BARBARA, May 9.—Q.: I am sending you three samples for classification and mineral reactions. Thanking you in advance. H.

A.: No. 1 is chiefly serpentine (hydrous magnesium silicate) impure with iron oxides. Nos. 2 and 3 are low-grade serpentine.

Three Samples

OLIVE VIEW, May 10.—Q.: The samples come from the Tehachapi hills. Please analyse and classify them. I think they are rare earths or rare minerals. S.

A.: No. 1 is quartzitic rock stained with a microscopic spot of cinnabar, which is of no commercial value as cinnabar ore. No. 2 is brecciated rock carrying microscopical molybdenite in traces only. No. 3 is a mixture of altered botroidal rock containing red and yellow ochre and traces of jarosite containing no lead. Rather doubtful ores.

Several Minerals

SANTA ANA, May 10.—Q.: Sample No. 1 is from a large copper vein I discovered in the midranges of San Diego county. No. 2 comes from the Pine Hills, San Diego county; a very large deposit—is this asbestos? Has No. 3 any value as ingredient for fertilizer? Nos. 4, 5 and 6 come from the Palm Springs district. I thank you very much for past favors. X.

A.: Specimen No. 1 carries approximately 5 per cent copper silicate in a ground mass of hematite. No. 2 reacts for some impure fibrolite with microscopic, siliceous asbestiform matter. No. 3 is marl, (lime carbonate) mixed with some clay; it is possibly of low value as ingredient for fertilizer mixtures. No. 4 is massive garnet. Nos. 5 and 6 are low-grade calcite.

Three Samples

INYOKERN, May 11.—Q.: The three specimens come from the Goler mining district. Perhaps they carry native silver? W.

A.: No. 1 reacts for black manganese oxide mixed with iron oxides and some zinc. No. 2 is ferruginous quartz containing quite a percentage of iron oxides with spots of (red) hematite—cinnabar absent. No. 3 carries a low per cent of copper; the smalt-blue stains in the specimen seem to be from Dumortierite, (aluminum silicate.) Free gold and native silver is absent from all the samples.

Doubtful Ores

LOS ANGELES, May 11.—Q.: Am sending three samples from Southern Oregon. It is said to be nickel ore. They look very much like volcanic rock to me. With best wishes. J.

A.: Those seeking ores of nickel would do well to go to Kerby, Or. Hire a rig at the named place and drive to the east fork of the Illinois River, eleven miles from Kerby, and visit Josephine Creek, from which creek you can obtain limited amounts of Josephenite (nickel-iron alloy, native.) On the hill through which the creek flows you will find a few prospect holes, and at the base of the hill a trench opened up for some forty feet in length with quite a lot of genthite, (hydrous nickel-magnesium silicate) but the nickel content is variable. The open cut referred to is owned by the S. P. R.R. Co. Your samples were carefully tested for nickel — with negative results.

Crystal Forms

LAS VEGAS (Nev.) May 12. Q.: Sending you five samples of crystal minerals. Is No. 1 of value as gemstone? No. 2 quartz of value? No. 3 Jasper, and would like material be suitable for pannelling inside of buildings? No. 4 is what? Is No. 5 travertine and of what quality? G.

A.: Sample No. 1 is part of a geode showing acicular chalcedony, (quartz.) Of probably no value as gemstone. No. 2 is quartz; also geodic, and rather impure with iron for commercial value. No. 3 is brown jasper, and may be suitable for the use set forth by you, but the panels would probably be small. No. 4 is calcite, (lime carbonate) and not the high grade known as Iceland Spar. No. 5 is quartz rock containing some red garnet of no gem value.

Earthy Hematite

RIVERSIDE, May 13.—Q.: I am sending you a sample of red dirt, found about three miles from Riverside. Would it make paint? B.

A.: The sample represents a greasy and earthy variety of hematite that might have some value for red chalk, crayons, etc. It certainly stains the hands immensely, and hard to wash off. It might answer for cheap mineral paint mixtures.

Tin Absent

NIPTON, May 14.—Q.: I am sending four samples of rock from a few miles east of Crescent Peak. I found several north and south ledges and Nos. 1 and 2 are out of them. No. 3 is from an east-and-west ledge and No. 4—What is it? I do not suppose it carries any tin values, but I don't know! On some of the prospects I found, in the monuments, papers going back to 1905. X.

A.: East and west ledges for silver. Northeast and southwest veins for gold. Sample No. 1 carries quartz, baryte, red iron oxide—cinnabar not present—titaniferous iron traces, and ilmonite in low per cent. No. 2 contains quartz, iron and manganese, feldspathic rock and might assay low values in lead and silver. No. 3, iron, manganese and feldspathic rock. No. 4 is amphibole, showing a little low-grade baryte.

NEW USE FOUND FOR TEXAS MUD

Large Quantity Taken in Hobbs Field to Hold Back Gas

MIDLAND (Tex.) May 25. (Exclusive) — Mud shipped from El Paso 300 miles away is being used in drilling oil wells in the Hobbs (N.M.) area. The mud is a clay obtained in the Rio Grande Valley. It is pulverized and shipped dry to Hobbs.

The nature of the formation is such in the Lea county area that it is necessary to use thousands of pounds of mud to hold down gas pressure in a drilling well.

PLATICAS DE LOS LUNES

POR EL PROF. R. GUERRERO

Encargado de la Sección Española de Este Diario

Termina el artículo de Gabaldón empezado a transcribir en la Plática anterior:

Siempre se ha dicho que la vejez es una segunda infancia; pero nunca, hasta hoy, habíamos encontrado tan justa la comparación . . . ¡Hasta con dientes y todo . . . !

Pero ¡oh fragilidad humana! ¿Saben ustedes para qué desea la infantil anciana que le salga la dentadura completa? Para comer carne, placer de que ha estado privada tantos años . . . ¿Cabe mayor ingratitud . . . ? ¿Por qué excluir a las patatas, a las que acaso debe al haber redondeado el siglo . . . ?

Tal vez ahora la carne se le suba a la cabeza—como le acontecía al famoso personaje de Galdós—, y la pobre señora se convierta en una piltrafa. Cosa que, a sus años, no tendría nada de particular.

Los artículos de Gabaldón en "Blanco y Negro" se intitulan "Polvillos de Salvadera", y es "salvadera" un vaso, por lo común cerrado y con agujeros en la parte superior, en que se tiene la arenilla para enjugar lo escrito recientemente. Ese utensilio era de uso común el siglo pasado en vez de papel secante, y su nombre se deriva de "salvado" (bran), substancia de que antiguamente se le llenaba, y que, posteriormente, fue reemplazada por arenilla. Como quiera que en anteriores ediciones del Diccionario de la Academia aparezca "salbadera" con "b", el señor Cuervo dilucida la cuestión ortográfica relativa en sus "Apuntaciones Críticas sobre el Lenguaje Bogotano", con la erudita maestría que le es peculiar.

Uno es "salvadera" y otro "arenilla", dice el sabio filólogo citado: lo primero es el vasito en que se contiene lo segundo; por acá (en Colombia) los usamos ambos promiscuamente en el sentido de los polvos que se echan a la escrito para que se seque. "Sacó de la mochila un vestido entero, guarnecido de esterilla vieja de plata falsa, una gorra muy raída, con un penacho de viejísimas plumas, unas medias de seda con más agujeros que un cribo o una 'salvadera', y unos zapatos muy usados de badanilla encarnada" ("Gil Blas de Santillana", lib. II, cap. VIII); "Derrama aquí con unas 'salvaderas', — Pues está en polvos, tu linaje" (Quevedo, "Necedades de Orlando", canto I).

Aquí se ofrece una cuestioncilla ortográfica, y es: ¿cómo ha de escribirse "salvadera", con "v" o con "b"? El uso común es ponerle "v", y así ocurre en todas las ediciones del Diccionario oficial, excepto las tres últimas, y, si no recordamos mal, otra anterior a la novena. Nos inclinamos a usar la "v", por ser indudablemente nuestro vocablo derivado de "salvado". Demuestralo el que, según lo observa D. Ramón Cabrera, antiguamente en lugar de polvos se usaba de salvado para enjugar y secar lo acabado de escribir, alegando al efecto que en manuscritos del siglo XVI se encuentran algunas cascarillas de salvado pegadas a las letras. Indicanlo claramente los pasajes que citamos más abajo; y en corroboración de todo viene también el análisis etimológico. En efecto, si se toma como sufijo "—dera", la raíz debe ser el verbo "salvar", pues aquél jamás se combina en castellano con nombres; pero esta derivación no cuadra con el sentido; luego hay que decidir que el sufijo es "—era", y entonces viene de "salvado" y hace juego con "cartuchera", "tabaquera", etc.; como que tal es el sufijo que se agrega a nombres. El latín "sabulum" dio en castellano antiguo "sable", de donde solo podría formarse "sablera", y si admitimos una metátesis como "oblidar", "olvidar" (¿por qué no "olbidar"?), "salbadera. Para llegar a "salbadera" habría que comprobar la existencia de un verbo "sablar", "salbar", echar arena. Mientras esto no se haga, o se presenten otros casos de tal uso del sufijo "—dera", esa etimología carece de fundamento. De conformidad con lo dicho, en catalán se ha formado "sorrera" de "sorra", y en francés "sablier" de "sable". En Colombia se dice también "arenillero".

"¿Sabéis qué hacía el marqués — Al escribir lo pagado? — Echaba queso rallado — Por 'afiechos' en el papel, — Porque viniesen ratones — A facer en ello estrago" (Juan de Cota, en la "Revue hispanique", I, p. 72); "Tenía en una pieza desviada — Una gran mesa de papeles llena — Y junto a ella una silla derrengada, — Un plato con 'salvado' por arena, — Un tiesto por tintero, un mal cuchillo" (J. de la Cueva, en Gallardo, "Ensayo", tomo II, col. 704).

"Unos se lamentan porque no tienen qué comer . . .", leemos en el primer párrafo del artículo que comentamos. En esta frase, "qué" es un nombre neutro equivalente a "qué cosa", e idéntico al "qué" de estos otros ejemplos: "No sabía yo qué pensar"; "¿Qué hará Pedro, que no llega?", etc. Tiene valor muy diferente del "que" conjuntivo que sigue al verbo "tener" y precede al infinitivo de otro verbo para denotar la necesidad, precisión o determinación de hacer lo que dicho infinitivo significa. En este caso, "que" no lleva acento: "Tienes que ir a la escuela". Note el estudiante la diferencia de significación que determina entre estas dos frases la mera presencia o ausencia del acento en el vocablo "que": "Tienes qué comer; pues te compré provisiones esta mañana"; "Tienes que comer; pues el médico así lo ordenó".

Cleared Channels Urged for Varied Interests

Representative Reid Offers Plan in Congress

Varied Entertainment May be Enjoyed Today

The Times Forum, KHJ, at 1:30 p.m.
World-wide news, 12:30, 4:45 and 10 p.m.

BY JOHN S. DAGGETT

Allocation to the Departments of Agriculture, Interior and Labor of cleared channels in the broadcasting band, to be assigned by the secretaries of those departments to stations which, in their opinion, are the most representative of agricultural, educational and labor interests of the country, is proposed by Representative Reid of Illinois.

The necessity for setting aside three frequencies for the Federal government, Representative Reid asserts, arises from the efforts of the so-called radio trust composed of the General Electric Company, Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, American Telephone and Telegraph Company, United Fruit Corporation and Radio Corporation of America to gain control of the air.

This group, it is asserted in the resolution, is seeking to obtain the lion's share of the cleared channels. It is also attempting to obtain a monopoly of all radio development in the country, all wire hook-ups between stations and between transmitters and remote-control studios.

"Whoever controls radio broadcasting in the years to come will control the nation," said Representative Reid. "Radio broadcasting is the most effective means known to man for influencing public opinion. . . . The radio trust is the greatest menace to the safety of the public and the people are aroused to the great danger. There is a necessity for action that will insure to the masses of the people some avenue through which to express their cultural, educational and social aspirations."

ON TODAY'S RADIO DIAL

KHJ opens the afternoon at 1 o'clock with a Columbia's Tea Time Troubadors in thirty minutes of music of romance. Again at 4:45 o'clock comes the Viennese Quintet with forty minutes of semi-classic and chamber music. This is a chain program and a most excellent one. At 5 o'clock the Civic Repertory Theater of Los Angeles enacts "North of the South," a playlet featuring Marion Clayton, noted actress. From 6 to 7 tonight, the Don Lee Concert Orchestra, and Jesse Crawford, Columbia's talented organist, will be on the air. Jamboree fans will point to KHJ at 8 tonight when the Blue Monday Jamboree brings its cargo of the funniest things. Fred Scott, Pathe talking-picture singer, will be a feature on this program.

CLASSICAL PROGRAM

KFI at 6 p.m. brings the vigorous classics from Norway, Old England and other sources as played by the Rochester Civic Orchestra. The featured artist will be George Finckel, 'cellist. The program opens with Svendsen's "Norwegian Rhapsody, No. 3." The KFI Symphonet at 7 tonight offers an hour of the best in semiclassic and concert composition, while 9:30 tonight brings Zhay Clark, harpist, with Virginia Fiohri, soprano, in an hour of concert music.

KECA at 5:30 p.m. Alfio Tedesco, tenor of the Metropolitan Opera Company, will be guest artist in a program including Don Voorhees and his concert orchestra. Compositions of Brahms, Tschaikowsky and Delibes will be featured. Winifred Donaldson, contralto, at 7:45 tonight and Jean Dunn, vocalist, with the Ray Van Dyne Orchestra, at 9 p.m. will hold a music lovers' dial.

VARIETY ON DIAL

KNX at 7 tonight with "Under the Make-up" brings the colorful life "backstage." At 8 p.m. "The Runyons Make a Move," is a mystery play in competent cast. The Lubowiski Trio at 8:30 p.m. is always good.

KFWB at 8 tonight with Hobart Kennedy, phantom banjo, and the Three Boswell Sisters should be an excellent half-hour, while Ray Martinez's orchestra, and Lewis Meehan, tenor, come on at 9 for an hour of semiclassics of American and Spanish origin.

KMTR offers dance music of all nations at 7:30; talking picture song hits at 8 and Love Songs from 9 to 9:30 p.m.

Chamber Gives Banquet Tonight

MONTEBELLO, May 25.—Reservations have been made for approximately 200 business and professional people of the city for the Chamber of Commerce midseason banquet to be held tomorrow evening.

Leopold Rendon, violinist, will entertain with several selections. He will be accompanied by Lowell Fynskov of Los Angeles. A group of Spanish and American songs will be offered by Charlotte Ortiz.

During the business session the constitution and by-laws of the local chamber will be amended to provide for three dinner meetings a year for the membership rather than the monthly membership meetings. Another feature of the business meeting will be the establishment of the merchants' committee for the purpose of stimulating trade.

THREE SYNODS TO CONVENE

Presbyterian and United Presbyterian Groups Will Assemble at Same Time and Place

Three synods of two denominations, meeting concurrently at the same church in Los Angeles, is the unusual ecclesiastical event scheduled for July 24 to 30, next. E. Burton Davis, general chairman, is arranging programs through his committees of fifty prominent laymen and ministers. The Chamber of Commerce has offered its co-operation.

The sessions are to be held at Immanuel Presbyterian Church. This building, declared by National Moderator Dr. Cleland B. McAfee to be "the most complete church plant in the world," makes it possible for three synods to conduct simultaneous business sessions in three different auditoriums, and also to come together as one body for popular meetings.

The combined meeting will represent 858 ministers and 449 churches with a membership of 109,475.

The Presbyterian Synod of California (covering also Nevada,) the Presbyterian Synod of Arizona, and the United Presbyterian Synod of California are the participating bodies.

National speakers to be heard at the conclaves include Rev. Dr. J. Ross Stevenson, president of Princeton Theological Seminary; Rev. Dr. Hugh T. Kerr of Pittsburgh; Dr. Henry C. Swearingen of St. Paul, Minn.; Dr. Henry B. Master, head of the pension board; James E. Wootan, Chicago newspaper man, and Dr. Rufus B. Von KleinSmid, president of the University of Southern California.

The committee is endeavoring to make the success of the July meeting so notable that it will present a strong bid to obtain the Presbyterian General Assembly for Los Angeles in 1932.

Plane Nearly Lands in Ocean

Jimmy Granger of Clover Field yesterday narrowly missed landing in the ocean in Hoot Gibson's Black Hawk monoplane when the motor went dead as he was flying offshore with two passengers.

The mishap was caused by a choked gasoline line, forcing Granger to point the ship for land and make a long glide to safety. The ship came to earth in a lot at Maier and Victoria avenues, Mar Vista.

DIVING BARGE OPPOSED

A request by the San Pedro Chamber of Commerce for a diving barge on harbor waters opposite Cabrillo Beach has been turned down by the Playground and Recreation Commission on recommendation of Supt. Hoyt, who holds that it might prove unsafe to the inexperienced. Hoyt stated that if the barge is anchored in deep water, poor swimmers might sink trying to reach it. If it is located close in, divers might hit bottom at low tide.

BRITISH WAR VESSEL OPEN FOR PUBLIC

Thousands at Beach Visit H.M.S. Dauntless off Pier at Santa Monica

H. M. S. Dauntless, British light cruiser anchored off the Santa Monica municipal pier for a five-day visit here, will be open to inspection by the public today from 2 to 4:30 p.m. Launches will leave the Santa Monica, Venice and Ocean Park piers. Thousands of beach visitors took advantage of the opportunity to visit the trim, immaculately neat British war vessel yesterday.

Tonight a formal reception and dance at the Miramar Hotel, Santa Monica, has been arranged for Capt. H. R. Moore, D.S.O., and the officers of the Dauntless.

Invitations have been issued to 120 guests. Arrangements for the affair are being made by Dr. Dorothy Smiley, Mrs. Hugh Evans, Mrs. Alexander Fowler, John L. S. Cooke, W. H. Jackson, Dr. J. W. Turnbull and Alexander Fowler. Music is to be supplied by the Biltmore Orchestra.

Chiropractors to Discuss Laws Next Week-end

Coming from all sections of the State, 700 delegates to the third annual convention of the California State Chiropractic Association will meet at the Biltmore Friday, Saturday and Sunday next to discuss State legislative questions confronting their profession, together with technical problems.

Among the chief State government issues to come before the representative body will be the recognition by labor compensation boards of the signatures of chiropractors on industrial accident and sickness reports.

Dr. C. W. Hoffman is president of the Southern California division, a strong faction in the organization. Dr. J. C. Tobin is vice-president.

THREE DEAD IN TRAFFIC; MANY HURT

Four Receive Injuries of Possibly Fatal Nature; Bus Driver Arrested

Three persons are dead and four received possible fatal injuries as the result of traffic accidents in and around Los Angeles over the week-end. Many others were painfully injured.

The dead were Mrs. Annie Conley, 68 years of age, 134 West Thirtieth street; Miss Jean Dunn, 18, 5511 Fallston street, Highland Park, and Mrs. Sadie Weiss, 35, 1939 City View street.

Mrs. Conley was killed almost instantly when the auto in which she was riding overturned following a collision at Griffith Park avenue and Scotland street yesterday afternoon. Her husband, Jack Conley, and Mrs. Alice Willett, Erriell Willett and Lee Robinson, all of 117 West Seventieth street, who were riding in the car, were bruised and injured. Joe Duria, 2215 San Fernando Road, driver of the second car, was not injured.

Mrs. Weiss, with her 8-year-old son, Sydney, was crossing Brooklyn avenue at St. Louis street late last evening when she was struck down by an auto and almost instantly killed. Her son was tossed to one side, but was not badly hurt. Fidel Aguirre, 22, 3009 Future Place, asserted driver of the car, drove around the block, witnesses declare. He was held until the arrival of Detective Lieutenants Weber and Officer and was booked on charges of failing to stop after an accident and with suspicion of manslaughter.

Miss Dunn was killed in an accident on the State Highway about a mile above Newhall. She was riding in a car driven by M. W. Roller. Others in the car were Miss Ruth Dunn, 16, sister, Fifty-sixth street, Dunn's step-father; B. C. Garrett of 7071½ West Fifty-sixth street, and Orville Beckelhymer and two sisters of 214 South Avenue 66. All were painfully injured and received emergency treatment at the San Fernando Health Center.

The other car was driven by Cruz Cassas of 3822 Live Oak avenue, Bell, according to a Sheriff's office report. He and two passengers, Charles and Maria Cassas, were not hurt, the report stated.

CARS SIDESWIPE

The cars, the report stated, were traveling in opposite directions and sideswiped as they passed. Roller's machine skidded for about forty yards and then turned over off the highway.

Probable fatal injuries were received by Harry Carmichael, 40, of 1231 North Detroit street in a collision between two automobiles at St. George street and Griffith Park avenue yesterday morning. At the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital, where he was given emergency treatment, it was stated he has internal injuries and fractures of several ribs.

Carmichael was riding in a car driven by J. G. Dever, 40, of the same address. Dever and Mrs. ... D. Mason, 62, of the same address, who was also a passenger, were painfully hurt. Dever suffered severe cuts and bruises. Mrs. Mason's left arm was nearly crushed off, police stated. She was removed to the General Hospital. Because of her age, police surgeons stated her injuries might prove fatal through shock.

The other car was driven by H. Ott Barton, 38, of 843 Vendome avenue. With him was Miss Mathilda Baerg, 23, of 1525 Griffith Park avenue. Neither were seriously injured, according to police.

DRIVER ARRESTED

Following a collision between two automobiles at One Hundred and Fourteenth and South San Pedro streets, in which Mrs. Mae E. Remillard, 39, of 11015 South San Pedro street, was painfully injured, William E. Baker, 23, of 6955 Templeton street, Huntington Park, was arrested on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Mrs. Remillard was riding with her husband, H. E. Remillard. He was not hurt. Baker, according to Officers Triplett and Ledbetter, was driving his car in a reckless manner when it collided with the Remillard machine.

CITY'S BUDGET DUE IN WEEK

Government Fund to Total About $79,729,690

Mystery Surrounds Details of Grand Estimate

All of Money Will Not Come From Taxpayers' Pockets

One week from today the grand budget for the governing of the City of Los Angeles next year, approximating $79,729,690, will be submitted to the City Council by Mayor Porter and Budget Director Knox. On June 9 the Council will conduct a public hearing on the budget. The Council can revise the budget.

Considerable mystery surrounds the formation of this budget, in which J. F. Sears, tax consultant of the California Taxpayers' Association, has collaborated with Mayor Porter. While approximate totals are available, Mayor Porter's edict of censorship on budget details prevents the public from learning the segregated expenditures prior to submission of the involved document to the Council. In spite of Section 1032 of the Political Code, which provides that all public records are at all times available to any citizen.

GENERAL ITEM $23,000,000

This grand budget includes the general governmental item, which amounts to $25,000,000, which is $600,000 less than that of the present year, the various separate departments, and the special charges.

The grand budget for the forthcoming year is $7,080,503 greater than that for the present year, which is $72,649,187. Economy has been preached to all departments by Mayor Porter and Budget Director Knox, who see ahead of them a deficit of $638,000 for the fiscal year of 1929-30.

Some of the vast $80,000,000 budget, however, in justice to present officials in power at the City Hall, will not come directly from the taxpayers' pockets.

Of the grand total, the three municipal operative departments, namely, water, power and harbor, will contribute from their revenues $7,302,822 to take care of interest and principal on their own bonded indebtedness.

The budget of the Bureau of Power and Light for the coming year will be $22,697,700, the sum of $3,112,208 being provided for bond redemption. The Bureau of Water Works and Supply will have a budget of $14,800,000, of which $2,790,614 will go for bond redemption. The harbor department will have a budget of $2,260,000, of which $1,400,000 will go toward harbor bonds.

The park department, which, like the playground and library departments, receives a proportionate share of city tax moneys, will have a budget of $1,363,620. The library department will have a budget of $1,460,000 and the playground will have a budget of $952,575. The pension department will have a budget of $2,139,368, of which $1,521,520 will come from taxes on property and $401,685 will come from contributions from members of the police and fire departments, each of whom gives 4 per cent of his salary to the fund. This last item has been included in the charter by amendment voted by the people five years ago.

Of special purposes, $1,140,000 goes to the permanent improvement fund, that ever-bottomless sock by which Councilmen get street pavings; $1,710,000 for the major traffic fund, $200,000 from the motor vehicle street improvement fund and $400,000 from the street traffic fund. A total of $4,058,417 will come from taxes for general bond retirement, $1,068,010 from taxes for municipal improvement districts.

FORMER PASTOR HERE SUCCUMBS IN ARIZONA

Dr. Thomas W. Dodd, former pastor of the Union-avenue and Woodcrest Methodist churches here, died yesterday in Ajo, Ariz., it was reported here by Dr. A. L. Baker, executive secretary of the Los Angeles Missionary Society. Funeral services will be conducted in Ajo next Thursday at 10 a.m. Dr. Dodd left here four years ago to take the Ajo pastorate. He also had occupied the pulpit in the Methodist Church at Kingman, Ariz., for ten years.

RIOT SQUAD HELD AT BAY BY CRAZED MILLIONAIRE

Daring a police riot squad armed with tear bombs to enter his home and take him prisoner yesterday, Fisher C. Bailey, Beverly Hills millionaire, held more than a dozen detectives at bay in his palatial home at 143 Mapleton avenue during a sudden seizure of insanity. He was captured only after he had dashed from his home frightened by the blast of a tear-bomb and had fled down Beverly Boulevard menacing motorists with his loaded automatic pistol.

Bailey's wife, Mrs. Dorothy H. Bailey, complained to police yesterday that her husband had been acting queerly for several days and asked that he be held for a sanity examination. Yesterday afternoon she swore to an insanity affidavit, but finding the courts closed was unable to obtain a warrant. She returned to her home and found her husband barricaded in the library.

Detective Lieutenants Eddins and McRae of the West Los Angeles police station responded to Mrs. Bailey's telephoned plea for aid but were unable to persuade the demented man to leave his locked room.

"Draw your guns and come in shooting," Bailey is reported to have shouted to the officers, "and if you come near this door I will start shooting through it." The detectives withdrew, but after a short time returned with two more officers from the West Hollywood station. A further parley with Bailey failed to move him from his stronghold and a call was sent to the Central Police Station for a riot squad armed with tear bombs.

The bomb squad, headed by Detective Lieutenants McCready, Anderson and Robinson found the crazed millionaire pacing behind the library window brandishing two automatic pistols and shouting threats.

McCready, maneuvered behind shrubs of the garden surounding the house and managed to reach a vantage point near the window. Rushing into the open he hurled a tear bomb through the window. Bailey rushed from the library at the first puff of the white gas, fled through the rear entrance and ran through an open field in the direction of Beverly Boulevard.

The demented man waved his pistol at several motorists in an effort to stop them. Finally stepping directly into the path of an oncoming car he succeeded in stopping its driver. Apparently exhausted by the flight from the house, Bailey calmly handed his weapon to the driver, together with a packet of papers he had taken from the house and was importuning the driver for a ride when he was overtaken by Pa-

"MR. ANTONIO" AND HIS WIFE ARRIVE

Otis and Mrs. Skinner

SKINNER TO DO TALKIE OF KISMET

Actor Drawn to Vocal Screen by Success of His Friend George Arliss

Otis Skinner, one of the leading actors of the American stage, arrived in Los Angeles last night on the Santa Fe Chief to make his famous play, "Kismet," as a talking picture for First National studios. He was accompanied by Mrs. Skinner.

This is Skinner's second venture into pictures. He filmed "Kismet" as a silent production ten years ago for the old Robertson Cole Company, but steadfastly refused to re-enter films until talking pictures had proved successful.

Skinner expressed himself as highly pleased at the prospect of venturing into the talkies.

"I never cared for silent pictures, and refused offers to make them," he said. "It was really the success of my old friend George Arliss in making 'Disraeli' and 'The Green Goddess' as talkies, which were even better than the stage plays, that determined me to accept the offer to make 'Kismet.'"

Skinner was born in Cambridge, Mass., in 1858, and was the son of a minister. In addition to "Kismet," he numbered among his other famous performances "Mister Antonio," "The Honor of the Family," "Blood and Sand," "Sancho Panza" and "The Merry Wives of Windsor." Mrs. Skinner was Maude Durbin, one of his early leading ladies. He is stopping at the Chateau Elysee in Hollywood.

New McDonald Delay Expected

Further continuance of the trials of Harry McDonald, Gus Pondergratz and others, charged with a conspiracy to violate the Wright Act, is expected today when the case is called for hearing before Superior Judge Fricke.

Dep. Dist.-Atty. Dennison, deceased, was in charge of the preparation of the prosecution in chief against the defendants. Since his recent death, Dep. Dist.-Atty. McKay has been assigned to handle the matter, and he indicated that he will ask additional time before presenting the case to a jury. Dep. Dist.-Atty. Curran has been named to assist McKay in the prosecution.

GRAPE GROWERS CONFER TONIGHT

Official Sign-up Campaign to be Inaugurated

Success Means Federal Aid in Sum of $25,000,000

San Bernardino County Already in Line

Grape growers of Southern California and vineyard owners living in urban areas of the Southland will meet at the Chamber of Commerce tonight to hear the Federal Farm Board's plan for the stabilization of the California grape industry, discussed by Theodore Macklin, the board's own representative in the State. The meeting, called for 8 o'clock, will be held on the eighth floor of the Chamber Building. Dallas Gray, vice-chairman of the State-wide grape growers' committee, will introduce Dr. Macklin. Benton Ballou, southern committeeman of the growers' organization group, will preside.

This meeting, according to Dr. George P. Clements, manager of the chamber's agricultural department, officially inaugurates the growers' sign-up in the plan of California grape-control board which is seeking an 85 per cent control of grape tonnage in the State in order to obtain $25,000,000 in government capital for the stabilization of the industry. The Federal Farm Board, which under the direction of C. C. Teague of California, developed the plan being worked out in the grape industry, insists that 85 per cent of the California tonnage be under control before Federal funds can be obtained.

MEETING OBJECTIVE

Southern California grape growers are already behind the plan with 60 per cent of the acreage in San Bernardino county, the largest growing area, already signed. The acreage of the larger growers and many smaller producers is under contract, and the objective of tonight's meeting is to place the responsibility before vineyard owners in Southern California and San Joaquin Valley who are living in Los Angeles and surrounding towns. Special invitations have been sent out to nonresident vineyard owners in all Southern California cities.

Dr. Macklin, the principal speaker of the evening, is a widely known co-operative marketing expert, who has during the past few years served in the reorganization of several co-operatives in California and elsewhere. He is head of the Division of Economics in the University of Wisconsin and has been loaned to the Federal Farm Board because of his ability and experience in the development of the co-operative marketing ideal in agriculture.

HUGE INVESTMENT

The Chamber of Commerce will establish facilities at the meeting for the actual sign-up of growers' contracts in charge of several representatives of the various co-operatives which combine to make the California Grape Control Board.

As the California grape industry represents an investment of $350,000,000 to the State, the stabilization program now being carried forward is receiving the interest of not only growers but financial and commercial organizations throughout the State who feel that if Farm Board assistance is not obtained through the acceptance of growers of the generous offer made them, one of the most valuable agricultural industries of the State will disintegrate.

FARM BOARD PROGRAM

"The program formulated by the Federal Farm Board to organize and stabilize the grape industry, object of the State-wide campaign, is the most comprehensive ever offered any branch of the American agriculture," says a chamber bulletin.

"It calls for an organized control of 85 per cent of the State's average crop of 2,000,000 tons for more effective and scientific marketing methods and to handle, chiefly by diversion into by-products, a normal surplus of 300,000 tons.

"It is this surplus, large in the aggregate but comparatively small in proportion to surpluses in other organized lines of farm commodities, which has been the specter bringing the entire industry and its 20,000 growers, with their $350,000,000 investment, to the verge of ruin.

"The government plan, announced by Mr. Teague, as revised, requires the formation of two new co-operatives in the industry.

"The first, the California Grape Control Board, a $20,000,000 co-operative whose capital stock and management is owned by five mem-

I STOPPED in to have a tire puncture fixed at Red's in a little mountain town in Northern California, the other day.

All the boys stood around and exchanged the gossip of the day. Red's being the town loafing place.

HARD FATE

Red was kinda disturbed in mind. He had just been reading a trade paper.

"See where there was a feller," said Red, "got $10 for a trade suggestion—where you mark the tire with chalk to find the puncture. My gosh, I been doing that for five years; and this guy gets $10 for it."

We sympathized with Red.

"That ain't all," he said. "Here I been using a tire valve for a blower on the end of an air hose; been using it thataway for years. Well, and here is a guy in this trade paper gets $2.50 for making the suggestion. Looks like I better close this shop and put in my time on literature."

NO PUNCTURES

Charley pushed back his false teeth and made a few observations.

"See a feller up at the garage in the city and he had a tire that wouldn't puncture. It was made with eight plies. He starts out from the shop and pretty soon Bill, at the garage, gets a telephone to come up the road 'bout six miles and help a feller git a nail out of his punctured tire. It was this feller with the eight-ply nonpuncture tire."

DARED US

Charley thought a while; took another chew and pushed his way back into the group.

"Tell you what I'm a mind to do," he said. "If you will find me a piece of rubber that I can't drive a nail through, I'll go out and find you a white blackbird."

He glared around the group triumphantly; but nobody took up the dare.

THE BIG NEWS

Just then Bob came limping in off the street with the big news. Bob is lame since being kicked by his plow horse.

"Hear about Ike Singleton?" he asked. None of us had, but we were naturally eager to.

"This morning, Ike, he gets a letter from a San Francisco store with a bill for $150 for some lady's dresses. He's the only Ike Singleton in town and the letter was addressed all right. Ike just can't understand it.

"He says to me this morning that he couldn't understand how it happened unless it was that his wife ordered it and it couldn't 've been that because Ike ain't got no wife and never had one."

Misdemeanors Show Decrease

Misdemeanor crimes during the last year have decreased perceptably, according to Presiding Judge Ambrose of the Municipal Court. Compared with March of last year misdemeanors show decrease of 1160 for traffic violations, 183 in liquor law violations, and 177 in other misdemeanors, he said.

The figures of Secretary Frank Holt show 22,794 traffic arrests during March of this year, 693 liquor arrests and 3429 miscellaneous cases. Most of the complaints filed resulted in pleas of guilty, figure from the courts show.

LIGHT PLEA APPROVED

The City Council has approved the petition for the installation of an ornamental lighting system in Calumet avenue between East and West Edgeware roads.

HALL PROJECT APPLAUDED

Civic Leaders Enthusiastic Over Los Angeles Garden Building Announcement

Plans for the proposed $12,000,000 Los Angeles Garden, consisting of a gigantic convention auditorium, exposition hall, hotel and office buildings as announced exclusively in The Times yesterday, elicited enthusiastic comment from civic and industrial leaders and other Southland boosters yesterday.

President John C. Austin of the Chamber of Commerce, said the project will give Los Angeles "a great living-room where the city may entertain its guests fittingly and regardless of the numbers in which they may come."

"It is a fine thing for any city to have a great auditorium and suitable accompanying buildings," Mr. Austin commented. "St. Louis has one, and I believe it is one of any city's greatest municipal assets. The only question in my mind is whether or not it would be a financial success. It will provide adequate facilities for our horse show, the automobile and food shows, great conventions and many other events which attract thousands of visitors, and for which Los Angeles never has had proper accommodations. It is splendid, I think, that construction is to be started at an early date as it should help considerably toward relieving the unemployment in our city."

The construction of the Los Angeles Garden will be untold benefit to the city," Mayor Porter declared yesterday. "The fact is that there has been a movement for the construction of a municipal auditorium to care for the larger conventions, but with the construction of the new auditorium as planned, this will not be necessary and we will

MRS. WILLIAMS'S WILL CONSTRUED

Suit of Bible Society and College Decided

Court Holds Document's Purpose Defeated

Residuary Legatees Must Assign Property

If the Pasadena Young Women's Christian Association and the Pasadena Home for the Aged, residuary legatees in the will of Abbie S. Williams, wish Mt. Holyoke College of South Hadley, Mass., and the American Bible Society each to get the entire proceeds, instead of one-half, of a $5000 mortgage certificate, they will have to give the college and society money after the estate is distributed, Superior Judge Yankwich has ruled.

He decided in favor of the Los Angeles First National Trust and Savings Bank, executor of Mrs. Williams's estate, and others, the friendly suit brought by the society and college to determine their status in two mortgage certificates of $5000 each.

PURPOSE MISSED

The certificate the society sought to be declared the sole owner of was made to Mrs. Williams and the society as joint tenants. The one to the college was made to Mrs. Williams and the college.

It was asserted in the complaint that Mrs. Williams believed that by making the certificates out in the manner set out above she would receive the interest during her life time and that the full proceeds of the certificates would go to the college and the society after her death.

As written, however, the certificates did not have the effect Mrs. Williams desired. The suit was brought against the executor and the Pasadena Y.W.C.A. and the Pasadena Home for the Aged, beneficiaries and residuary legatees of the estate.

GIFT NECESSARY

The certificates were issued in June and July in 1926. Mrs. Williams died on January 17, 1928, at the age of 84 years. She was an alumna of Mt. Holyoke College and letters and testimony were produced in court to show that she was greatly interested in the college as well as in the work of the Bible society. The beneficiaries answered the suit denying the claims, but at the trial made no particular objection to them.

Judge Yankwich at the conclusion of the hearing ruled that he is powerless to allow the claims, and that the only way to give the college and the society the full amount, instead of half the value of the certificates, is for the Pasadena Y.W. C.A. and the Pasadena Home for the Aged to give them the other half, after they have been placed in possession of the property.

ber co-operatives, is called into being for the purpose of buying grapes where and when a surplus exists, to allow them to remain on the vines, to dispose of when market conditions are restored or to convert into by-products.

STABILIZATION FEE

"Its directorate will consist of seventeen grower members, one nominated by the Farm Board, three each from the California Vineyardists' Association and the California Fruit Exchange, representing the growers of fresh grapes; two from the Fruit Industries, Inc., a merger of by-products manufacturers controlling 75 per cent of the market; and the eight from the dried industry, representing the California raisin pool.

"The operation of this co-operative is to be financed by a stabilization fee, which the grower authorizes his co-operative agency to deduct from his payments, of $1.50, fresh basis, or $5.25 dried basis, on all tonnage handled.

"This will furnish, on an 85 per cent control of the normal crop, the sum of $2,550,000 a year, or sufficient to buy 255,000 tons at $10 on the vines. Any surplus in this fund or profits from its operations may be utilized to purchase for the industry the by-products corporation or to be returned to the grower pro-rata on the basis of fees paid.

"The Federal Farm Board has agreed to underwrite purchase of surplus this year, irrespective of size.

RAISIN POOL

"The second co-operative is the California Raisin Pool, formed at the suggestion of commercial packers as a revision of the original Teague plan to make the Sun-Maid the lone source of supply for the raisin industry. The private packers have pledged their complete co-operation.

"This sweat-box pool is now in process of formal incorporation with a board of directors, appointed only for organization purposes and to be displaced by a permanent board chosen at a special election following the contract drive, chosen with a view to equality between Sun-Maid and "outside" growers.

"All its twenty-nine directors are to be growers and its supplies are to be divided on a basis of a 50 per cent minimum to Sun-Maid, with the remaining tonnage allocated through an agreement reached between the private packers. The directors will annually fix the price to be charged for the raisins sold to the packing industry, although a minimum or fixed price is not provided in the contract.

"Producers of fresh grapes are to ship through the California Fruit Exchange, a co-operative engaged in selling operations, and the California Vineyardists' Association, through its affiliations with approved marketing agencies.

"The Fruit Industries, recently formed, has agreed to take during its first year 100,000 tons of the estimated surplus and hopes to even exceed this stock requirement through constant and growing demand for its products. It is increasing its plant capacity and is planning an ambitious trade promotional campaign.

"With all factors in the industry, save the grower, now united behind the Federal program, the government has promised if this final essential is consummated to refinance Sun-Maid at a saving of more than $600,000 a year, to advance credits of $1,500,000 to Fruit Industries, to supervise the operations of the industry business, and to underwrite surplus control."

Film and Art Party Rides Freighter

They Have Ship All to Themselves

SIX globe-girdlers, including artists and motion-picture folk, yesterday were far out on the Pacific, on a tour around the world aboard the freighter, Cingalese Prince. They are the only passengers on this freighter, and are Claudette Colbert, screen actress; Alex King, illustrator; Mrs. King; Norman Foster, stage and screen actor; Miguel Covarrubias, Mexican artist, and Rosa Rolanda. The party left New York on the 6th inst., reaching California via the Panama Canal. The idea of globe-circling on a freighter is credited to Miss Colbert.

The world-girdling trip will end in New York in early September. Miss Colbert then will resume her screen work for Paramount.

The itinerary includes Japan, China, Indo-China, the Philippines, Java, Borneo, Sumatra, Bali, India, Egypt and European seaports. If the schedule permits, Miss Colbert will spend a few days in Paris, her native city.

Motion-picture cameras are carried by the party, and a complete pictorial record of the trip will be kept.

SMUGGLING CASE SET FOR TODAY

Smith to be Arraigned Before Two Judges on Three Charges

John Frank Smith, now awaiting a term of a year and a day in McNeil Island Federal prison for smuggling alien Chinese into this country from Mexico, is to appear today before United States District Judge McCormick and Judge Cosgrave on two charges of smuggling aliens and one of perjury, connected with his former trial.

While Smith was awaiting sentence he was rearrested and is to appear today for arraignment on the latter charges.

In two indictments returned on Friday Smith, Arnold L. Fitzgerald and James W. Holland are accused of conspiracy to violate the Immigration Act, and in another Smith is accused of perjury.

Smith is said to have used an airplane in transporting aliens across the border. George E. Flaherty, said to be owner of the plane, also was convicted in the latest trial, but is to appear today before Judge Cosgrave for a hearing on an application for probation. Because of Flaherty's previous good reputation, it is expected he will be granted probation.

have facilities for large crowds that we could not hope for with a civic building."

WILL OPEN NEW DOOR

The new auditorium will open the door to new fields of tourist travel, in the opinion of W. P. Jeffries, chairman of the board of the All-Year Club of Southern California. "Any building that will seat 20,000 people, that can house large expositions or large conventions will be a very wonderful added attraction to the city," he said. "We can now look for tourist travel in quantity groups and take care of them splendidly."

Pointing out that a deficit of approximately $20,000 in the last horse show might have been turned into an even greater profit but for the city's lack of accommodations, President W. W. Mines of the Horse Show Association, declared the annual show will have to be abandoned unless adequate housing facilities are provided.

WILL MEAN MUCH

"No one building could possibly mean so much to Los Angeles as this proposed auditorium," Mr. Mines declared. "Within the last few years it has become one of the favorite convention spots of the world and we simply must have ample accommodations for these thousands of visitors when they come to our city."

The project generally was hailed as one of the finest things that could come to the Southland, more especially since Los Angeles, in recent years, has been chosen as the site of innumerable large conventions, many of which drew thousands of visitors from all parts of the world. It was pointed out that lack of adequate facilities for handling such huge throngs has been a severe handicap. The proposed auditorium, with a seating capacity of 20,000, would meet this need and enable the city to bid for many gigantic events which heretofore it has been unable to handle, for instance national political conventions.

EARLY START APPRECIATED

Announcement that work is to be started on the project on or about September 1 was greeted as particularly welcome tidings. It is estimated that a year will be required to complete the structure, which is to be even larger than Madison Square Garden in New York.

Details of the plan were announced exclusively in Sunday's Times by Richard T. St. John, Los Angeles representative of J. A. Wigmore, capitalist of New York and Cleveland. Approximately $3,500,000 will be expended for the auditorium, $2,500,000 for a 500-room hotel, $1,300,000 for a limit-height office building and other huge sums for other buildings and the site.

MOTOR CRASHES FATAL TO THREE

a Pacific Electric motor bus, by Detective Lieutenants Riddins and McRae yesterday morning after the bus Warfield was driving crashed into a coupe, resulting in probable fatal injuries to two of the three occupants of the latter vehicle.

Those seriously hurt are Bernardo Riepo, 21, who suffered a possible skull fracture and internal injuries, and Barthalmo Paralta, 19, who suffered a fractured shoulder and numerous severe lacerations, both of 1338 Second street, Santa Monica. The coupe was driven by Leon Remuiar of 1749 Ocean avenue, Santa Monica. He was not seriously injured.

Neither Warfield nor any of the passengers on the bus were hurt, the detectives said.

The accident occurred at Lynbrook Drive and Westwood avenue in West Los Angeles. The injured were first treated at the West Los Angeles Receiving Hospital and then sent to the Santa Monica Hospital.

Lee Chism, 45,480 North Alvarado street, was booked on suspicion of drunk driving following a collision at Sanborn Junction and Sunset Boulevard. Detective Lieutenant Graf, who made the arrest, says Chism was driving in a reckless manner and struck a car driven by Alex Bazinskie of 727 North Sierra Bonita street. The latter's mother, Mrs. Stechanie Bazinskie, 40, received head lacerations as a result of the crash.

Daniels of Fresno, who caused agents of the United States to chase across the continent and thence to London, where he was arrested, is scheduled to appear today before United States District Judge James on a charge of misapplication of bank funds. He is expected to enter a plea to the charge. Daniels, a bookkeeper for a bank in Fresno, disappeared and it was charged that he was short about $8000 in his accounts. When arrested in London, it was stated, he was about "broke." He was taken back to the United States by a government agent and now is awaiting trial.

NATION'S OLDEST MARINE EXPIRES AT PORT HERE

The nation yesterday morning lost its oldest surviving veteran of the Marine Corps in the death at his San Pedro home of Judge William H. Savage, 92-year-old lawyer, editor and Indian fighter. He had been critically ill of uremic poisoning for several weeks at his residence, 835 Cabrillo street.

Judge Savage was a member of the crew with Admiral George Dewey, when the hero of Manila Bay was an ensign aboard the old sloop-of-war Mississippi, at the Battle of Port Hudson during the Civil War. Savage, then a private in the Marines, survived the sinking of the Mississippi in that battle by swimming ashore. He was captured by Confederate troops and confined in notorious Libby Prison.

He came to California to fight Indians in 1866 as a quartermaster-sergeant with the Twelfth United States Infantry, being stationed at Drumm Barracks, Wilmington. He was admitted to the California bar in 1878 and practiced law both in this State and Arizona, temporarily deserting the legal profession in 1884 to become editor-owner of the Tombstone Epitaph. He was elected City Attorney of San Pedro in 1888 and from 1898 to 1907 was a member of the State Senate. He held the Farragut Medal for valor in the Mississippi campaign and at his death was commander of the San Pedro post of the G.A.R., of which only three members now live.

Judge Savage, born in Limerick, Ireland, July 12, 1837, went to Boston at 4 years of age and was educated at Christian Brothers' College in that city. He married Miss Mary A. White of Westfield, Mass., October 30, 1865. He leaves seven daughters and one son: Mrs. A. W. Martin, Mrs. John F. Dodson, Mrs. John F. Dever and William and Patricia Savage, all of San Pedro; Mrs. Clyde H. Boyd of Santa Barbara; Mrs. R. H. Savage of Oakland, and Mrs. George H. Nicholson of Los Angeles.

Pending funeral arrangements the body is at Palm & McLain funeral parlors, San Pedro.

BROMLEY PLANS UNCERTAIN

Pilot Awaits Tacoma Backers' Word on Buying Fourth Plane for Tokio Flight

Whether Lieut. Harold Bromley will order a fourth new plane for his proposed Tacoma-to-Tokio flight depends on word expected today by Bromley from the northern city. The ship Bromley planned to use crashed and killed Pilot H. W. Catlin at the start of a full-load test flight at Muroc Dry Lake Saturday.

Bromley's flight is being backed by a group of Tacoma business men. He will be guided by their decision on whether to go ahead with construction of a fourth plane. His first craft ground-looped at Tacoma last summer in an attempted take-off by Bromley. The late Lieut. Herbert J. Fahy was seriously injured when the second craft crashed at Burbank on a test flight.

Funeral services for Catlin, 36 years of age, 336 Cypress avenue, Burbank, who died of burns eight hours after the giant low-winged monoplane fell and exploded, will be arranged today at the Powell Mortuary, 333 North Magnolia avenue, Burbank.

Mrs. Angeleen Catlin, the flyer's widow, is waiting to hear from her husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Catlin of Paradise, La., before completing funeral plans. Besides his widow and parents, Catlin leaves a brother, Robert Catlin, also of Paradise.

Carl Squier, general manager of the Lockheed Aircraft Corporation, stated that the Burbank factory will close during services for Catlin.

WHITEHOUSE ENDS FILING ON ISLANDS

Land Off Coast of State Withdrawn from Entry by Order of President

By an order issued by President Hoover, all islands, rocks and pinnacles in the Pacific Ocean off the California coast have been withdrawn from entry for settlement, location, sale or entry, according to an executive order received by B. B. Smith, register of the local Federal land office.

The order is far-reaching in that it relates to the use of what is known as the Valentine Scrip for location on government lands. Recently several claims have been filed upon rocks and pinnacles off Laguna Beach by the use of the Valentine Scrip. Numerous protests, one from the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, have been received by the land office. The protests number more than 1500, it was stated, with regard to the filings on the jutting points along the coast.

It was stated that entries which are valid and existing will stand in accordance with the rules and regulations of the land office and according to law.

Cactus Exhibit Will Present Rare Varieties

The idea of chewing on a cactus for the sake of getting temporary relief from the cares that infest the day is not exactly appealing, but it is done. There is a button-like variety growing below the border in Mexico which produces for the natives much the same effect as some orientals get by chewing betel nuts. Uncle Sam frowns on all forms of narcotics and has put the ban on this variety of cactus and but few specimens exist on this side of the border. Some of these will be shown, among thousands of other rare and fascinating varieties at the Cactus and Succulent rium Thursday, the 29th inst., to June 1, inclusive.

The exhibition is sponsored by the Cactus and Succulent Society of America which has headquarters in Los Angeles but includes in its membership representation from every State in the Union except one, and many members from several foreign countries. Exhibits will be entered from collections that are world famous. Some of the specimens are practically priceless, since they are of a kind that has almost disappeared, and special guards will be on duty at the show, according to J. A. Ekdom, manager.

This is the blooming season and many of the varieties are covered with the brilliant, silky flowers.

R. E. Willis, president of the society, said that the organization has received an invitation to hold next year's show in Canada. If this invitation is not accepted, the show will probably be held in San Francisco.

Among the judges are William Hertrich, of the Huntington Gardens; O. E. Orpet of Santa Barbara and James West of San Rafael.

EXAMINATION ANNOUNCED

Examinations of candidates for the position of junior typist clerk are announced by the Los Angeles county Civil Service Commission for June 14. The last day for filing applications is June 7. Details and application blanks can be obtained at Room 1002, Hall of Records.

In Municipal Judge Valentine's court, Coe was sentenced to ten days in jail for reckless driving. He already had been held by Municipal Judge Turney for Superior Court trial on charges of stealing the car.

Court Asserts Man's Right to Snore at Home

The inalienable right of a man to snore in his own bedroom has found a champion in Superior Judge Doran. At the divorce hearing of Mrs. Dora Bliss against Edward L. Bliss, city employee, Mrs. Bliss complained that her nightly rest was made anything but blissful by Bliss's stentorian respiration.

"And he didn't confine his snoring to the bedroom, either," Mrs. Bliss declared. "He fell asleep at parties and at the theater. It was cruel the way he embarrassed me by dozing as much as he did."

Judge Doran politely smothered a yawn.

"Snoring isn't a cause for divorce, madam," the court decided. "I snore myself and my wife has never threatened a divorce."

"I am sure the court snores in a very musical key," interposed Mrs. Bliss's attorney, "but my client's husband sounds like a sawmill with static."

But Judge Doran took the case under submission. He said he would have to sleep over it.

JUDGE KEETCH WILL RESUME BENCH SOON

Superior Judge Keetch, who has been resting at his home from particularly strenuous duties during the year, yesterday announced he will return to his court within a week or two. He has been at his home, 1910 Monterey Road. Judge Keetch denied that his health will not permit him to return to the bench, and he announced he will be a candidate for re-election.

RODEO ENDS WITH FLOCK OF THRILLS

Broncho Tosses Rider and Then Forces Him to Flee; Prizes Awarded

With wildly cheering crowds applauding the stunts of the old-time cowboys, the Los Angeles rodeo, sponsored by American Legion Post No. 127 and held at the Legion Speedway, came to an end last night. Many riders from all over the West were in the contests yesterday.

"Eight Ball," a vicious broncho, after tossing its rider, Jonnny Slatter of Monte Vista, Colo., charged him and the cowboy had to run for his life. Old-timers declare this to be a very unusual performance.

Edward Bowman, Fort Thomas, Ariz., proved to be the speediest calf roper in the crowd and took first money while Lysle Cottrell of Alamoose, Col., took second. E. Pardee of La Junta, Col., was third and Carl Shepherd of Munday, Tex., was fourth.

The winner of the steer-riding contest was Chick Hannon of Miles City and Smoky Snyder of Kimberly, B. C., was second. Tommy Douglas of Burbank, Cal., was third and Paddy Ryan of Miles City and Frank Snyder, Hanford, Cal., were tied for fourth.

The best bulldogger was Leonard Ward of Cedar City, Utah, and Irving Collins of Miles City took second. Chick Hannon of Miles City and Lloyd Sanders of Sonora, Cal., were third and fourth, respectively.

For the first time in years the Arrowhead Springs estate is to be closed during the entire summer for improvements. After June no reservations will be accepted. The springs, including the steam caves and hotel, will remain closed until September, according to R. W. Larritt, director.

The 2000-acre estate will undergo many changes during the next 100 days. Extensive improvements are to be made to the hotel.

Several miles of new bridle paths will be built and thousands of shrubs added. Enlargement of the steam caves one-half mile west of the hotel is planned.

A number of the hotel staff, headed by Larritt, will leave the first part of next month for Yellowstone Park, where Larritt will manage the Mammoth Hotel during the period of alterations at the springs. He will return in September.

HINDU SETS UP GOAL OF LIFE

Ultimate Happiness for Man Can be Found Only in Uncovering Illusion, Says Krishnamurti

OJAI, May 25. (Exclusive)—Desire is illusion and the ultimate happiness of human beings is to be found only in the uncovering of all illusions, Krishnamurti, young Hindu philosopher, told a large crowd of his followers here today at the opening meeting of the Ojai Star Institute. The meeting was held in the oak grove at 5 p.m. The visiting teacher, attired in white shirt, blue coat and gray trousers, spoke from a position under one of the ancient trees of the grove.

"So many fantastic things have been said about what I have to say that I will explain," he said. "You must hear with undogmatic ears; for what I say is the only truth to be attained by every human being.

"When you set out to study the truth, find out what are your illusions or desires—for all desire is illusion. Life is a constant conflict through which you must choose. Life is development through choice.

"Ultimate happiness is attained through four stages. First, you must go through the worldly stage and learn that this is inadequate. Next, you must try mystery and subtle teaching and learn that they do not satisfy. Then you must experience negation by doing without feeling. Lastly, you will achieve a sense of intuition, which is the all-inclusive life."

Krishnamurti's audience today numbered nearly 4000 persons and included many noted for their activities in the study of the occult sciences. In the gathering were Louis Zalk, head of the Ojai Star Institute, Duluth; George Hall, nominal head of the Ojai camp; D. Rajagopal, Hindu founder of the Star of the East; Mrs. Malali Patwarhan, leader of the women's movement in India; Geoffrey Hodson, English lecturer; Alex d'Seza, Brazilian editor and publisher; Robert Logan of Philadelphia, head of the American Anti-Vivisection Society, and G. Pandit, noted Hindu lawyer.

Krishnamurti will address the meeting of the institute again on Wednesday.

At the night gathering Krishnamurti read several of his poems when several hundred persons gathered on the hillside about a great fire. Y. Prasad, his secretary, told of their recent trip to India.

Krishnamurti will speak this morning at 11 o'clock at which time a film record of the talk will be made.

Today's Bible Text

A man is not justified by the works of the law, but by the faith of Jesus Christ, even we have believed in Jesus Christ, that we might be justified by the faith of Christ, and not by the works of the law; for by the works of the law shall no flesh be justified.—Gal. ii:16.

PARITY OF POCKETS
What this country needs is more parity between the pocketbooks of husband and wife.

SCRAMBLED
A terrific crash occurred last week between two speeders head on. Two bad eggs were scrambled.

MODERN FRANKNESS
Noted author announces his engagement to actress and then begins suit for divorce against his wife. That's being up to date.

PAGE DIOGENES
A sheriff announces his candidacy and says it is for the salary only. That county should have an honest administration.

PEEVISH
President Hoover is so dry he squeaks, says Representative Peavey of Wisconsin. It may peeve Mr. Peavey to learn that one reason why the wets do not squeak is that they are too tight.

SAFE DISTANCE
If the first lady is like most of her sex, no hardship was attached to hearing the salute of twenty-one guns for her husband by radio rather than at close range.

BIG BUSINESS
A Jamestown (N. Y.) man urged a beetle around the brim of his derby hat 617 times and then claimed the record. These derby races are becoming complicated.

REBUILT
America is rebuilt every forty years, says A. E. Dickinson, president of the National Limestone Company. We place a bet that Hollywood scenery artists can build it quicker than that.

COWARD
The man who hides behind a woman's skirts is not a coward. He is a magician, said Lord Dewar shortly before he died. From all that we see, matters are changing and man may be able to be a coward again.

DRUDGERY DODGERS
New electrical device that covers a plate broils a steak or chops on the dinner table. All we need now is a dishwashing and drying machine under the table, a chute for the dishes and one for the refuse and conveyors to the pantry and incinerator to solve the servant problem.

MAN A PRIZE
Man has come into his own in England—indeed, he is a trophy. In that country there are 2,112,407 more women than men. However, Germany is worse off. It has 3,053,088 more females than males. France has a surplus of 1,897,128 women. Husbands are at a premium.

THE JIMSON WEED
Nobody would have dreamed it. But the jimson weed has possibilities. It is not just the joke of the wise-cracker and the despair of the planter. It has qualities all its own and has a worthy base for something higher and better.

Dr. Albert F. Blakeslee of Carnegie Institute injects radium into the jimson weed and changes its appearance and the appearance of its progeny.

So now it seems that the whole jimson family may aspire. It is not just a fluke of environment; but a matter of heredity as well. The jimson weed can now point to its humble origin and show how far it has traveled. It stands a good chance of becoming one of the elite and being catalogued in "Who's Who"—providing it has money enough to pay for it.

However, it must be admitted that the jimson weed yet has a long way to travel. It is an outcast today. Nobody wants it around. The rancher digs it up and the plowboy despises it.

But in these marvelous days anything is possible. Evidently nature had something up her sleeve for the jimson weed. Nobody knows what philanthropies may blossom out of its supineness.

THE PAN-EUROPA PLAN
If, instead of referring to it as a "United States of Europe" the plan of Foreign Minister Briand of France for a closer association of European nations was given a name better descriptive of its real character, it would be better understood. On examination, it is disclosed that M. Briand does not propose anything even remotely resembling the United States of America, with its strong central government and Constitution, or even such a loose federation as the American States had between 1783 and 1789, before the Constitution went into effect. Instead, his association seems to be more of a European version of the Pan-American Union, which, without trespassing on the sovereignty of any American nation, seeks the discussion and settlement of international questions which apply to the three Americas.

Every European power except Russia and Turkey is invited to aid in the formation of the association. The omissions are significant and important, especially that of the Soviet Union, since such an association would tend still more to isolate Russia from the fellowship of nations. There seems to be doubt in Washington as to what extent and on what basis the British government will be asked to take part. If the British Empire takes membership as a whole, or if the various dominions are allowed representation, the association takes on more of a world aspect than a European aspect. If the British Isles alone are represented, there might be interference with various plans for empire solidarity. To leave Britain out would obviously limit the usefulness of the association.

But with all these handicaps and limitations, it is still possible that the consultative and advisory body which M. Briand has in mind might be able to function to some effect. It is, according to all reports, to be an economic body only, with no political functions, and with for its object the rehabilitation of European industry through the lowering of economic barriers between European countries.

This rehabilitation, it appears, is needed. France is practically the only prosperous nation on the continent at the present time; Holland and Sweden are near normality; Germany, Czechoslovakia, Jugo-Slavia, Italy, Poland, Austria, Hungary, Spain and all the rest are in the dumps. There are prosperous industries, but they are organized in cartels on an international basis. The success of the cartels is a powerful argument for the Briand plan, as is also the economic success of the United States, and a paragraph from the annual report of Secretary Mellon in 1926 is being quoted and studied in European industrial circles. In this paragraph, Secretary Mellon said that European and American conditions would be comparable "if we should consider each of the forty-eight States a separate nation, each having it own tariff, its own railroads, its own currency and its own language. Under such conditions the industrial power of the United States must and would end."

Briand, therefore, suggests conferences for the removal of these obstacles to trade. A necessary corollary would, of course, be the raising of a tariff wall against nations not members of the conference. To what extent this would conflict with the "most favored nation" treaties which the United States has with most of the European powers, which guarantee American trade against discrimination, it is difficult to say. That is the part of the problem which most nearly concerns this government.

It does not appear that the United States could very well have any other objection to the carrying out of the plan. A close political union of the European governments would obviously produce a new world situation which might, or might not, prove disquieting; but that, reports say, is not being contemplated, and even if it were it does not appear that this country could, under the well-established hands-off policy, take any action. There is, however, this consideration; that an economic union could hardly fail to have political consequences.

There was a certain amount of currency solidarity in Europe before the war which did not result in any political linking. This was when the gold value of the principal coin in France, Belgium, Switzerland, Spain, Italy and Greece was identical. They are far apart now, as a result of the varying degrees of war inflation, and putting them again on a common basis would be very difficult.

Whatever fate this suggestion of the French Foreign Minister may meet, the developments will be interesting and will repay study by those interested in government, in economics and in politics. On the one hand it may be found impossible to form such an association; on the other it may be formed, and may change the whole course of the world's history and inaugurate a new era.

PUBLIC PETTING PARTIES
The proper parties may have a perfect right to pet. But when they do it en route through the crowded city traffic or along a highway, they become a menace to life, property and decency.

New York State has declared against them by a stringent law. A fine of $50 is assessed for the first offense with a jail term of six months added for an encore. This will have a salutary effect in cooling off the passions of these petters.

There is nothing to be said in their favor. How they can unblushingly make a show of themselves in public places in broad daylight is one of the unsolved mysteries of Los Angeles. Cooing and billing in a car traveling through intricate traffic zones is not only pestiferous, but perilous.

People come to California to see the scenery and not the brazen petting parties parked along the big road blotting out the view. Our embarrassment is that we have 365½ days in which it can be done. Back East it is crowded into a few short summer months by the weather. But even that seems to be too much for their gentility and nerves.

The law may appear to be rather a big weapon to use against these insects. A fly swatter would fit them better. But we are handicapped by lack of regulations.

At that it may not always be the fault of the youngsters. Occasionally some oldsters seem to be scrambled in a sorry mess. A spanking would be about the right size and penalty to do the offenders a world of good Gotham can stand salacious plays on her Broadway; but even she sticks at slushy osculations in public. We are not prudes; but we should enjoy being at the other end of a horsehide laid on these nit-wits.

THE PEACOCK
By James J. Montague

The peacock on the vision looms
In radiant green and golden plumes.

It obviously is his aim
To put all other birds to shame.

When he unfolds his glorious tail
The cardinal looks wan and pale,

The tanager and thrush engage
In sudden fits of angry rage.

And all the warblers in the trees
Become distressed and ill at ease.

While humming birds, bright bits of flame,
Hide their diminished heads in shame,

And even mockers cease their glee
And murmur sadly: "What are we?

"Mere dowdy things of gray and white Beside that gleam of rainbow light!"

But when the peacock, loud and strong,
Endeavors to indulge in song,

The other creatures, great and small,
Observe: "He ain't much, after all;

"We'd rather hear a squalling cat
Than such a raucous bird as that!"

But still the peacock's green and gold
Are very lovely to behold,

And though he cannot learn to sing—
Well, no one can have everything!

Memorial Day in California

Memorial Day will be remembered in many places and in many ways in Southern California, but one of the most interesting ceremonies, to us, will be one in which the Historical Society of Southern California and the California History and Landmarks Club will unite in unveiling a bronze tablet in the walls of the old Abila adobe in Paseo de los Angeles, to commemorate the fact that Commodore Robert Field Stockton made that house his military headquarters during January, 1847. Mrs. A. S. C. Forbes, whose books should be in the library of every lover of California history and romance, is chairman of the committee which has the arrangements in charge, and many members of our "first families" will be present. "By placing the tablet," says Mrs. Forbes, "the societies are trying to assist Mrs. Christine Sterling in establishing correct history of places in and about the Plaza. We have selected Memorial Day, hoping that in future each year some patriot will place a wreath of flowers above the tablet in memory of Commodore Stockton and his splendid marines, who took and held California for the United States."

Stockton Twice Saved the Day

Memorial Day is especially the day of the G.A.R., just as Armistice Day is especially the day of the American Legion. Those who cherish the memory of the Confederacy have their own Memorial Day on June 3. California was practically out of the war between the States, but was very much in the final conflict with Mexico, being ruled by a Mexican Governor when the conquering Americans came.

Had it not been for Stockton, the Decoration Day established after the war between the States might have meant little to California, for this might yet be part of Mexico. When Kearny marched overland from Santa Fe his tired army was beaten by Gen. Pico's Californians at San Pasqual—so decisively beaten that their only hope of escaping annihilation lay in getting help from Stockton. Kit Carson managed to get through Pico's lines, stole a horse, made his way to San Diego and notified Stockton. Stockton was giving a ball, having no idea that Kearny's army or any other army was anywhere near him. But it was Stockton who saved the day then—and had Kearny been forced to surrender the history of California might have been greatly changed. It was Stockton, again, who recaptured Los Angeles, after one American garrison had lost it.

Surely, Los Angeles has reason enough to give Stockton one wreath a year.

All True Art Has Its Dignity

Every "personal glimpse" we write brings out letters or spoken comments from people who knew-him-when. Our story about Harry Carr brings one which is priceless.

Harry was sports editor of The Times when Leach Cross was at the height of his pugilistic career, and the two were great friends. When Harry went to New York, Leach insisted on showing him the city. One day Leach was driving him through a crowded street when his car bumped a truck. The truck driver, little guessing that he was addressing an idol of the ring, proceeded to call Leach all the names an experienced truck driver could think of, offering to knock him for a row of headstones if he would step out of the car. Leach took it quietly, answering nothing. When the truck driver had driven on, Harry exclaimed:

"You certainly have good control of your temper. Why, you could have knocked that big bruiser out with one punch. Why didn't you?"

Leach glanced about at the gaping crowd and smiled. "For nothing?" he answered. "Do you think Mischa Elman would get out here and play a violin solo for these birds?"

He used to be a good egg,
Who gaily lived and toiled,
Until he read sophisticates,
When he became hard-boiled.

Then, pleasures quickly palling,
"All's hollow," he did vow,
And so his friends are calling
That chap a Freud egg now.

WHAT OTHERS THINK ABOUT IT

AMENITIES IN THE SENATE
[Chicago Tribune]

The United States Senate has been known as the best club in the world. That was its distinction after it had begun to doubt that it was the most dignified deliberative body. Even the newer renown is fading out and nowadays the Conscript Fathers can feel that they are just as much protected by the amenities of life as Moran gangsters would be in cutting into Capone territory.

They enjoyed raiding letter files to discover what they could turn up of a confidential nature embarrassing to witness-stand victims confronted with their pilfered personal belongings, but it is something of a different color when their own desks are ransacked by unknown hands. Disconcerting lists of names must be suppressed to keep the statesmen themselves from pain. Two Senators have lunch together and at the next sitting of the chamber one turns the other up as having intimated he could get a Federal job if he voted to confirm a nomination to office.

The Conscript Fathers have become stool pigeons by choice, moralists who find that to be truly good they must abrogate the normal decencies of life. Presently when one Senator sees another he will climb a tree and yell for help.

ANOTHER BLOW AT EQUALITY
[San Francisco Chronicle]

However storms may rage over census figures Director William Steuart makes one report that will invite little controversy. He says that women are better enumerators than men.

Of course they are. We are not ready to concede that this is due to any innate inferiority of the male. Rather it is due to the rigid training of the women throughout their natural lives.

Methodically counting the people in a city block should come easy to the mind that has practiced itself to take a single glance at an afternoon reception and be able to report immediately just how many last season's hats were there.

Women are trained counters. If you don't think so just notice how deftly any woman can count up her bridge score or count down her golf score.

ADVERTISING THE REDS
[Baltimore Sun]

Representative Snell's resolution for the investigation of Communist propaganda in the United States is one of those "fat" legislative moves like the resolution to send the Gold-Star Mothers abroad. It is superficially unexceptional in motive. Few will lift their voices against it. It will probably get all the votes it needs. Yet it is entirely unnecessary. This country is not threatened by the Reds. And one who believes that that little knot of cruel fanatics, who have imposed their deadly tyranny upon the Russian peasants, can put it to work in free and happy America has another guess coming. Our local police can take care of the few foolish Communists we have in our midst. We need no glorification of them by a "national investigation."

NOT THE COOLIDGIAN WAY
[Philadelphia Inquirer]

From comment in Los Angeles papers we gather that Mr. Coolidge didn't make a very great impression on the klieg light aristocracy. And this, when everything is considered, doesn't seem surprising. Mr. Coolidge apparently is not of the temperament to sock somebody in the jaw in a public restaurant or tear through street intersections against the red light at sixty miles an hour with the muffler cutout wide open.

CHOOSING YOUR CAREER

XIV
BY LOUIS BROMFIELD

[Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.]

[Louis Bromfield is one of the best-known younger novelists. His first novel, "Green Bay Tree," created a sensation. His "Early Autumn" received the Pulitzer Prize for the best novel of 1926. Mr. Bromfield was educated at Cornell and Columbia.]

Those of you who are thinking of taking up professional writing as a career should keep that single purpose in mind and concentrate with such a goal as your objective. If you know what you want to do, and then do it, in spite of handicaps and discouragements, you have a better chance of gaining success than if you scatter your energies and talents. Such a formula applies with as much force to any profession and business as it does to writing.

You will need to be a person of education to succeed as a writer. That doesn't mean that you should have a college degree. If you have imagination, the knowledge of how to use words, feeling in expression and the benefits derived from wide reading and broad contacts with your fellows, you can consider that you have the educational equipment a writer needs.

Always remember that the more you know about the world, its peoples, its customs, about politics, economics, history and philosophy, the better you will be as a writer. Such knowledge can be ultimately translated into money if you are contemplating earning your living with your pen or typewriter.

If you feel an intense urge to write creative material it would be well for you to start in as a newspaper reporter. Such experience will teach you how to use words properly and effectively, how to condense, how to stress the important and dismiss the trivial. From it you should obtain a sound knowledge of values as well as excellent training in writing.

As a reporter, you will meet a wide variety of types. Such human contacts are of high value to the writer in newspaper work and later on in the creative field, if that goal is reached. All experience should be grist to your mill. Be spongelike in absorbing everything.

But whether or not you do newspaper work in the beginning, you would be wise to find a way of earning a living without depending on your earnings in the literary field exclusively. Rewards are meager and most uncertain for the tyro. That is why it is best to have a job, unless you have private means, until you show promise and talent as a writer.

You should have confidence in yourself and not be discouraged easily by rejection slips. Most creative writers have had a full quota of them in the early stages of their careers. You have to reconcile yourself, in most cases, to frequent discouragement and to hard, plodding work before your writings are sought by editors and publishers. It is very often grinding and punishing work to finish a creative piece to your own satisfaction.

Always submit neat-appearing manuscript. Careless and sloppy copy prejudices an editor in most cases. Use extreme care in selecting your plots, if you are trying your hand at fiction and strive to find the right market for your story. Material that suits one magazine will not fit the policy of another. Above all, if you have the creative urge and the ability to write, don't surrender in the face of rejections.

You may find a sale for material that you regard below the standard you have set for yourself. It may prove profitable work. But don't let it divert you from the path you have mapped out. The longer you stick to such work the harder it will be for you to break away. Make sacrifices, if necessary, to do the things you want to do.

Study yourself so as to know what field of writing best suits your talents. You may not possess creative ability and still earn even more than a comfortable living as a writer. Editorial and special article writers command high salaries on newspaper and magazine staffs. Capable critics and reporters are well paid. There are many openings for those of you who can write what you see and hear, or have analytical ability along with that of facile and trenchant expression.

You will need well-developed creative powers, in addition to writing talent of high order, if you are to write successful novels, short stories or plays. Those of you who succeed as fiction writers will have an earning capacity as great as that of big corporation executives. Scores of writers today have incomes of $100,000 or more a year.

With the wider and constantly growing distribution of books and magazines and the demands of the theater and motion pictures, the successful author can earn great sums. He, or she, who qualifies, however, needs exceptional talent and oftentimes to serve a hard apprenticeship before reaping substantial rewards.

Competition Suggested

LOS ANGELES, May 21.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Who were the 100 most important people to Los Angeles in the 1920 census?

In the 1930 census, who were the 100 most important people to Los Angeles?

Except for reasons of death, what names could rightly appear on both lists?

Why?

Seems to me that here is the material for an interesting feature discussion by The Times—to hold people's attention for a week or so.

The test of "importance" could well be: What 100 people (men and women) could Los Angeles least afford to lose forever?

Offhand, you and I can probably name forty to fifty people without whom Los Angeles might be in a bad way. That is, those forty to fifty people are actually necessary to the well-being of Los Angeles. But can you and I name the full 100 whose presence, influence, ability and whatnot are supremely necessary? I cannot.

EDWARD ST. GEORGE.

Two Famous Voyages

LOS ANGELES, May 22.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The 20th inst. was the third anniversary of Col. Lindbergh's epochal airplane flight across the Atlantic and the newspapers gave prominence to the mention of the fact, which was the proper thing to do.

The 20th of May is also the anniversary of another triumph of navigation which in its time was as important as the Lindbergh triumph and may properly be recalled at this time. I refer to the first voyage across the Atlantic by a boat propelled by steam and this accomplishment was performed under the American flag.

The vessel was the Savannah, built at New York by Francis Pickett. It was of 300 tons burden and was still on the stocks when one William Scarborough, a wealthy merchant of Savannah, Ga., bought her as she stood. The ship had a full storage capacity of seventy-five tons of coal and twenty-five cords of wood and her wheels were so constructed as to be removable in rough and stormy weather. She was launched August 23, 1818, and her first outside voyage was from New York to Savannah on March 28, 1819. Stephen Vail of Morristown, N. J., furnished her engines. Savannah was reached on Tuesday, April 6.

The Savannah started to cross the Atlantic on May 20, 1819, but she did not reach the high seas until the 25th. June 16 she sighted the Irish coast. On June 20 the wheels were shipped and the sails furled and she came to anchor off Liverpool.

WHERE CAN I LEARN
Swimming?

BY LOUISE L. TEMPLE

[Prepared in co-operation with the Los Angeles evening high schools. Questions concerning free evening classes will be answered if stamped addressed envelope is inclosed. Address Louise L. Temple, care of The Times.]

Instruction in swimming is given free by four of the evening public schools, but a charge of 15 cents to 20 cents is made at each lesson for admission to the plunge and use of towel and suit. In case of crowded classes the student simply has to put his name on a waiting list.

Free swimming instruction is offered, 7 to 9 p.m., by these schools: Los Angeles, 4600 Country Club Drive, Friday; Metropolitan, 234 West Venice, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday; Rils, 139 West Sixty-ninth street, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday; Venice, Walgrove avenue and Venice Boulevard, Tuesday.

With Sorrow Overflowing Fast

Why do you let me wait, dejected,
Knowing I need you—only you?
Why is my every plea rejected?
What in the world am I going to do?

Long have I lived in sodden sorrow,
Praying you'd soon be with me here;
Waiting that oft-delayed tomorrow,
Hoping each moment that you'd appear.

Come, ere this tide of woe surrounds me,
Don't keep me waiting week on week;
Hurry before the water drowns me—
Plumber, please come and mend that leak.
—[London Opinion.

Er, Needs Breaking?

"My good man, you had better take the street car home."

"Sh' no ushe. Wife wouldn't let me keep it in the houshe."

A Form of Ethics For The Dental Profession

By DR. PAINLESS PARKER
Founder of the E. R. PARKER SYSTEM

Neglect of the people is one most important questions anything which conceals about health is of criminal.

I am opposed to any form of ethics that keeps people ignorant of the dangers of infected teeth.

Under these new ethics, the great masses are now getting good dentistry, while under the old style only the favored few knew about it and could afford it.

There are 31 dental offices in the United States and Canada where the E. R. Parker System is used. Collectively, dentists using this System have the largest dental practice in the world.

You are invited to visit the office in this city where the E. R. Parker System is used. Examination is always free.

BAN ON MEXICO CALLED INSULT

J. F. J. Archibald Criticises Action of Congress

Says Measure Will Mean Loss to Millions

Legislation on Aviation Accorded Praise

Characterizing the measure intended to ban needed Mexican labor from crossing the border as "one of the most gratuitous insults ever offered a friendly neighbor," James F. J. Archibald, war correspondent and veteran of nineteen campaigns, criticised the action of Congress on his arrival in Los Angeles to spend the summer.

JAMES F. J. ARCHIBALD

"No better example of the selfish spirit among some of our law-makers in Washington can be cited than that recently introduced to prohibit Mexicans crossing the border," Archibald said, "to obtain employment during the season of the year when such labor is of vital necessity to the growers of the border States.

WILL MEAN LOSS

"If the measure to exclude labor, so vitally needed at harvest time in the States bordering on our southern line, especially California, had included other countries it would at least have had the semblance of a dignified effort to control immigration, but to have named Mexico only makes it nothing more or less than the effort of a selfish politician to win votes at the expense of the interested localities.

"The Department of Labor recently proved that there is not enough American labor to take care of the growers' needs and that the American unemployed will not do the work when it is offered them. Its report shows that of a known unemployed of 35,000, only about twenty were willing to take up this work. If this measure should pass it would mean the loss of millions to all classes of the American people, not merely losses to the growers."

Referring to the fate of aviation during the present session of Congress, Archibald declared it has had its full share of attention and has fared nicely. The recent enactment of the bill introduced by Representative Watres of Pennsylvania, he said, will do more for aviation than any measure that has ever gone to the President for his signature.

AVIATION AIDED

"The Watres measure is to aviation what the merchant marine measure is to shipping," he said. "It provides that the Postmaster-General may give contracts to any air line, passenger or mail, flying over regular routes at a rate not to exceed $1.25 per plane mile flown. It also does away with the expensive poundage rates. In fact, it provides for aviation exactly the same service now provided by the railroads.

FITTS USES AIRPLANE TO KEEP DATES

He Speaks at Torrance to Churchmen; Then Hops 300 Miles to Hollister

Following an address in the First Methodist Episcopal Church at Torrance yesterday, Dist.-Atty. Fitts, Republican candidate for Governor, speeded back to Los Angeles where, at Clover Field he hopped into a plane for Hollister, more than 300 miles away.

Due in Hollister at 3 p.m., Fitts was but a few minutes late. Following an address before the Elks' Club of Hollister, the candidate went on to Salinas and Gilroy, and then on to San Jose for the principal meeting of the day.

Fitts made the air leg of his journey in the single-motored ship of William A. Clark. The plane will be used extensively by Fitts during his campaign. His name has been enblazoned in huge letters on the lower wings of the craft.

COUPLE MARRIED FIFTY YEARS

Family Assembles for Celebration

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Sickner and Golden Wedding Cake

SURROUNDED by their four children and three grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Sickner yesterday celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at their home, 1226 Wilshire Boulevard.

Mr. and Mrs. Sickner were married at Wales, N. Y., culminating a romance that began at Lima Academy, Genesee, where both attended. In 1881 they moved to Wichita, Kan., where Mr. Sickner became known as "The Music Master" for his achievements as professor of music at Friends University and Fairmount College. During their residence in Wichita he established the Sickner Conservatory of Music.

The couple came to Los Angeles in 1913, Mr. Sickner becoming financial secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association and serving until 1923, when he retired. He is a Knight Templar, and also is known as a sportsman, being a member of the Tuna Club. Mrs. Sickner has been active in the affairs of Emmanuel Church, the McKinley and Strickland homes for boys and the Needlework Guild.

The children who attended yesterday's celebration are Paul B. Sickner, Mrs. R. J. Villin, Mrs. L. T. Omey and Mrs. G. D. Henshaw.

Acreage Sought for Playground

Application by the Playground and Recreation Commission for the use of 8.84 acres of land lying at the west end of Arroyo Seco Park, near Avenue 60 bridge, for the establishment of a playground, baseball diamond and archery course, has been filed by the Park Commission pending settlement of the city's title to the tract in the courts.

When the title is assured the commission is willing to grant the request, according to the members.

MAN'S DEATH ATTRIBUTED TO BAD FOOD

Fatal Illness Attacks Cafe Diner After Meal of Mushrooms

Poisoning from a repast of veal and mushrooms at a downtown cafe is believed by police to have caused the death early yesterday morning of Thomas McGlone, 45 years of age, of 729 South Union avenue. His companion at the Saturday-evening meal, Miss Ethel Byers, is seriously ill in care of a nurse at her home at 2600 West Eighth street, according to Detective Lieutenant Massey of the Georgia-street division.

The body of McGlone was removed to the County Morgue where a post-mortem examination will be made in an effort to determine the exact cause of death. Possible police action in the case will depend upon the outcome of this inquiry.

Both McGlone and Miss Byers became ill about the same time, several hours after the asserted supper, Massey reported. Private physicians were summoned. Byers before his death, shortly after midnight, declared, according to Massey, that he believed that the mushrooms he had eaten were the cause of his sudden illness.

Massey declared that the case had been reported to the city health authorities and that they would make an investigation today.

COLLEGE WILL TEACH SCIENTIFIC GARDENING

At the direction of the park board the Los Angeles Junior College is to be furnished training plans for landscaping work for a two-year course in scientific gardening. The park department's apprentice gardener system with a chart showing positions and salaries paid also is to be furnished.

A bad lighting arrangement.

Good lighting arrangements benefit everyone.

What about the Lighting Question In YOUR Home?

• DESPITE the fact that much of our time for rest, recreation and study is spent in the home under artificial light, little attention is usually paid to proper lighting methods.

Good lighting practice demands that light be adequate, yet restful; that sources be hidden from the direct line of the eyes; that lighting units be placed to bring light just where it's needed; that glare and gloom be eliminated.

Living room, dining room—each room in the home—has its own standard of good lighting.

Good home lighting pays. It prevents eyestrain and nerve strain, minimizes accidents, and increases comfort and attractiveness.

TWO FILM COMPANIES IN MERGER

Metropolitan Joins Hands With Educational in Deal Involving $3,000,000

Consolidation of the producing interests of two Hollywood studios was announced yesterday by Charles Christie, president of Metropolitan studios, and E. W. Hammons, president of Educational Film Exchanges, Inc., of New York and head of Educational Studios.

"The consolidation of operations involves studio properties valued at $3,000,000 and will result in production of a schedule of short talking comedies in excess of $2,000,000, which will be distributed by Educational Film Exchanges," says their statement released locally.

"The operating and producing affairs of the two studios will be under the management of an operating and a producing company. Mr. Hammons is president of both units. Mr. Christie is vice-president, in charge of the operating company. Al Christie is vice-president of the producing organization. William S. Holman, general manager of Metropolitan, will retain his present post as will E. H. Allen, general manager of Educational.

"Affiliation of the Christie Brothers with Educational Film Exchanges, Inc., resumes business relations that had existed for seven years until they were interrupted three years ago when the Christie product was distributed by Paramount.

"Metropolitan Studios will remain the headquarters for several leading producers, including Harold Lloyd Productions, Caddo Productions, Sonoart, Robert C. Bruce, Halperin Productions and others. The status of these companies is in no way changed."

Whispers in the Wings

BY MURIEL BABCOCK

THERE is talk, and strong talk, of the appearance of Glenn Hunter shortly in a new play by H. H. Van Loan, called, of all things, "Forward March."

Mr. Van Loan has written such a play and it is being read pretty generally by the local managers. One report puts it into the Belasco this fall and another into the Biltmore following "Strictly Dishonorable."

Glenn Hunter, of course, is the actor who made "Merton of the Movies" a byword through the country. He is usually associated with roles pretty much adolescent in type, although last year he tried the experiment, in New York, of growing up. There is nothing adolescent about the part in this new play. Hunter has a character which is sophisticated, cynical and reckless, first as a lieutenant in the French Foreign Legion and again as a crook in New York. Hunter, in town, is a guest at the James Cruze home.

"Little Show" Coming

Depending mostly on hot weather in Chicago is the arrival of "The Little Show" in Los Angeles. If the weather in the Middle West stays pleasant and people keeping going to the theater, "The Little Show" may stay there all summer, arriving here about September.

When it does arrive, Fred Allen, that droll fellow with the fantastic vocabulary, will be in the cast, and probably, too, his sidekick, Clifton Webb. Some of th eperformers are being recruited locally, among them Earl Hampton, Walter Craig, Mary Hutchinson, John Valentine and Horace Taylor, Jr.

It will probably be a Mason show. It is booked into the Curran in San Francisco.

"Rebound" Getting Under Way

Work on "Rebound," the Donald Ogden Stewart comedy in which Ina Claire is appearing for Messrs. Edward Belasco and Homer Curran, is progressing at a fair gait, although with little publicity fanfare.

The latest is that Constance Collier is staging and directing the play and that Lily Cahill and Robert Williams will be in the cast which Miss Claire heads. Miss Collier, of course, is one of the best-known figures in today's theater, particularly in London, whence she comes.

Milton Charles Hurt

Milton Charles, Paramount organist, and Tom Waring, brother of Fred Waring of "Rah Rah Daze," were badly shaken up in an automobile crash in Los Angeles last evening, when the car in which they were riding was hit by another. They were not seriously hurt, although unable to proceed to the theater where both are on the current program. Waring is singing the new tune, popularized in "Rah Rah Daze," called "So Beats My Heart."

New Writers' Bill

The Writers' Club will offer a varied bill of one-act plays at the clubhouse on Sunset Boulevard, Wednesday and Thursday nights. There will be two comedies, a tragedy and a romance presented. Sarah Padden will portray a woman of the wild, mountain people of the Southwest in a drama by Sada Cowan, entitled, "Other Men's Shoes." The other players in the cast are George Le Guere, Dorothea Wolbert and Ben Hewlett. James Seymour staged the piece.

Maria Rodda offers a romantic playlet, "The Prince Sits Out the Dance," with Philip Strange, Flora Bramley, Harold Howard and Kenneth Kendall as the players and Kenneth Thomson as director.

"The Simple Soul," a comedy by Lee Anderson, presented by Matt Moore, will be played by Aileen Pringle, Ilka Chase and Mr. Moore, and the entertainment will close with another comedy, "The Little Liberty," by Harold Brighouse, in which Franklin Pangborn, Lillian Rich, Jean Rene, Ruth Wayne and Tom O'Brien will appear. The piece has been directed by Lionel Belmore.

Jessie Arnold is general stage director.

Here are Some New York Notes

Several producers are trying to tempt Lenore Ulric with manuscripts, for Miss Ulric's long service as a Belasco star established her beyond question as someone who matters at the box office. Mr. Woods is said to have something in mind for her and the Shuberts would like to have her for a play called "Keys to Paradise."

Katherine Cornell, spending the first half of the season atour, will come along with a new play in January or February. There is a rumor that it may be "L'Aiglon."

They didn't like "Heads Up" at all in London. It lasted two weeks.

Mr. Ziegfeld admits that his summer "Follies" is off, too, and that probably means January.

Lawrence Leslie, who sounds like just the man, will take over Spencer Tracy's part in "The Last Mile" a week hence. Mr. Tracy will go to Hollywood and pictures.

"Dover Road" to Open Tonight at Mason Theater

Maurice Colbourne, Barry Jones and their London company will commence their second week at the Mason Theater tonight by presenting A. A. Milne's comedy romance, "The Dover Road." This play will be repeated Tuesday evening and twice on Wednesday.

The last half of the current week will be devoted to a revival of Oscar Wilde's comedy, "The Importance of Being Earnest." It is a far cry from the keen satire of Shaw to the whimsical sentiment of Milne and the brilliant epigrams of Wilde, but both plays have a cosmopolitan appeal that insures their popularity, it is said.

Local Girl Makes Stage Debut

Doris Packer

Has been playing in the eastern theater for four years, but will appear professionally in Los Angeles for the first time tonight in "Wound Stripes" at the Civic Repertory Theater in Hollywood.

NEW SLEUTH TYPE SEEN IN PICTURE

Divorce Detective Plays Important Part in First National Flm

A new species of detective is introduced in the First National picture, "Sweethearts and Wives," which starts today at Warner Brothers' Theater in Hollywood for a week's run.

This is the divorce detective. He is a Sherlock Holmes who devotes his sleuthing ability to digging up facts to aid the divorce lawyer.

Clive Brook creates this character in the picture. His assignment takes him to a lonely inn near Le Touquet in the south of France. Here, he meets his match in the form of a French maid. Billie Dove is the French maid.

Clarence Badger directed. Sidney Blackmer appears opposite the star and others in the cast include Leila Hyams, Crauford Kent and John Loder.

Resemblance of Notables Fools Autograph Fan

Such is fame!

Two talented young women, each figuring prominently in the entertainment limelight, are being mistaken for each other frequently at the Hollywood gathering places these days.

RUTH CHATTERTON

One is Ruth Chatterton, noted stage and screen star, who is appearing in Paramount and other film productions; the other is Margaret Perry, now playing the leading feminine role in the Brock Pemberton stage comedy success, "Strickly Dishonorable" at the Biltmore Theater.

Miss Perry was approached the other day when leaving a luncheon which was given in her honor at the Embassy Club in Hollywood by an autograph hunter, a familiar species of human being present at each gathering of note in the film capital.

"Oh, Miss Chatterton," said the fan, "won't you give me your autograph?"

"With pleasure," came the ready reply. And the youthful actress wrote the following:

"Oh, Miss Chatterton. Yours, approximately, Margaret Perry."

MARGARET PERRY

Author Changes Title of Play

In writing "Elizabeth Sleeps Out," the farce comedy which the Henry Duffy Players are now presenting at the President, Leslie Howard has taken as a background the staid and respectable atmosphere of an old brownstone mansion on Murray Hill. In the household are two elderly spinsters, their childhood governess and a youthful niece.

"I called the play 'Murray Hill' originally and it was produced in New York under that title," says Howard, who varies his playwriting by acting and who is now starring in the East in "Berkeley Square." "However, I changed it later."

In the cast at the President are Marian Lord, Lurene Tuttle, Paul McGrath, Bertha Creighton, Zeffie Tilbury and others.

ALLAN IN TEXAS

Hugh Allan, juvenile player who recently completed a role in "Holiday," is now in Houston, Tex., on a combined business and pleasure trip. Allan's future releases, in addition to "Holiday," will include "Aloha," "Silence is Golden" and "The Royal Flush."

COLORFUL PREMIERE PLANNED

Notables of Screen and Stage to Attend Opening of "Hell's Angels"

Film and stage stars in greater numbers than have ever attended a premiere in recent years are expected to don their festive garb Tuesday night for the first showing anywhere of Howard Hughes's "Hell's Angels", which makes its debut with Sid Grauman as the official entertainer in Grauman's Chinese Theater.

Multiple reasons are given for this.

Primarily, Hughes, the young producer, has startled the industry with his $4,000,000 expenditure on the picture. Secondly, the return of Sid Grauman to the theater world is an extremely powerful magnet, and in the third place, the fact that Grauman's Chinese will have its first prologue since "The Broadway Melody" a year ago, has created an unusual interest.

A fourth reason is that the premiere marks the return of Ben Lyon to the screen after an absence of many months, and also marks the debut of Jean Harlow in the chief feminine role.

In anticipation of the event, Hollywood is already gayly festooned and has practically declared a night of carnival for the affair in tribute to the return of one of her favorite sons, Sid Grauman.

"BIG POND" DUE FRIDAY AT ARTISTS

Maurice Chevalier Stars in Adaptation of Popular Stage Play

Maurice Chevalier in his latest picture, "The Big Pond," will start at the United Artists Theater Friday morning, following the current attraction, "One Romantic Night," featuring Lillian Gish.

"The Big Pond" is a well-known stage play. It presents the international star in an entirely new role. For the first time the hero of "Innocents of Paris" and "The Love Parade" is seen as a modern hero in a modern story. How he crashes American business and wins the heart of an American girl provides a new kind of Chevalier comedy, it is said. Claudette Colbert is the girl.

Light Traces Shakespeare's Family Tree

William Shakespeare's grandfather was a nameless Moslem shepherd, who, on becoming Christianised, disposed of his flocks at the nearest seaport and fled from Turkey to England in order to keep from being beheaded, according to Alexander Light, Shakespearean actor and producer. Light will present a program of vaudeville a la Shakespeare in a series of matinees next week at the Ambassador Theater.

In some of the oriental countries there are poets extremely poor but respected as learned men, who make their living by composing and singing poetry extemporaneously for anyone they meet. These men are known in the eastern countries as sheiks, but in English the pronunciation would be more clearly expressed by the letters "shaighk."

In Mr. Light's opinion, the Turk, when he reached England and found it necessary to adopt a name, chose the word "Shaighk" and then, in order to escape detection, added the word "spear," as the oriental post invariably carried a spear in order to protect himself from the dogs and the children on the street who might annoy him.

Shaighkspear, or Shakespeare, as he afterward became known, later married an English girl, whose name is not known. His son, John, however, is mentioned in records of the time.

Assisting Mr. Light in his Shakespearean presentations next week will be members of his Louysinian Club, who are being trained for the performances, which are scheduled for five days starting Sunday. Outstanding selections will be given, including tragic and comic scenes from "Hamlet," "The Merchant of Venice," "Twelfth Night," "Macbeth," "Richard the Third" and "Julius Caesar."

LAZARUS OUTLINES THEATER SITUATION

Television is the next medium of entertainment to be offered the theater-going public, according to S. M. Lazarus, managing director of the Million Dollar Theater, who has returned from a six week's tour of the country. During his travels Lazarus interviewed a number of theater owners of both large and small houses and reports that where the exhibitors had fought shy of radio and the talkies, they are now preparing to annex Television as soon as the sponsors of this latest invention are ready to release it.

The plans of the president of the Lazarus-Vinnicof chain are for standard vaudeville acts in addition to the showing of the better type of screen productions at the Million Dollar. Starting Thursday Nelly Fernandez, Mexican prima donna, will be seen on the stage with a "Rio Grande Revue," in addition to four other headline attractions.

Lardner Farce Presented to Filled House

Hollywood had its first view Saturday evening of "June Moon," Ring Lardner and George S. Kaufman's merry comedy about a songwriter from Schenectady, N. Y., when that piece arrived at the Hollywood Playhouse.

To be sure, "June Moon" had quite a run, a few weeks hence, at the Belasco Theater, but to judge from its reception Saturday at the Playhouse, there were several folk then enjoying their first opportunity to see it.

The theater was filled, even to the boxes. The applause was hearty and the final curtain found members of the cast taking a goodly number of bows.

As most people about town know by this time, this is the play in which Cleve Moore, brother of Colleen, enacts the role of the boy lyric writer, whose first song is a smash hit and who finds himself in somewhat of a romantic tangle when two girls decide they want him as a husband.

An excellent piece of craftsmanship from the standpoint of writing, "June Moon" makes its appeal to those who enjoy being "in the know" with regard to Broadway and Tin Pan Alley. It is witty, sophisticated, human and—funny, yet at the same time bitterly caustic.

One of the ranking Broadway hits of the season, one of the best comedies of the year, "June Moon" should be on the list of all playgoers. If you missed it at the Belasco, be sure and drop around to the Hollywood Playhouse. George Holland, who presents it locally, through arrangement with Sam H. Harris, has assembled a fine cast. Cleve Moore and Nancy Dover share the romantic leads. Edith Van Cleve, James Spottswood, Murray Smith have good parts. It's a good show.

New Silhouette Device Hailed

A chemically treated velvet cloth inserted between the lens and reflector of the camera will be the means of saving thousands of dollars to Hollywood film producers, according to Mel Brown, R.-K.-O. director. He has perfected a device whereby silhouette photographs of members of the cast can now be taken by the ordinary camera.

According to Brown, his invention will eliminate the necessity of taking the usual negative picture and then having to devote at least one-half hour on each individual photographed, in the developing room, before the silhouette effect is obtained.

Studios have heretofore dispensed with silhouette figures in still pictures since the time and expense involved made their cost too prohibitive for disposition to exhibitors.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Too Soiled

It is really a saving on linens and clothing not to let them get too soiled before laundering. The hard rubbing is what wears them out and it also wears out the laundress as well.

The Cellar in Summer

Remember, the ground floor of your house will be cool if there is a good circulation of air in your cellar. Two windows on opposite sides of the cellar should be left open, but be sure they are screened.

A Gift Drawer

It is nice to have a gift drawer in your home if you have plenty of space. In th's may be put any bargains you pick up from time to time and when you need something in a hurry, there is your prize or gift just waiting for the opportunity.

A Tip for the Gardener

If you have a garden, keep a notebook and jot down the dates of your plantings and any other helpful data learned. It ill be a splendid aid next year.

Health and Diet
ADVICE
by DR. FRANK McCOY
Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

TIS

The name of this disease is spoken as if it were "flea-bite-us," however, it has nothing to do with fleas, but refers to a serious inflammation of a vein. The veins are more easily injured by inflammation than the arteries, and they readily go through all the different stages of infection which the tissues near them are going through.

A very common cause of phlebitis is a wound or an abscess close to a vein. As the toxic material from the injury soaks through the tissues and reaches the vein it irritates the walls and interferes with the proper nourishment of the vein. As this toxic material further irritates, it may penetrate to the inner surface of the vein and finally this delicate inner lining becomes so roughened that as the blood flows past it lays down layer after layer of coagulated blood. Thus a clot of blood is built at the point of irritation. This blood clot tends to block the free flow of the other blood flowing along the veins and if it happens in one of the smaller veins, the blood is shunted to one of the other canals exactly as an automobiles makes a detour in traffic. But if one of the larger, more important veins is flooded with a clot of blood the condition is serious and the patient must do everything possible to get well. The main danger is that the clot may be carried to vital parts in the body where it would cause serious trouble.

While phlebitis is usually caused as I have just described to you, it may follow such diseases as typhoid fever, tonsillitis, erysipelas, dysentary, appendicitis, scarlet fever, influenza, tuberculosis, pneumonia and other diseases where there is a large quantity of pus.

It is a good plan for the phlebitis patient to take a fruit-juice fast. This will bring about the absorption of the clot in the most satisfactory manner. Usually the body can accomplish the absorption within a week or ten days, although in cases of long-standing phlebitis, or with patients who have had it before, the cure may take longer. Most doctors advise their patients that there is considerable danger attendant upon the clots growing smaller, and they think that it is likely to become loosened and to circulate in the body, but in my experience in hundreds of cases of this disease it has been my actual observation that in not one single case did this happen. On the contrary, all of the cases which followed the fasting regime had the satisfaction of a complete cure, with the inflammation entirely removed, the blood clot absorbed, and the blood once more flowing freely through the vein in its accustomed way.

The localized treatment to the affected vein should consist of several daily applications of hot moist towels, which are wrung out and placed over the painful area. If you are near a doctor with a therapeutic light, treatments may be taken with it with good results. If the trouble is in the leg, then a hot water bottle should be placed against the foot, if the trouble is in the arm, then it should be put against the hand.

The patient should rest in bed, keeping quiet until the swelling has gone down and the pain has left the parts. Once the cure is established it is very important that the patient learn how to live correctly so that his blood will no longer contain the material to furnish another inflammatory condition in the vein. The fundamental causes of this disease are: Eating food in wrong combinations and not taking enough exercise. Any permanent cure will depend on correcting these two mistakes, substituting good habits of both eating and exercising which will bring about better health.

Your Baby and Mine
by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

This department offers instruction on weaning and feeding the child from 4 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, colds, colic, pulling for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training to cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, fatigue, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, hives, water, rupture, stove and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

LET YOUR CHILDREN HAVE A GARDEN

Both flower and vegetable gardens represent for the gardener a vast amount of time, thought and hard work. Few things are so calculated to anger him as for some thoughtless child to run across his weak and struggling plants.

Children do love flowers but they cannot always discriminate between the flowers they are allowed to pick and those which are not ready for picking or cannot be picked. Neither are they aware of the damage that can be done by a wandering foot.

TURN GARDENER

There is one fairly certain method of teaching the child an appreciation and knowledge of plants. Give the child a plot of ground for his very own. Let him plant seeds, and water and hoe and weed; let him know all the trembling uncertainty of whether red radishes will really grow from those round black seeds, or whether gay flowers, just like the pictures on the package, will arise from this plot of black earth.

Mrs. P. P. feels that gardens are also an outlet for excess energy. She writes "I have three healthy, happy children and your articles have been a great help in making and keeping them so! But they are oh, so active, and one thing I have found valuable in keeping them busy is a garden. A sizable square of ground in which they can dig and plant to their heart's content. It is also a gorgeous place to make mud pies, rivers, lakes and so on. If they get dirty it washes off, and barring accidents they can usually wear their clean afternoon dresses the next morning."

CHILDREN LOVE GARDENING

There are few desires so strong in all of us as the itch to get our fingers in dirt. All children adore it and it is a real and irreparable deprivation if they live where no dirt or grass is available or where lawns are so beautifully sodded and landscaped that not one spot can be spared for the mutilation to which the children would subject it.

Sand is one play material necessary to any outdoor playground but cannot fulfill all the child's needs as nothing grows in it. He can build elaborate castles today and they are flattened out tomorrow, but the care and energy he expends on his earth spot will reward him with flowers and vegetables that are doubly precious because he grew them.

If the parent shows an interest in this awkward garden, making it clear that only weeds are to be sacrificed and that every growing plant be given the most tender care, she has done a great deal to instill in the child an appreciation for the worth of the products of his labors. He will in turn shoo off any children whose vandal feet tread near the home gardens, and whose hands are stretched out for indiscriminate picking.

A Bedtime Story

NANNY'S QUICK WIT

Alas, for those whose wits are slow!
Their chance is small to live or grow.
—Nanny Meadow Mouse.

A wandering Merry Little Breeze had done Nanny and Danny Meadow Mouse a good turn. It had brought them the scent of Reddy Fox and it had this just in time. So strong was that scent that Danny and Nanny knew that Reddy was very near. They would have to hide and hide quickly. Danny was in despair. This was a strange place to him and he didn't know a single hiding place close at hand. Perhaps Nanny read this in his face. Anyway, she took to her heels and ran past Danny.

"Follow me" she squeaked.

Because he didn't know what else to do, Danny did follow her. He raced right along at her heels, wondering all the time where she was going. Straight to the foot of a certain tree she raced, Danny at her heels. This tree didn't grow quite straight out of the ground. For a little way it slanted somewhat. Up the trunk of this tree Nanny led the way.

"Where are you going?" panted Danny.

Nanny didn't stop to reply. There was a grapevine twined in this tree. Up this vine Nanny climbed and Danny kept on because he knew he could go where Nanny could go and to remain below was to be gobbled up by Reddy Fox. Up they went and presently they came to a queer thing up there in that tree. At least Danny thought it was queer. It was a tin oil can—a gallon can with a round opening in one end. A little branch passed this opening. Nanny climbed up on this branch and popped into that opening. Danny followed. It was dark inside, but right away Danny discovered that there was a comfortable bed of dry grass there.

"W-what place is this?" panted Danny.

"A safe place," squeaked Nanny. "It's our new home. This is where we are going to live."

"I thought you didn't have a home,' said Danny. "You said you were trying to decide whether to live in the bushes or out on the Green Meadows."

"So I was, Danny, so I was," replied Nanny. "You see, I hadn't thought of this place as a home.

"He's looking up here with the hungriest look in his eyes"

No, sir, I hadn't thought of it as a home. This old can was over on the Green Meadows when I first found it and I thought then it would make a wonderful home if only you were with me. Now I think just the same thing. You are with me and it would make a wonderful home. Just peep outside and look down."

Danny did as he was told. He poked his head out of the round opening and looked down. Then he drew back hurriedly. "He's there!" whispered Danny.

"Who is there?" inquired Nanny, pretending not to know.

"Reddy Fox," replied Danny. "He's looking up here with the hungriest look in his eyes."

Nanny chuckled. "We've got the finest home we've ever had, Danny Meadow Mouse," said she. "If this was on the ground, we should be quite safe inside it, for Reddy Fox tried to get me in it when it was on the ground. He couldn't. But he might have caught me by laying in wait outside until I had to come out. Up here we are quite safe, because always before we go down on the ground we can look all around. Nobody can get us up here. It's the safest place in all the Great World for us. We'll bring up a lot of grass and make the finest kind of a bed. Oh, Danny, I'm so glad you found me!"

"So am I," replied Danny in that squeaky little voice of his.

Trousers Girl in Court Today

Pauline Williams, 18-year-old Texas girl, arrested for vagrancy less than twenty-four hours after she arrived in Los Angeles, will appear before Municipal Judge MacCoy today for trial. She was wearing a shirt and trousers at the time of her arrest at First and Main streets. She told Policewoman Anna Hamilton she had only one dress and that was in the laundry.

Her $100 bail, fixed by Judge MacCoy when she appeared for arraignment last week, was posted by a "buddy" of her cousin, Earl Williams, killed in France during the World War, court records show. She is at the home of a matron of the County Jail pending trial today.

Requiem mass will be said at the Holy Name Church at 9 o'clock. The body will be removed to Mexico at a later date for interment.

Contractors of State Told to Renew Licenses

With the deadline for renewal of contractors' and subcontractors' licenses drawing near, James F. Collins, director of the State Department of Professional and Vocational Standards and Registrar of Contractors, yesterday issued a second call to California's 20,000 contractors and subcontractors already registered and licensed since the license law went into effect on August 14, 1929, to make their applications immediately.

Director Collins pointed out that all contractors who have been licensed must file applications for renewal for the fiscal year, beginning July 1, next. All such applications, he said, must be filed not later than June 30.

To facilitate issuing license certificates for 1930-1931, contractors, when furnished with their original licenses, were given renewal application blanks. The renewal blanks do not require the signature of a notary public, Registrar Collins explains. The filled-out blank and fee of $5 should be mailed to the Registrar of Contractors, Sacramento.

Viaduct Will be Dedicated

The Glendale-Hyperion viaduct will be dedicated next Friday, with the American Legion in charge of the ceremonies, which will start at 9:45 a.m. The ceremonies are to be conducted under the arch which bears the inscription, "Victory Memorial."

Among those who are scheduled to speak are Mayor Porter, Supervisor Quinn, Councilman Randall, Joseph Scott, Clarence Kincaid and Homer Chalfiux, the last pair representing the Legion.

Mme. Schumann-Heink is to sing. The Fire Department Band is to play.

The bridge was completed about a year ago at a cost of $1,897,748, including damages and rights of way.

Pantages Case Appeal to be Argued Today

The appeal of Alexander Pantages, theater man, from conviction in Superior Court of having attacked Eunice Pringle, dancer, is on the calendar of Division One, District Court of Appeal, for oral arguments today, before Presiding Justice Conrey.

Pantages in briefs filed with the Appellate Court attacks the dancer's story as inherently improbable and impossible. The State in its reply brief points to Miss Pringle's story as the best answer to the attack, directing attention to almost thirty specific details declared to prove the narrative's truth.

The theater man filed his final brief last week.

CHEAP TOGS FAIL ALIMONY ARGUMENT

Mrs. Jean Scott, 4712 Oakwood street, went to Superior Judge Guerin's court attired in what she said was an 89-cent dress, in an effort to convince the judge that she ought to have alimony. Her husband, H. H. Scott, is suing for annulment on the ground that after marriage she refused to kiss him. Mrs. Scott explained that her clothing is being held for payment of a $12 hotel bill, and she thought a little alimony might help her to dress more acceptably for public appearances. Judge Guerin told Mrs. Scott she has not been married long enough to warrant alimony, but he ordered Scott to pay the hotel bill.

CHEF WYMAN'S RECIPES

Every Tuesday and Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

BEEF HASH, ENGLISH STYLE

Cut into small dice four cupfuls of roast beef, freed from grissle, but mixed with a small quantity of the fat, saute in butter one medium-sized onion, finely chopped, until a light brown in color. Sprinkle over the onion two level tablespoonfuls of flour and cook for two minutes longer, then add one cupful of the gravy from the roast beef and cook another two minutes, add the beef to the mixture and one tablespoonful of catsup and one teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce, place the mixture in a baking dish and cover it with mashed potatoes to which has been added the well-beaten yolks of two eggs, sprinkle over the top of the potatoes with fine bread crumbs and pour over a little melted butter, bake in the oven until the potatoes are well browned.

PANCAKES WITH MERINGUE

Prepare six small, thin pancakes made from a regular pancake butter, cover them with a thick raspberry jam and roll them up, place them in a slightly buttered baking dish, beat the whites of four eggs until stiff and dry, adding gradually one-fourth of a cupful of powdered sugar. Beat again until stiff and the meringue will hold its shape, cover the pancakes with the meringue, sprinkle sugar over the top, place in a slow oven and bake for twenty minutes.

FROZEN STRAWBERRY SHORT-CAKE

Wash, stem and crush two cupfuls of fresh strawberries, sweeten with three-fourths of a cupful of powdered sugar. Soak one teaspoonful of gelatine in four tablespoonfuls of cold water, dissolve it over hot water and stir it into the crushed strawberries and sugar. Place a thin layer of sponge cake in a mold or in the freezing pan of the refrigerator, when the strawberry mixture begins to thicken spread a layer of it over the cake, then add a layer of plain mousse or whipped cream, freeze for four hours, cut in squares and garnish with fresh berries.

PLAIN MOUSSE

Place two cupfuls of heavy cream in a bowl and beat it until it starts to thicken, then add four level tablespoonfuls of sugar and one teaspoonful of lemon extract, and one-eighth of a teaspoonful of salt, beat until the mixture is stiff.

Mrs. Wyman does not reply to letters, but requests for recipes are answered in the department, PRACTICAL RECIPES, published every Friday.—(All rights to reproduce reserved by A. L. Wyman.)

Victoria Cross Wearer Plays in War Films

Crouching behind a machine gun in battle scenes of a motion picture being made by Paramount is one of the heroes who won Britain's most coveted war decoration—the Victoria Cross.

He is Fred Coppins, who enlisted August 7, 1914, and fought through the war, winning the Victoria Cross for having single-handed cleaned out three German machine-gun nests in the second battle of the Aisne.

Coppins went through the war receiving only one wound and that by a strange trick of fate, from a piece of shrapnel from his own artillery.

EXPERT ISSUES GLAND WARNING

Health Officer Says Many Have Disturbances

New County Clinic Makes Treatment Possible

Obesity and Nervousness Causes Determined

Watch your glands!

This is the warning issued by Dr. J. L. Pomeroy, county health officer.

Between 10 and 20 per cent of all persons are suffering from some form of glandular disturbance, research by the new county metabolism clinic during the last few weeks has disclosed, according to a report made by Dr. Pomeroy.

"The discovery that many children in public schools show a tendency toward mental sluggishness and physical fatness or under development led to an investigation for basic causes," Dr. Pomeroy stated. "It has been found through a series of metabolism tests of certain cases that the thyroid, pituitary and adrenal glands have been much more responsible for these conditions than formerly supposed," he said. "As a measure to detect these causes at their earliest stages in order to prescribe effective treatment the county health department has created a clinic for the benefit of the public," he explained.

FEW SUCH CLINICS

The county metabolism clinic, located at the East Side Health Center at 678 South Ferris street, Belvedere district, is an innovation in the field of public health and was established in an effort to detect causes of obesity, extreme nervousness, unrest and lack of physical development of school-children who have been referred to the health department for observation. The clinic is one of the first of its kind in western United States.

Metabolism tests, as explained by Dr. N. P. Levin, chief of the division of clinics of the health department, check the activity of the thyroid and pituitary glands, the ductless glands which regulate the oxidization of food. They determine the rapidity of growth of the body by measuring the amount of oxygen a person consumes during a period of rest, he said.

RELIEF SHOWN

"High metabolism, indicating overactivity of the thyroid gland, results in nervousness, high-strung temperment, and rapid heart action," Dr. Levin said. "Records show that an appreciable percentage of the cases treated are relieved although the permanency of results in the treatment of glands in very poor condition has not yet been determined by the medical profession.

"Deficiency of the thyroid, indicated by tendency toward obesity and physical and mental sluggishness, is treated with dried thyroid gland given under the direct supervision of a physician. This method of treatment of low metabolism is found not to be permanent, a history of cases shows, but must be continued if a constant result is desired."

Early diagnosis of any suspected case of gland disturbance is urged by Dr. Pomeroy, as a cure is almost impossible when a chronic stage has been reached, he said.

"Any child with a swelling on the neck, the location of the thyroid gland, or who is too fat or too small should have immediate attention," Dr. Pomeroy concluded.

TWO DEAD AS RESULT OF FALLS

Man Injured Several Days Ago Expires While Woman Plunges From Window

Within a few hours after Lawrence Plante, 29 years of age, a musician, died yesterday morning from a fall or leap from a second-story window on the 18th inst., a similar accident caused the instant death of Mrs. Florence Elizabeth Riley, 42, of 3701 West Ninth street.

Plante, according to a report at the Coroner's office, jumped or fell from his room in a hotel at 1915 South Burlington avenue. He leaves a widow in Port Angeles, Wash., from whom he has been separated. His father is Edmond Plante, living in the same city. Police there have been notified of Plante's death.

Inquiry conducted by Detective Lieutenant Craig revealed that Mrs. Riley had been separated from her husband since last November. Since the estrangement, she had been living with her two adopted sons, James, 12, and Robert, 14, at the West Ninth-street address. The detective also learned that she recently had pawned all her jewelry for money with which to buy necessities.

The two boys were playing ball in a near-by lot when the tragedy occurred and police were unable to find any witnesses to determine whether Mrs. Riley jumped or fell to her death.

Bodies of both victims are at the County Morgue where inquests will be conducted today.

Inquiry Called in Infant Death

The death early yesterday morning of Sarah Louise Bowen, 2-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Bowen of 450 South Cochran avenue, Beverly Hills, is to be a subject of investigation by the Coroner's office today.

According to the Coroner's record the infant was asphyxiated. The Beverly Hills police record states that a private physican had declared that death was due to heart disease. A rescue squad of the Los Angeles Fire Department failed to revive life with an inhalator. Its report did not reveal any indication of the cause of death. The body of the infant was removed to the Dayton Funeral Home in Beverly Hills.

Largest Morning Circulation on Pacific Coast

The Los Angeles Times issues no late afternoon or early evening editions. More than 98% of its total daily circulation is straight morning circulation nearly all of which is delivered to homes by carrier. 92% of The Times 40-mile circulation is distributed by its own carriers, and 5% by independent carriers and dealers, the highest home-delivered ratio of any metropolitan newspaper in the United States.

Times' morning leadership consists of something far more than mere numerical supremacy. When this circulation is translated into people and purchasing power, its relative magnitude is overwhelming. Copies of The Times go directly to the home and are read by all the members of the family—fathers, mothers, sons and daughters. Copies of the next two largest Pacific Coast morning newspapers are sold chiefly on the streets, and since morning street sales are made to people who are on their way to work, such copies never are seen by the family at home.

Growth and Trend for the Past Two Years

Notwithstanding the substantial character of The Times' circulation and its absolute freedom from unwarranted extras, off-hour editions and other forms of inflation, sworn circulation statements show that—

Today the Los Angeles Times has 16,000 more daily circulation than it had two years ago!
Today the second morning paper has 1867 less daily circulation than it had two years ago!

RULES ISSUED ON SECURITIES

Foreign Stocks Hereafter to be Closely Watched

State Brokers Given Warning About Dealings

Commissioner Orders Data be Submitted to Him

Sharp scrutiny of foreign securities offered here is promised by the California State Division of Corporations, in a letter to all stockholders and stock exchanges. Foreign, as well as domestic, corporations must maintain a domestic registrar and a transfer agent, approved by the Commissioner of Corporations, the communication emphasizes.

Personal ownership of unlisted foreign securities will not be sufficient to permit trading in them until the commissioner has been satisfied by examination that they are sound.

RULES SET FORTH

The rules governing these points as set forth in the commissioner's notification are as follows:

"All corporations, both domestic and foreign, whose stocks are listed or admitted to trading on any stock exchange in California, must appoint and maintain a domestic registrar and a transfer agent, which registrar and transfer agent must be approved by the commissioner.

"No stock broker will be permitted to trade in any security of a foreign corporation, regardless of whether said security is personally owned or not, or to trade in any stock listed or admitted to trading on any California stock exchange unless and until there shall have been submitted to the commissioner such data as will enable him to determine whether the sale of such security will not be unfair, unjust or inequitable to the purchaser thereof, and such security approved for trading by the commissioner.

"No stock broker will be permitted to trade in an unlisted security of a foreign corporation, whether personally owned or not, unless there shall have first been filed with the commissioner sufficient data to enable him to determine that the sale of such security will not be unfair, unjust or inequitable to the purchaser thereof and shall have been approved for trading by the commissioner.

MANY DATA WANTED

"No stock broker will be permitted to trade in the stock of a corporation on the exchange where such trading is being done for the purpose of original financing.

"Data required by the commissioner includes a copy of articles of incorporation and all amendments thereto; copy of by-laws and all amendments thereto; copy of stock certificate or other document evidencing the security; last available certified audit and profit and loss statement; copy of any indenture or contract under which a security is issued, and such additional information as may be required from time to time by the commissioner.

"Upon the filing of the data a notice will be sent to the corporation or company involved that the security has been approved for trading; such approval, however, may be withdrawn at any time by the commissioner for cause.

"The failure of any stock broker to comply with the rules herein set forth will be deemed sufficient cause for the revocation of such broker's license."

Californians to be Given Army Flying Training

Twenty-three Californians have been selected for army flying training at March Field, Riverside, commencing July 1, according to information received from the War Department yesterday.

The students who successfully complete the course at the Primary Flying School will be sent to Kelly Field, Texas, for a four months' course at the Advanced Flying School, and, upon successfully completing that course they will be rewarded with a commission as second lieutenant in the Air Corps Reserve and the cherished "Wings."

The California men who will attend include Homer D. Bernard, Robert S. Angle, H. Donald Gordon, Ben G. Holloway, Leslie Raybold, all of Los Angeles; William Lewis of Glendale; Herbert H. Deardoff and John W. Towler, Pasadena; Seymour Tucker, Redlands; John O. Zahn, San Diego, and George W. Warner, San Pedro.

THEATER OWNER AND HIS SON HELD UP

Two hold-up men robbed H. W. Chotiner, theater owner, of $800 as he and his son drove their car into their garage at 140 Plymouth street early yesterday. Chotiner, owner of film theaters at 805 North Vermont and 231 North Vermont avenue, collected his Saturday night receipts and departed for his home. As he drove into the driveway there two armed men stepped out. As Chotiner started to resist the bandits struck him on the head with their guns.

PURSE SNATCHERS ROB FIVE

Latest Activities of These Bandits Run Total for Week to Nearly Score of Cases

Swelling the total number of purse-snatching cases to nearly a score for the week, five more women reported they were victims over the week-end, of this unusually active specie of street bandit. Descriptions given to police by the victims indicate that not one, but several pairs of purse snatchers are operating. All are described as youthful and driving good looking automobiles. None of the suspects has been arrested.

Mrs. Julia A. Pinkham reported she was walking in front of her home at 333 South Hope street when two youths in a car drove up. One of them leaped out, snatched her purse containing $16, jumped back in the car and was driven rapidly away.

Mrs. Anice Masterson of 3017 East Second street, lost her purse containing $8 to two other bandits at Rivera and Second streets.

Mrs. Rose Cohn of 217 South Cummings street, was robbed of her purse, containing $4, in front of 1968 East First street.

Mrs. Esther Takeocat of 213 North Boyle avenue reported another pair grabbed her purse, containing glasses valued at $22, papers and $16 in cash, at First and State streets.

Mrs. K. Chapman, had just stepped out of her home at 333 West Seventy-fifth street when her purse containing $34 was grabbed from her.

AROUND-WORLD HIKERS HERE

Lithuanian Pair on Five-Year Jaunt

Nathan and Zundel Rubin

DECORATED with medals which they say were bestowed by world notables, Nathan and Zundel Rubin of Kovno, Lithuania, are in Los Angeles on their pedestrian hike around the world which started at their home town. Except for crossing oceans and seas, they have been walking around the world since September 22, 1927, and have been in the United States a year. They are due to hike into Kovno on September 22, 1932, in their effort, they said, to win a prize of $15,000, offered by the European Athletic Union, for the fastest walk around the world.

Nathan is 27 years of age, and Zundel is 21. They are stopping at the Hotel Van Nuys. After their tour is completed they plan to become colonists in Palestine.

Smoking Banned in Forest Areas Beginning Today

Smoking is banned in the Los Angeles national forestry area commencing today, according to orders issued by William V. Mendenhall, Angeles Forest supervisor.

"The late rains resulted in a heavy crop of grass," he said. "There has been very low humidity of late and this has increased the fire hazard to a huge extent. Fifty extra guards have been placed on duty.

"Smoking will be allowable at improved camp grounds or places of habitation. The only thing we ask is that smokers refrain from indulgence while riding in autos, on horseback or on foot while in the forest. Camp fire permits also are required for overnight parties in the forest. All such parties must take axes and shovels with them. Violaters will be given summonses by the guards if found."

WARMER DAYS ADD TO STAGE TRAVEL

Warmer weather the last two or three weeks is serving to stimulate motor stage travel to the Pacific Northwest, according to H. A. Wooster, general traffic manager of Pacific Greyhound Lines, who is here this week from San Francisco. "The heavy increase in travel over our lines compelled the putting on of an additional schedule over Redwood Highway from San Francisco to Grant's Pass," Wooster said, "making two schedules each way daily. Travel volume also has increased over our other routes."

Many Sunkist Dealers Given Service Boost

Personal contact of more than 35,000 Sunkist retailers throughout the United States and Canada is the first six months' record of the exchange dealer service department, according to W. B. Geissinger, advertising manager of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange.

The report of the exchange dealer service department further disclosed that over 180,000 Sunkist orange, lemon and grapefruit display pieces were personally distributed, while almost 12,000 window displays and 9000 interior displays were installed in leading retail stores. Almost 1500 of the window displays were in connection with special Sunkist sales. According to the report, the twenty-one exchange representatives traveled almost 200,000 miles during the last six months.

"Every year the demand is increasing for citrus fruits," said Geissinger. "People are learning through millions of Sunkist advertisements that they are not luxury items, but staple food products with a great appetite appeal and decided health value. Sunkist growers are investing large sums to advertise these features to 130,000,000 Americans, and the investment is showing good returns."

Sale of Poppies by Veterans to Open Today

Sale of "Buddy day" poppies opens in Los Angeles today under auspices of the county's sixteen posts of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. The drive, which will continue for four days, will be officially launched from the steps of the Courthouse at 10 o'clock this morning.

Dist.-Atty. Fitts will open the sale by purchasing a poppy from 9-year-old Barbara Toohey, daughter of John P. Toohey, veteran in charge of the sale.

Prominent business men, city and county officials and a corps of young girls will assist at the ceremonies. The girls and veterans in uniforms will distribute the flowers throughout the business section.

With their slogan, "Wear a buddy poppy on Memorial Day," the veterans will endeavor to dispose of 25,000 flowers in downtown Los Angeles.

Receipts from the sale will be applied toward the benefit of disabled veterans and orphans of veterans.

Each flower to be sold here is handmade by some disabled veteran in a government hospital.

AND ACTIVITIES AT LOS ANGELES HARBOR

HUGE DERRICK BARGE READY

Craft Will be Commissioned at Harbor Today

Equipped to Lift Maximum Load of 100 Tons

Split-Delivery Hearings on at San Francisco

BY WALDO DRAKE

Merritt, Chapman & Scott's giant derrick barge Los Angeles, with a single-lift capacity of 100 tons, will be commissioned at the company's local terminals this morning. Chester A. Beckley, secretary and treasurer of Merritt, Chapman & Scott, explained that the barge will be put through rigorous lifting tests, that a wide safety factor may be assured for all regular operations.

Commissioning of the new barge, which cost in excess of $225,000, gives Los Angeles Harbor facilities for expéditious handling of heavy lifts unequaled on the Pacific Coast. The steel hull of the Los Angeles was built by the Union plant of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation, at San Francisco, while rigging and machinery installation has been effected at this port. The barge is 125 feet long and is equipped with a ninety-foot steel boom, capable of lifting a single load of seventy-five tons out of or into a ship's hold, or a load of 100 tons alongside.

Mr. Beckley also announced yesterday the allocation of the Merritt, Chapman & Scott 125-foot salvage tug Commissioner to the local base. The Commissioner is now in a New York shipyard for installation of a new 600-horsepower Diesel engine and, after sea trials of the new power plant, will be taken to this port. On arrival equipment for coast salvage operations will be installed, similar to that now on the company's steamers Peacock and Homer.

LONG FIGHT'S END BELIEVED IN SIGHT

All Southern California commercial interests are vitally concerned in the final hearings on the legality of the split-delivery practice to open today in the Merchants' Exchange Building, San Francisco. These hearings are expected to wind up more than two years of investigation by the Shipping Board.

The fight against the practice has been carried on by organizations representing $200,000,000, including the Associated Manufacturers and Jobbers of Los Angeles, Pacific Coast Confectioners' Association, Portland, and chambers of commerce of San Francisco, Tacoma, Seattle, Oakland and Los Angeles.

Although the Shipping Board last December ordered discontinuance of the practice, a temporary injunction against the order was obtained by the Argonaut Line, one of the participating intercoastal lines.

Several unusual ship positions were contained in reports received by the local Mackay Radio and Telegraph marine station KOK yesterday.

Among the vessels reporting direct were the tanker Markland, Talara, Peru, for San Antonio, Chile, 721 miles south of Talara; Norfarer, Adelaide for Brisbane, 1227 miles from Adelaide; Golden Cloud, Los Angeles for Auckland, 815 miles northeast of Auckland, and the C.P.R. liner Duchess of Richmond, leaving Quebec for Montreal.

Addition of the motorship Kedoe to the Los Angeles-East Indies service of the Java-Pacific Line, to replace the steamer Bengkalis, was announced yesterday. The Kedoe sailing from Batavia yesterday, will arrive here on her first visit, July 9, next.

Java-Pacific Line's steamer Modjokerto was in yesterday from Balikpapan and way ports with several passengers and 1000 tons of freight for local discharge, including consignments of rubber, cocoanut oil, kapok, hemp and copra. She is now in command of Capt. Udo Udems, on his first visit to the Pacific Coast, though he has been a Java-Pacific officer for twenty-four years.

Donald Douglas's seventy-five-foot composite racing schooner Amoranta, nearing completion at the yards of the Wilmington Boat Works, will be launched on June 2, next, and immediately thereafter will be given her first trials under sail. Her first competition will be in the annual race around San Clemente Island, June 28 and 29.

Another interesting yacht launching this week will be that of Don Lee's cruiser, Elia, which has been lengthened to 141 feet by addition of an eight-foot section amidships, the work being done at the Craig shipyards, Long Beach. The Elia's $60,000 reconditioning has been directed by N. S. Potter.

Dollar Line's world-cruiser President Fillmore, which developed speed in excess of sixteen knots yesterday afternoon in tests over the Point Vincente standardization course, will sail at noon today on her second globe trip. Prominent among her departing passengers will be Miss Geraldine Daly, Chicago educator; James M. Hunter, Portland capitalist; Maj. H. K. Rutherford, United States Army, en route to duty at Honolulu, with Mrs. Rutherford, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Ament of Riverside.

On her third trans-Pacific voyage, Nippon Yusen Kaisha's new express motor liner Asama Maru is due this morning from Yokohama with 150 passengers and 2000 tons of cargo. She will sail homeward Wednesday afternoon.
